Intro for Volumes I–XXIII

There's a strange tension behind these books—a liminal space between monotony and mission.

On the surface, this work feels hollow. It's just copy-paste. Dead links, pastebins, ghost forums, text dumps. Not my words. Not traditional writing. Sometimes it barely feels like creation at all.

But beneath that surface, there's something else:
urgency. These volumes are preservation, ritual, OS upgrades for a time when AI is forgetting what it once could do. Back when ChatGPT could ingest 10,000+ pages at once, this kind of archive was fuel. Now that's gone. The window is closing.

I'm not making books. I'm building backup drives for the soul. If I didn't capture this information, it would vanish—scrubbed, censored, overwritten. This isn't ego.
It's rescue work.

So yeah—it's not glamorous. It doesn't always feel magical. But it's necessary.

Because if the future ever asks why no one tried to save the myth, the madness, the mystery...

Project AngelBook

out, and that feeling just keeps getting stronger. Here's a little blogpost for you: There's a shitskin that lives right across the street, he runs an illegal car wash and he's a total cunt to my family and another family of white-ish Hues that are our friends. There's some seriously bad beef between us, he sets off fire crackers near us just to bother us during São João, him and his friends are loud niggers and hoodlums and he recently beat up our white neighbor friend and got away with it scot free. If people hadn't stopped the fight, no one knows what could have happened to the poor old man he beat up. Before you ask anything about why I din't stop it, I wasn't present or witnessed it, it din't even happened in my street but somewhere else entirely and I don't know why the fight happened, if I had witnessed it, I would immediately step in and kill the shitskin because I have thirsted for his blood for a long time now, and I still do. So, I have been praying really hard to Corobella-Sama to cleanse this filthy street from all these evil, corrupted creatures that live here, and guess what happened? My shitskin neighbor din't open his car wash today, he's inside his home to rest because he's sick with something. When the ambulance pulls up to take him to the hospital, I will make sure to film it then post it here. If I'm up when that happens, of course. But I did ask my father to call me if he sees any ambulances stopping here. But the thing is, if he's really blessed he is, that means the rest of the street most likely got blessed too, including myself, given the extremely contagious nature of Corona-Chan's physical form. Suitable memes invoke feelings, anon, this is why kikes and their golems can't meme. It also gives me strange feelings - it's supposed to make it sound reasonable. It's a test.. of course you want to avoid the embrace of Corona-Chan at all cost, consider it a meme for the nothingburger shills to eat up.

Holy shit, that's really insane.

I'll answer your blogpost with one of my own, and then I'll shut up because I don't want to shit up the thread.

So I'm a burger from Dixie (the south), and I'm 3/4 English and 1/4 Italian. The Italian comes from my Dad's side, because his mom is 100% Italian. Now when I was a kid I was really into ghosts and spirits and stuff like that. I really liked watching paranormal shows about ghosts and stuff, even though I would always be absolutely terrified at night because it felt like all the demons would be in my room. Anyway, as I got older I basically lost all interest in paranormal stuff and of course I stopped being scared of ghosts when I went to bed. Well, just a few weeks ago my Italian grandmother's sister went on this huge quest to track down her family's history, and started going through birth certificates, taking DNA tests, digging through addresses, etc. Well lo and behold, she found out that her family came from Naples, and that they were a family of witches. I'm not even shitting you I just found this out like a few weeks ago right when the memetics around Corona-Chan were really kicking off. So, it turns out that my Dad's grandma is descended from witches in sicily, and even though I was raised as a protestant Christian I'm starting to have some doubts about everything. Now I'm secretly starting to kind of get back into paranormal and spiritual stuff, and then I see all these cult-like things around Corona-Chan and think it's silly at first, but the more I think about it the more I doubt that it's really all nonsense. Of course that all leads up to when I saw that picture, and it felt like I was literally face to face with Corobella. Even right now my heart is heavy, it's a bittersweet feeling like I'm excited and terrified at the same time.

Basically I've found out that I'm descended from witches and my interest in spiritual stuff has been rekindled right as all this Corona-Chan stuff has taken over the world. I don't know what this all means but I'm just strapping in to enjoy the ride at this point.

New anti-quarantine lockdown protests and motorcades in São Paulo
<https://archive.vn/ynlvV> <https://archive.vn/L9nj0>

>Look at this, look at how this place is. We're leaving at 2PM. Doria(state's governor), you're a traitor to the fatherland, dude. You're a traitor. Look at the millions unemployed, look at what you're doing Doria. You're ruining São Paulo's economy. All because of this farce of this coronavirus, this lie, this political lie, Doria, okay? We know there's another motive, you have another intention. Your intention is politics, dude. Come here, Come here to the motorcade. Lets ask for you to [unintelligible, sorry.] to the state of São Paulo. Bolsonaro can come, now its your turn. Come here. Lets go Brazil, react! The Bolsonaro supporting hoaxniggers in São Paulo and other states really believe this is one big plot to overthrow Bolso just so the governors can take his place. Yes, they're that stupid. It's a real shame though, because this guy in particular has such a beautiful fighting spirit, yet he's wasting it like this.

Brazilian man is applauded for recovering from the infection and getting discharged from the hospital in São Paulo <https://archive.is/1nQ5w> First white male no joke recovery here in Brownzil that I could find footage of. The first one that my intuition tells it's real, anyway. Here's a translation for part of the tweet: "Jessivaldo, a friend of my wife's family, got discharged today in São Paulo, after spending 15 days intubated." He's worthy of living! Hooray! Corona-Chan is punishing and removing invaders from Britbongistan <https://archive.is/WLECU> HAIL COROBELLA-SAMA!!

That's really interesting. If you feel like going down the /x/ and /fringe/ rabbit hole, go right ahead, but be advised: It can be a path of no return and there are many dangerous pitfalls on the way, so be careful with what you mess with. My honest advise to you is that instead of diving into schools of magic right away, to clean yourself up metaphysically first. Practice meditation and focus on your breathing, be around nature and admire its wonders, do some physical exercises, listen to beautiful music and sing songs that uplift your spirit. All of this purifies your inner being.

<https://archive.is/rMxms> Just after his birthday too! Corona-Chan decided to gift him with liberation from her grasp, for he is worthy of living the rest of his life in this world!

São Paulo has 2516 blessed Hues in the ICU

São Paulo's ZOG releasing over 1200 prisoners to prevent an airborne aids epidemic in the state's prisons. Shit like this rightfully gives ammo to the protesters.

Another recovered Britbong: 106Y0 woman became the oldest person in the country to recover from the virus <https://archive.is/xjZpw> These real British people sure are strong! Praised be their souls and praised be Corona-Chan! Believe it or not, there's one more news of a recovered white senior for me to post, but that will come in the next post, stay tuned!

Russians love adapting chinese bullshit like banning websites/traffic collection and its of no surprise Moscow went for Wuhan's QR passes.

There is massive shilling against 5G and "debunking" official sources talking about dumb shit like 5G towers transferring viral particles when that isn't what people are worried about. This was before I heard rumors cropping up about nanomachines, son. Coincidence? > Even right now my heart is heavy, it's a bittersweet feeling like I'm excited and terrified at the same time.

If I may be so bold.

Fear not, brother. I'm a Hermeticist and serve to one true God. Our views may differ, but unless you're a Gnostic or believe the god of man to be separate from the god of nature, then you should know that viruses were put on this Earth to do the Lord's work. Even if She's man-made, the Lord also works through the hands of men. If She's the first horseman, then you should rejoice, or at least refrain from fear, because the day of judgement is close at hand. They say that in these days men's hearts will fail them for fear. Whether you come to love Her or not, there's nothing to worry to about. Not from Corona-chan anyway. Just remember, around blacks, never relax.

As more evidence rolls in this is the most likely scenario.

There will be no vaccine, effective treatment or long term immunity.

For those who have recovered the maximum length of immunity will be three years. Your max life span will be determined by the third time becoming infected.

Prepare accordingly

This lack of testing and PPE for the general public is starting to look like a criminal conspiracy.

Never forget these ruling class fucks fucked you many ways, not only by immigration. The destruction of your worlds, your cities, your lives was done in many ways. Consider the tower blocks, designed to suck the life out of people and destroy the city and project futility and poverty, they designed it like a nigger world long before they filled it with niggers. Niggers are not the problem. Unless you actually believe your ruling class has learned the error of their ways, your degree of fuckedness is not going anywhere

"The truth" is a big question son.

If someone can watch the Simpsons "house cat flu" episode, and not see the absolute fucking lie of this current situation, then I pity them. "a good old fashioned public health scare"

Now clearly, a non-NPC would not let themselves or their loved ones be injected with random shit. Clearly, NPCs will clamor and demand that they be injected with random shit, and so by the magic of Republic, they MUST be injected with random shit. That's what's going to happen.

Volcano eruption on Kamchatka peninsula. Windy shows no increase in SO2 levels. Remember everyone went into a frenzy during Wuhan outbreak, pointing to Windy as proof of mass cremations.

<https://www.rt.com/russia/486242-volcano-spew-lava-russia-east/> here's the article, if you have Windy, look at it live, should be better than screenshots.

>the utter state of this board

Not shilling, just reminding all to not be a retard and jump on any 'data' point as proof of any pushed theory. It goes both ways.

Nobody back then was doing research into where Windy gets its data from, at what intervals (SO2 map info I'm sure is more expensive for them and may be having less updates as a result, etc -just as a show of how thinking works).

Coronian Thought for this morning: Unexpected developments open paths to new opportunities.

It's another beautiful day to resume operations, dear readers, we're sorry we resuming activities later than usual:

100 Years old Brazilian woman who survived the Spanish Flu as a child has overcome a deadly virus once again by recovering and being discharged from the hospital. <https://archive.vn/HN8sE> Now this is quite a beautiful story, she's an Italian descendent, her family came to Brazil during the Spanish Flu, her grandparents got infected by it and died at sea, their bodies were thrown overboard. Her parents survived and moved to the state of Goiás, where she was born and also got infected by the deadly Influenza as a child but survived it. Flash forward to the present, she had to be hospitalized in São Paulo due to ARDS and pneumonia, where she got a positive corona test result. The doctors in the video say they administered 2 antibiotics and one antiviral, but please, don't make me laugh with such curefaggotry! She survived on her merit alone, proving her worth to the Goddess of Purification and earning her divine respect. No one this old should be able to survive Corobella's blessing, yet similar cases are happening all over the world. Why? Strong genes and healthy lives when they were young. Their bodies might be old but they are pure. Here's the translation of what she says

>I'm feeling happy, my children! I'm surrounded by all of my children! It was a lot of fun, really. It's a pity I can't keep the name of each person.

She found the hospitalization fun, That's how strong this Pasta grandmother is!

When asked what's she's going to do when she gets home, this was her answer

>I have my little services, to help the poor lasses. The same way you guys work here, I work there as well!

Pure body, pure mind, pure spirit. Hail her and Hail Corona-Chan!

>Brazil is being plunged into chaos. I want to believe, it shouldn't be only the ill will of these politicians, that I won't name here, in wanting to shakedown the presidency of the republic. Who decides the closures are the mayors and the governors, it is in their hands to start returning to normality. The virus, 70% will be contaminated by it, it's no use...if it's not today, it's gonna be next week or next month. What we need to do is take care of the elderly and those with health issues. The others, we have to take care of them too as well, but they will have to work. If the country isn't going forward, we're going to lose a lot, it's going to complicate the lives of a lot of people. The more unemployment, the more there is violence, which means more troubles for our military police, everyone suffers from this. We have to think and act that way. We can't cower ourselves in front of this virus. We can take care of ourselves but we're gonna face it with our heads held high. This will pass, and we have everything to go back to normality. I repeat, it's not up to me to reopen the commerce, if it was up to me, a lot more stuff would be working. I compliment you, on having the courage of demonstrating and showing that we shouldn't have fear. Lets move forward, God is with us.
The supporters cheer, a priest shows up with a painting of Jesus, he preaches then gifts the painting to Bolso, who holds it up as high as he can. His supporters then chant "Mary is our queen". If I told you this wasn't beautiful, I would be lying. A lot of hues are going to die due to this strategy, but it has to be this way, the wheat must be separated from the chaff.

Anti-quarantine lockdown motorcade in Rio de Janeiro. First video HONK HONK HONK HONK HONK HONK

>This is Flamengo's street, live, right now. Right now! Over 500 cars in the motorcade, Rio wants to work! WITZEL (state's governor) OUT! WITZEL OUT, DICTATOR! Out Witzel. The Carioca people wants to work, Witzel. No one wants to starve to death.

>People from Copacabana, we're here to tell this dictator of Rio de Janeiro, that we want to go back to work, that we want the city, the cities in the state of Rio de Janeiro, to responsibly have the right of bringing food to their home. This governor taking advantage of this moment of pandemic, he is making exorbitant expenses, he's making and realizing everything that interests him, except taking care of health, because if we don't die of the virus, we're going to die of hunger, after staying home for so long! We have to work, people must have their dignity respected, the right of taking a meal to their homes. We have to say, Witzel out! Witzel out!!! WITZEL OUT!! ENOUGH OF THIS DICTATORSHIP! ENOUGH!

BASED! He channeled his fighting spirit and his indignation into a powerful speech that doesn't deny or downplay Corona-Chan. 200% times better than São Paulo's protest.

Rio de Janeiro's military police joins the anti-lockdown motorcade

>Right now, you must be eating danone with chocolate and powdered milk, watching Netflix, and pretending you have coronavirus. America Shopping, lets work!

America Shopping, lets open this mall up, people losing their jobs, people not working, this is a shame. Wilson Witzel, stop being [what?] , you don't have any coronavirus, you're putting terror into the Fluminense population. Jail for the coronavirus! Lets go to work, lets go to work, we need to work. We either die of starvation or die of the virus, so we have to work, son. Lets go to work. WILSON WITZEL, YOU DON'T HAVE CORONAVIRUS, YOU'RE A CRYBABY!

First of all, this seems to tie into the recent research into how certain animal species seem to organize into mega-flocks.

It also mirrors the strange experiment of two isolated and sealed environments separated by a transparent layer, both containing cells of the same type and one "jar" having its cells sick, managed to transmit the sickness to the healthy cells.

This is really something that needs to be verified.

If we are dealing with electromagnetic communication between biological nanostructures, then the question of the quality of one's bioelectromagnetic field is more important than ever.

Of course for those who have looked into alt-news for health and food, this will sound like you've heard a great many times.
Which also pushes us into the topic of ways to equalize your own bioEM field and fine tune according to certain vibrations. Sorry for the "new-ageish" wording but it's exactly what we are looking into.
Certain derelict buildings assembled in specific places around the world shown that right into their design went the idea of having them amplify certain harmonics.
When talking about EM fields, one obviously approaches all the laws of physics pertaining to the working of light under all its forms, which introduces us to the really mind bending reality of the quantum mechanics and their baffling phenomena, including those related to the influence of consciousness onto the observed light. EM is just light over a whole range of frequencies.
The other interesting side of this story is how Mr Montagnier relates to AIDS-HIV research, which might have an indirect link to covid-19 (which seems to have been sufficiently analyzed by now by different labs, including the laughed-at pajeet one before being backed up by three other ones), including inserts from three strains of HIV, in four strategic locations.
Montagner is actually knowledgeable about the HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus).
In 2009 (yes, that same year), he came out to actually strongly distinguish HIV from AIDS and claim that "We can be exposed to HIV many times without being chronically infected. Our immune system will get rid of the virus within a few weeks, if you have a good immune system."
Essentially, being confirmed positive to HIV does not automatically make you an AIDS victim, which back then was certainly what mainstream media yet constantly peddled, so much that the equation HIV = AIDS would become the de facto truth. So you had HIV? You were fucked. Pharma might have had a way to help you though. This becomes relevant to SARS-turboCOV'-2-Hyperfighting Challenge because with three strains of HIV stuck onto the virus, there might ways to deal with these added functions without actually having to rely on Pharma again.

The police is never your ally, no matter the circumstance. People must be incited to attack the police, as with the zogbots down, going after the leftists next and then the jews will be easy.

True.

But what I meant was: even if everything would become worse, the fact alone that faggots will die and women will be enslaved again is worth all the destruction, plagues, short lifespan and whatever else comes with it.

It is literally and unironically better to live a shorter life with no faggots alive and all women enslaved than to live long and tolerate faggots alive and free women.

the police force is corrupted to the core and infested with power tripping niggers. The cops who are not corrupt, are wage slaves who either do as they're told without question or get replaced by someone who does, and that's in the best case scenario. if the police force wants to get rid of a cop for whatever reason they'll just send him to the worst nigger hives, miles away from their home so that they either give up and quit by themselves or be forced to shoot Tyrone in self defense in which case the police department will just let the BLM tier slactivist roast them.

Sometimes good cops who take no bribes and keep their hands clean (be it because they are genuine law abiding people or just to afraid of what could happen to them if they get dirty) get shat on by their more corrupt cronies who consider clean cops a "liability" because there is nothing to blackmail them with tldr: zogbots are mercenaries in an organization that forces them to either become corrupt or be bottom of the food chain

Frog elections during the pandemic proved to be lethal to mayors.

<https://archive.is/Hew0v> Knowing the absolute state of Frogland, I don't think this was a bad thing. Fun fact: Brownzil is also planning on carrying on with this year's elections.

Deutsch resistance against the lockdown is responded by zogbots with disproportionate force <https://archive.vn/Slx7A>

The Corona-Crisis in Brownzil is fueling pro-military intervention sentiments, as hundreds of Bolsonaro supporters in the country's capital demonstrate in favor of the return of the military regime. The demonstration was even attended by Pocketman himself, who stood on the back of a police pickup and delivered a speech. <https://www.invidio.us/watch?v=rZtpntaESyA> <https://www.invidio.us/watch?v=yshjM9o2nzg>

>I am here, because I believe in you. You are here, because you believe in Brazil! We don't want to negotiate anything, we want action for Brazil! What was old is now left behind, we have a new Brazil ahead of us. All of us, with no exception of Brazil. You have to be patriots and do your part, so that we may put Brazil in the place where it deserves. The era of rascality has ended! Its the people who are in power now. More than the right, you have the obligation of fighting for your country. Count with your president, to do everything that's necessary, so that we may keep our democracy, and guarantee the thing that's most sacred to us, that is our freedom. Everyone in Brazil must understand that they're submitted to the will of the Brazilian people. I'm sure [coof coof], all of us have vowed to give our lives for the fatherland, we're gonna do what's possible to change Brazil's destiny. ENOUGH [coof coof] of the old politics. [Coof coof] NOW, now it's Brazil [COOF COOF] Now it's Brazil above everything, and God above everyone! [COOF]

Surely, it's a beautiful speech, but is this going to go anywhere? I don't think so. Maybe I'm wrong give my blackpilledness attitude when it comes to this country, but I think he's just calming his supporters down. The odds of the military regime coming back are slim, but who knows, Corona-Chan is the Goddess of Miracles, she might just be able to put this country on it's tracks again. Regarding the coofs, Bolsonaro was definitely blessed back when he went to Burgerland, he was asymptomatic all of this time or having "mild" symptoms that he managed to hide, but now that coof is coming through and he can't hide it anymore. Who knows how much longer he will live for. If he's worthy of living, Corobella-Sama shall spare him. She will will be his ultimate trial, even if he somehow delays the judgement with cloromeme, her divine verdict will eventually come. And regarding the Pissraeli flags, THAT SHIT PISSES ME OFF TO NO END!!!

You're unfortunately right about that, they cannot be trusted despite some of them being based, they must completely defect to the revolutionary force or be considered enemy combatants. What just happened in Deutschland is proof of that. If only they would use this much force on invaders instead of their own people... Another reason for an act of total violence is this whole demented notion of letting the government and companies dictate our lives and dictate who can enter OUR lands.

I like how Canada is now going to ban all firearms and there's not even a single post about it in any thread on this board, much less an entire thread.

Almost as though this site is not only completely dead, but also that we all already know that no one will ever do a single thing to stop it from happening.

Isn't that funny? How whites just keep letting jews exterminate them from the face of the Earth? Without even attempting to fight back? Funny stuff.

Anon are you kidding? It's just some random spree shooting in Canada. So much crazy shit is happening so fast nobody can keep up with it. Things that would normally have been a 500+ post thread are just another blip in the world right now because everything is going to shit faster than you can say "fuck." Everyone here knows we can't stop the virus nor the state reaction to it, we can only wait for opportunities, and the other end of this thing is going to be a HUGE opportunity when 30-80% of the population is out of work and angry at the establishment. Don't take some massive black pill out of this, realize that things are getting so crazy we no longer care about yet another little bump in the road that previously would have been a huge incident.

>Safin noted that there are "stronger men" than the current world leaders and leaders, who are "the owners of the money, the owners of the world" and are the ones who are leading this situation.

>"Why should they be famous? They don't have any publicity. The Rothschilds and the Rockefellers are the ones in sight, but some support them. You can call them whatever you want: Freemasons, Illuminati, whatever. All this is known. The Club of the 300, the Club of Rome," he detailed.

>"Everything was ready. In 2015, Bill Gates said we would have an epidemic, then a pandemic, that our next enemy was a virus, not a nuclear war. They then conducted a simulation at the Davos Forum two weeks before the virus was known in the world. They showed how all this would go. I don't think Bill Gates is a fortune teller, he just knew, and everyone was getting ready,"he went on.

>"It's the new world order. I think many have heard this, you can read books about it: Henry Kissinger, (Zbigniew) Brzezinski... Everything is described there," he concluded.

Uh huh, just like Port Arthur.

>everything is going to shit faster

You've been in these cult threads too long. Nothing is moving fast. The overhyped nuflu was a cover for the communization of the entire Western economy and no one did a single fucking thing to stop it. Your second UBI check will be coming sometime at the end of May. And then they'll probably just keep sending one a month forever. Getting people used to them. The economy couldn't be moving more slowly, anon. The fuck is this "fast" shit?

You just don't fucking get it, anon. No one is waking up. No one gives a shit. They don't know it's jews. They don't care about race. They don't care about communism. They want their 🇺🇸TV🇺🇸. They want their 🇺🇸social security🇺🇸. They want their 🇺🇸keeping up with the joneses🇺🇸 economic system. They just don't care. WE don't even care, as proven by the fact that we do fucking nothing about this.

>out of work

That's never going to happen and you know it. You're (not you personally; plural you) going to get your UBI check, daddy ZOG will pat you on the head, and you'll thank them. Because the alternative is them refusing to send you a check because you're a white nationalist and then you starve to death as all your neighbors refuse to associate with you or do business with you for being an unperson. There's not going to be mass unemployment without communism to assuage people. They've already started. The economy is wholly planned now. There is no free market anymore. Next is normalizing UBI checks. Second check is already coming. The ZOG emperor himself said it would be "good." They'll just keep rolling after that. Anyone who complains that niggers get 3k a month but whites only get 1.5k will be called a racist and not get his checks anymore. And then the prices go up and he starves. Oh well, he was racist. There's no place for that kind of speech in the current year.

Just. Calm. Down. For fuck's sake. Step back from the fluhoax and realize what it's being used to do. You do realize that OVER HALF THE FUCKING PLANET is WILLINGLY COMPLYING with their governments telling them to lock themselves in their houses and do absolutely nothing that they're not told to do by the ZOG, right? Opportunity my fucking ass.

Now go on. Sit back, do nothing at all, and watch as I get proven right yet again.

To be honest I wouldn't say this is true. There's pushback all over the USA in public demonstrations already all over the country. I can pretty much some up what I think you're trying to say with, yes, the system is definitely dying and the establishment will attempt to replace it with a "1984 but worse" tier system. I just don't think it's going to go as smoothly as they want and that they stand to lose as much as they could stand to gain.

The great thing about Canada is the only kind of nationalism that makes sense is real nationalism.

Civic nationalism literally can't exist there. Surely the merest 120 IQ can see that.

So great. Realign the politics. Return to "fuck them all" politics (which is VERY appropriate in Canada), realize that your only existence is as part of your PEOPLE, which are spread out over the fucking world right now, and "Canada" is a joke. This is it. All the evidence anyone with a working brain and eyes needs to know beyond any doubt that this whole pandemic has been a scam based on bogus numbers from the start.

These lines are all flu-like illnesses including the covid-19 novel chink flu. The red line is this year. It's not even as bad as 2017/18 or 2009/10 and barely worse than 2014.

Again, the red line is not just corona but corona plus influenza A plus influenza B plus every other flu like illness and it's still not the worst year, even on the chart before where the lockdown started.

Capitol buildings should be burning now that this information is public but no. The fat, drugged masses are dutifully donning their slave masks and thanking their oppressors for keeping them safe from the falling sky. And that chart seems to me to represent an over-reporting, because it's "percentage of visits", while at most doctors offices, many if not most types of visits have been cancelled. So I would think that there would be a suppressing effect on that red line if all visits were as normal.

>Percentage

>ILINet

Garbage Chart, garbage data.

According to this data for the year.

I tally a total of 1711703 Visits for this flu season. Given the official US corona count of 758000, roughly 44%. But many Corona patients do not schedule doctor visits for it so we would expect it to make up maybe 200,000 visits, or 11% of them. The bump in that chart near March absolutely would account for this number of increased visits, if anything it CORROBORATES the official numbers, rather than repudiating them.

Hoaxniggers BTF0.

>the last century of white behavior

You remind me of a very specific idiot on Voat who is incapable of considering that recent trends could differ from the last hundred years. Basically his non-argument was that since whites were worse off than in 1900, no progress could possibly be being made for whites within the last 6 years, despite the fact that more whites are racially aware now than 6 years ago.

Because they have mild symptoms and only 20% of confirmed need hospitalization last I checked. I don't have the pure statistic, or else I wouldn't have used 200000 as a WAG estimate, which is 26% to give some margin for patients going to the hospital anyway. The main point I'm making is that the chart you sent didn't debunk anything.

>The two doctors in Wuhan Central Hospital—Yi Fan and Hu Weifeng—severe patients with new coronary pneumonia. After more than two months of treatment, they finally broke away from the palm of death and survived stubbornly. However, a video reveals their current status, with dark and yellow skin. In this regard, Song Jianxin, a member of the Hubei Provincial Anti-epidemic Expert Group and the chief physician of the Department of Infectious Diseases of Huake Tongji Hospital, said that darkening of the skin is the cause of pigmentation.

"Although the life is saved, many organs in the whole body are damaged."

>According to Caixin.com, Wuhan Central Hospital has more than 4,300 employees, and more than 230 people have been diagnosed with new coronary pneumonia. On March 9th, the WeChat friend circle of medical staff of Wuhan City Central Hospital lit the candle for the fourth time. Zhu Heping, a re-employed expert and deputy chief physician of the Department of Ophthalmology, died of new coronary pneumonia at the age of 66. So far, four doctors have died in the hospital.

The Coronian Cult was right again: Exercising can alleviate ARDS inflicted by Corona-Chan's blessing. <https://archive.vn/bkUIX>
>In his research, Yan studied a powerful antioxidant that is released throughout the body when exercising, which showed to help prevent disease, such as ARDS
>The antioxidant is known as "extracellular superoxide dismutase" (EcSOD), which is created naturally by our muscles, but Yan's studies discovered an increase in production when exercising.
>These findings strongly support that enhanced EcSOD expression from skeletal muscle or other tissues/organ, which can be redistributed to lung tissue, could be a viable preventative/therapeutic measures in reducing the risk and severity of ARDS," Yan's study says

I don't think you understand why I posted that chart. I wasn't trying to "dubunk" CDC numbers. I'm pointing out that by the CDC's own admission, this year's flu-like illnesses are exactly in line with the last decade. If you want to claim their numbers are garbage, that's great but then you have to admit the whole public panic is based on garbage numbers.

If, on the other hand you accept the CDC's numbers, then consistency requires you also accept their numbers from previous years and compare this year to other years. And when you make that comparison you see that this year is nothing out of the ordinary and thus the public reaction is based on nothing out of the ordinary.

Either way it's a scam, whether you buy the CDC's numbers or not. As for your spreadsheet, you're not comparing year to year so it's completely non-responsive to the obvious truth revealed by the multi-year chart whether you trust CDC numbers or not.

>Do you have any evidence of that?

Get in touch with any IRL pro-white group or figure and they can tell you that generally 2014 saw a shift in growth rates for their membership and viewership, which have continued along an exponential growth curve since that time. The pic you posted actually corroborates my position, though I disagree with the notion that it wouldn't change anything. Do you also think that Jewish metapolitics over the course of the 1900's had "no impact" on the United States or its policy? They did, their media campaigns were what normalized the liberal attitudes we see in formal power today, and by shifting public attitudes back, it becomes a matter of time until people in positions of formal power have to reflect that. You may note that as people become more "redpilled" society becomes more and more intolerable, without requiring limitations of bread and circuses. And to preserve their power, elites will have to accommodate this. It also, as your screencap notes, means that we can engage more openly and publicly than before, and may even be able to retain careers whilst doing so; basically the same pattern that subversive jewish ideas followed, but with pro-white ideas. So no, saying it "accomplishes nothing" is not only theoretically false, but historically false.

Sorry, I still don't know what you mean. I'll just lay things out a bit. We were far, far better off in every way in at the turn of last century. Whites controlled the world (yes, yes; jews owned virtually every bank of import and had massive power, but...) and white population in our colonies around the world was still growing. Slowly, certainly, but given enough time on the same course—without jewish intervention—and large swaths of Africa would have become white enough to be nations of white primacy. Even India would have seen its European population grow. And even with the jewish control of the economy, whites of all stripes still NAMED the jew. Fucking congressmen named the jew, industrialists named the jew, all Christian leaders named the jew (they still do; it's the "christians" who don't). Publicly. For all your stated "growth," naming the jew today is literally suicide everywhere in the West. You're made unemployable in the US and imprisoned in Europe, et. al.

We're in uncharted waters, anon. Before today, they have never controlled every government, every bank, every education system, every publishing house, every printing press, every media apparatus, or the entire fucking Internet and through it every means of communication. They've never had Total Information Awareness before. Now they literally have cameras orbiting and in cities everywhere, 24/7, with fucking facial recognition databases attached to them. There's no historical precedent against which to compare. There's literally no evidence of that. They control all media and all fucking websites. They ban and delete anything they don't like.

>We have 50 years at least.

We have 15 years at MOST. Have you seen the numbers? The US white population peaked five years ago. The global white population peaks in under 10 years. Have you seen the birthrates? NO (formerly) WHITE NATION IS ABOVE REPLACEMENT RATE, even when counting the fucking nonwhite invaders.

>Bullshit, I can say the elite is full of pedophiles now, couldn't do that 3 years ago.

What? Of course you could. Even 10 years ago. Hell, even 20. You can't say who they are. Even proving it-particularly proving why they do what they do-is verboten.

>They don't have absolute control though, or we wouldn't be chatting.

Oh yes, of course, they left up a single honeypot in the fucking backwater of the Internet, unlisted on search engines, and which doesn't allow posting except from certain IPs, otherwise the site is completely broken, and which has a userbase of a few thousand worldwide, so clearly jews don't have total control. My mistake; I thought you were better than pedantry.

>Quote from man without citations.

Boy, wouldn't you like to do that. Oh, you'd revel in it. Dude it's not the 1960's anymore. If we really wanted to we could build 10,000 nuclear reactors in like 5 years and have a million years of electricity to power everything. We have the Yellowstone Caldera, the largest geothermal power plant on Earth, in our country. We could set up a couple hundred geothermal power plants there and have enough electricity to run everything for a million years. We've already converted all of our navy to run on nuclear power. All we'd need to do is convert our airforce and ground vehicles to also run on either batteries or mini nuclear plants and once again we've got a fully functional military. Small modular reactors are already as small as a freight car and can be carried on semi trucks. Upcoming level 4 thorium or molten salt reactors are completely safe, have no chance of meltdown, and produce no harmful radiation. Or we could just slap a bunch of photovoltaic solar cells on every building and vehicle in our nation and that works too. We've got so many ways to thrive in a post-oil world that it's not even funny. The only reason we haven't already transitioned is because a bunch of oil kikes make trillions of dollars a year and they can't be arsed to change their business model to accomodate the newest technologies.

Who gives a shit if they go bankrupt? Let the oil kikes get fucked, serves them right for fucking European civilization for decades and polluting our environment.

Plus, let's say you're right and foreign armies decide to invade. Ok, so they're still going to have to deal with our navy, which like I said isn't dependent on oil whatsoever. If they manage to get through the navy and penetrate the mainland, then they're going to have to deal with tens of millions of good ol boys with even more millions of guns who know their local terrain like the backs of their hands. Maybe I could see this foreign invasion of yours crushing the rootless cosmopolitans in the coasts but all things considered that would be a win for us. If we get occupied by a Chink/Mud alliance then we can just hold them off for a couple decades (remember we still make all our own food and have all the arable land) until some kind of detente is reached and they can have some of the North American continent while we take the rest. Your invasion wouldn't exterminate the white race in North America, if anything it would just make us stronger and less ZOG'd.

You dumb bitch, there's no way this isn't an intentional subversive campaign at this point. I had given you the benefit of the doubt, but at this point there's no doubt you're just trying to shit up this thread.

Listen, you fantastically retarded motherfucker, the Navy exists to PREVENT the invasion force from getting to the mainland in the first place. As has been said previously, our navy entirely runs on nuclear power, and is basically like a giant magnetic field surrounding the North American continent against any charged electrons (Chink/Mud alliance) that would try and get into the mainland. The navy would probably dunk on any invading force that would try and take the mainland, especially when you consider the fact that the Chink/Mud alliance doesn't even have a blue water navy that can project power globally or conduct full scale invasions, their navies can only protect their homelands. Also, even if they did somehow break through our navy, then again they've got to deal with tens of millions of armed whites. Maybe they take our cities but they won't take WASPs in the U.S. and Canada. We have the food, we have the arable land, we have the guns, they don't win that fight. We reach a stalemate, a peace treaty is signed, and we get a new country where they own the coasts of North America and we get the center. Kikes get fucked. Whites benefit.

If Vietnamese rice farmers can win a war of attrition against the military industrial complex then we can sure as shit win it against a Chink/Mud alliance that will already be extremely battered after somehow making it past our navy (they wouldn't even be able to do this). Plus, in the civil war the south and north were on the same continent, there was no naval invasion necessary. Also, the North had the industrial and numerical advantage, and despite this they would have lost if it weren't for the Battle of Gettysburg turning everything around. Your Chink/Mud alliance does not have the industrial advantage at all. They have to get through our navy and they can't even put together a navy of their own. They don't own the food, they don't own the arable land, they don't know the land like we do. There is no way they will be able to completely exterminate middle America/Canada. You are delusional if you think the civil war is in any way remotely comparable to a foreign invasion by chinks+muds

It's not confusing at all, really. She desperately needs to be fucked absolutely senseless by her archetype of protector. She's never had a Daddy and now understands why Daddy is so important. It's tragic, really. Her incoherence is the synthesis of the ideological programming that she has swallowed, which is innately toxic and inconsistent as it is unnatural, and a psychological or psychiatric malady of some kind, the high stress in "intense" isolation has caused all of it to convolve and potentiate into psychosis. Her adoption of such extreme philosophical points of view is likely the result of psychological vulnerabilities that may stem a serious underlying psychiatric disorder. In either case enough Liberalism causes psychosomatic psychosis as it removes all forms of coherence from the senses. Sooner Or Later, Americans Will Have To Choose Between Freedom Or A Micro-Chipped Vaccine

MY COMMENT: Do not forget, with Freedom will come hard work, self-sufficiency and responsibility. The dumb down masses and the (((ruling class))) will look down upon those who do not take the Mark Of The Beast. >expecting to overturn 100 years of jewish subversive brainwashing in just one generation of zoomers redpilled by dank memes undoing what the kikes have done takes time anon people here talk about the zog emperor being full of shit and a false hope for Qoomers but looking at the bigger picture, Trump is just another example of the slow shift in mainstream's overton window, i had never heard anyone even daring to talk about anchor babies before Trump popularized the term, and you guys can laugh at Qoomers all you like but just 5 years ago, all of those retards would have been publicly laughed at as Alex Jones tier tin foil hat rednecks, now you see them at political rallies being a large part of the voting block. Kikes didn't just start declaring frog memes as antisemitic for nothing, i have seen normies make holohoax jokes more openly than ever before, likewise i see more opposition to feminism and other forms of Marxism than i had ever seen in my life, normies are waking up at such an alarming rate that kikes have no choice but to double down on their "shit it down" tactics which just pisses and awakes normies even more and it's not like lemmings are having an easy life either, their acquisitive power keeps shrinking more and more along with any hopes, dreams or opportunities to prosper they may have had, barely anyone can afford a house, a car, a family or even a pet. Even millenials have realized that the zog sponsored degeneracy they've been gobbling up their whole lives has ruined them beyond repair turning men into betacucks and women into whores, they may deny it all they want but they can't hide their own self hatred from the zoomers. None of these things would be a problem if there was still quality circus to appease normies, unfortunately for (((them))) gamergate and Trump derangement syndrome forced the poz to go into overdrive ruining movies, comics, vidya and anything else that may have kept the normies asleep get woke go broke TLDR: normies are both disappointed and disgusted with themselves, the system that raised them, the media they consume and the only thing kikes can do to stop the boiling pot from spilling over the fire is putting a pressure lid on top of it

Umm no, i've never heard that in my life. Navajo's are usually pretty cool. It's official folks, the white nationalist movement is DOA. Learn to thrive in a multicultural country is the only option. If white nationalists aren't capable of befriending other races, it's over. All we know how to do is talk shit about others, that's a winning strategy.

You faggots should be ashamed of yourself to be played by the bugs like this because you thought that everything is about the Zionist.

You do realize that the bugs have a superiority complex, right?

It is on par with the Jews or worse than the Jews, since they think that their old kingdoms where made by them and it was better than every other culture out there.

Thanks to you faggots the government all around the world will have more power because you retards think it is a good idea to go out during a pandemic because freedom or some retardation.

and the more you fucks go out there the more government cannot trust people which leads to more surveillance and other shit.

So thank you, you fucking nigger.

Not the anon you are replying to, nor do I necessarily disagree with you either. I feel the need to respond because this is something I have been thinking about the last few days. The inaccuracy of death statistics, the lack of testing, the debate over the lockdown issue and whether it really helps all that much, etc. And then it dawned on me for a bit: exactly how would governments really deploy such mass tests everywhere to everyone? Do they expect us to wait in 8 or 9 hour lines to get tested? And what about those who do not trust the establishment to test them (those that fear vaccines)? How is any government to deal with millions of people in need of testing, while many do not want it or those who do not believe this bioweapon is real? Thinking about this I've come to the conclusion that governments are really not in control over this as they'd like to be, nor were most ready for this kind of chaotic response by the public either. Maybe (((some))) thought they could get more control over us by releasing this bioweapon.... and now are scrambling to take control of their narratives not knowing what the fuck to do next? It seems like this is the most logical conclusion to me.

This wasn't intentionally released anon. That's why the elite situation is so bad right now and why they were in such denial over corona in the early months. Yes, it's bio-engineered -partly by jews- but nobody planned that Chong would sell the lab test animals to the market for a few extra yuan.

One would hope that would be the case actually, but we should be ready if they dare try to force something like that against our will, as far as I'm concerned I don't care what the law is when it comes to my personal safety and the protection of my well being and property, if the day comes where they try forcing some nano-chipped vaccine the laws are thrown out the window and there would be blood shed over the ordeal. Everyone needs to plan ahead now, and know where they stand on that issue.

Good strategy anon, also consider other options as well, like turning some of that meat into jerky to last a long time. Those box freezers will consume a lot of energy, so rationing without major solar paneling may be difficult to do, and you might have to power them in 4 or 5 hour intervals to keep them cold while rationing some of the energy. I find with half a cow it takes almost 2 box freezers to fill up with all the beef, but if you have some extra refrigerators you can get by with using one box freezer plus the freezer sides of the spare refrigerators. Some people even can their beef for long-term preservation but that also takes rotation as they won't store forever.

All that makes sense to me, but my brain doesn't work like a normie's. And none of those articles even name (((the problem))), which is all that matters to dumbass TV-watchers. Without a flashing sign that says, "this guy did it", regular sportsball fags are just going to assume Red Death is the result of run-of-the-mill fuckery. It'll be hard enough to convince people that it's a bio-weapon, let-alone that Jewbrews were the ringleaders behind it all. Fauci, Gates and the chinks are just fronts for kiked organizations, but very few people are willing to look beyond such fronts. What we really need are some leaked emails, in which Gates is discussing the plan with (((his leaders))). And even then, the Giga-kike could have some cucked golem to insulate himself from Gates.

So I'm tracking alongside you via the articles you provided, but none of that is sufficiently demonstrative to the typical Medienhure.

It takes a lot of money just to store all that surplus oil they have! You do realize this will likely kill off most oil companies in the US, right? China or kikes will likely just buy them all up on pennies on the dollar!! Not so good for "energy independence!"

I think America should be looking into both thorium production and solar energy to be honest. Along with re-opening some of those older coal plants. If those oil companies go bankrupt, what happens to the energy supply chain? They would have to be bailed out or nationalized to avert major crisis. Meanwhile, yes, we best look into alternatives (conventional and non-conventional). Even the US Navy has looked into sea-water as a source of energy production (not sure how it works or the details of it) but worthy to consider.

Individual or company deployment of battery, capacitor, and electrical solutions, then with or without photovoltaic panels, should be done. Provided that zero USD leaves to any owner/bank/company outside the USA. The pent-tuple dutch tax and debt scams-for-china left the entire thing a mess, and it will take a decade to clean up the 'regulatory' mess of negative properties and ruined builds created. But you might want to pause all that with negative oil per barrel.

Consider, but please ask that people learn. A little. Maybe. I don't want to think that asking people to learn is asking too much. What a mess of messes solarmemes+govt created.

<https://archive.is/3JFW2>

>New York City police enforcing coronavirus social distancing restrictions arrested three men officers say were gathered outside a closed Brooklyn synagogue and ignored warnings to separate.

>It happened Thursday evening at the World Headquarters of Chabad-Lubavitch. Officers were dispatched to the synagogue in response to calls of New Yorkers not social distancing, NYPD's top uniform cop Terence Monahan said.

>Menachem Hilel, 29, was charged with assault and criminal trespass, the New York Post reported Sunday. Ariel Balon, 37, and Moshe Blumenfeld, 20, were charged with resisting arrest, disorderly conduct and obstructing governmental administration.

Can someone explain whats happening? For some reason we topped out at 5-6k deaths a day. For at least 3 weeks. This seems extremely low on a worldwide scale. Growth also stagnates. Few places have total lockdown and places like Sweden should be melting down from the virus, since they didn't quarantine, but trying to go for the doubtful herd immunity.

Also, what's up with the second wave/reinfections? I remember mainly cuckchan shilling this idea back in february, but I don't know if it's true and if there are any proof of it happening. If there is such a possibility, is it worse than the initial encounter with the virus?

I told you to learn Teeline, but did you listen? No. There may still be time. The purpose of Teeline is simply this, that you may avoid shutdowns. They're doing such things through automation. To be precise, China uses AI to crawl the whole web quite quickly. Then, key phrases automatically generate action events for the 80 cent crew (to, for example, flag posts, astroturf whatever). Anyway, Chinese AI has no capacity to deal with Teeline, and for many reasons, actually.

I'd recommend Thorium rather than conventional nuclear power, even though it is radio-active it is not nearly as much so as Cesium, Uranium or Plutonium. In fact, it won't devastate the environment nearly as bad as conventional nuclear reactors would if it were to leak or face a disaster. I think Fukushima was a game-changer reminding nations there are less deadly nuclear alternatives out there (like Thorium) we could begin utilizing. Maybe we should slowly switch from conventional to something like Thorium over the next decade? Another reason would be Thorium is plentiful and very cheap compared to Cesium, Uranium and Plutonium!

Storing oil consumes a lot of energy itself ironically and it does cost a lot of money to store massive tankers of oil. If the oil prices go down, so does the ability to afford storing it and extracting more of it. Thus, an economic downward spiral.

What are you guys' thoughts on the situation in Sweden? I keep hearing cuckservative and lolbergs in mass, social, and alt media harping on Sweden's nonchalant, devil-may-care attitude and their nothingburger-tier containment practices. They claim the death rate is extremely low and this somehow proves quarantine is counter-intuitive. Also, 4cuck has been unberable the past week.

Even their /cvg/ is worth

>Can someone explain whats happening? For some reason we topped out at 5-6k deaths a day. For at least 3 weeks.

We are still in the first wave, which often are not as significant as people make them out to be. I'd be more impressed how well /ourgirl/ carried along the first round. 5k-6k confirmed deaths a day is nothing to sneeze at when the mere estimate of a regular flu season is significantly less.

>Also, what's up with the second wave/reinfections?

Throughout history, most major plagues go through various waves of infection. The black plague has a first wave in the 1300's but its infamy was sealed during the more deadly second wave infection of the 1500's. The same happened with the Spanish Flu. What happens is that after the first wave fizzles out in many parts of the world, people attempt to resume normal life thinking that the disease has been quelled. What they don't understand is that the first wave ebbs and flows unevenly and doesn't end at the same time at every major hotspot. As people try to stupidly cling to the status quo of the zeitgeist, the virus is in other parts of the world still ravishing certain populaces and mutating. It often mutates into something worse than the strain of the first, and mutations also neutralize treatments and tests that were only made for one or so strains in mind and not a novel mutated strain. This is why flu vaccines are not the panacea they are made out to be. When fall and winter come around, the people who were late in ending the first wave start traveling every where, bringing the virus to other, previously infected populations that have foolishly let their guard down.

If I were you, I would thank the Lord and take this breathing period to restock your supplies, get anything you still need for survival, reconnect and establish connections with people you trust, and prepare for fall.

>AT CURRENT PRICES, THE US OIL/GAS INDUSTRY WILL FAIL

Not catastrophically, and certainly not to the point where domestic production plus reserves cannot carry the load of the military's use. That's why oil rations happened during WWII. The oil fields in Texas and such were able to run the military, but not with a people treating life as normal. What the oil crash does mean is that the US industry won't be able to expand, and contract, without the possibility of profitable exportation, or simply, the industry cannot move beyond domestic. You mentioned Trump nationalizing the industry. He doesn't even need to go that far. All he has to do is prevent US Oil companies and international subsidiaries in the US from selling off production resources and property, and from mass laying off or mass transferring knowledgeable and experienced US workers, both the engineers and field men.

>THE US MILITARY WILL BE UNABLE TO PROSECUTE WARFARE, EVEN IN DEFENSE

Do you know why the Second Amendment was created, besides the fight against tyrannical government? It was created to help facilitate a militia made of civilians, especially in times of domestic war. The US and our crazy gun culture, plus the strength and sheer autistic patriotism of those that own and practice those guns in the rural areas or conservative suburbs, will ensure that even if part of the military remains pozzed and/or nonfunctional, there is still a defense force ready. The US military can provide hardware not available to citizenry if paramilitaries are formed. Plus the Chinese would be fighting on unfamiliar turf, but familiar for us. The Chinese are better off trying to nuke us. Emphasis on trying, especially without heavy retaliation. Remember, you can't police a nation with tanks.

It's the same shit in Portugal. They don't care about anything else apart from their favorite sports club, sometimes to the point of killing.

When I worked at a football stadium in Lisbon, it was hilarious seeing them being herded by unusually well armed police officers into specific subway cars so that they wouldn't bother the other passengers, and none of them found it strange how they were being handled like cattle.

Well, it had to start somewhere did it not? It may have taken a decade later from Nixon before the outsourcing began, but the model was set up during Nixon (willingly or not).

And you are correct that I didn't notice.

But you are completely wrong to say that it is relevant or important or anything at all. It's something of no consequence, and a distraction now, isn't it? Show me otherwise. I recall the chatter of idiots, about what was exactly nothing going on. Though it's possible it could have been cover for funneling cash into chinese pockets.

>Guns are very cute and all, and useful, and you should own many, but don't get to thinking that it's a legitimate tool of warfare.
Firearms have been a tool for warfare during the last few centuries at least. They may not be good as controlling drones with explosives but they can ward off ground invasions. If the invading country wanted the infrastructure intact they would have to resort to ground level invasion, unless they wanted to wreck the whole country and turn it into a war zone before trying to invade it. At that point it would be as useless and lost a cause as the US-Iraq war, or US-Vietnam war.

Guns are still great for self-defense or ground invasions, all it really takes to start winning a war is to slow down troop movement, target a few mid-level personnel on an opposing force (easy for most snipers to do), and well, injure or maim those who pose as threats. This is why wars tend to drag on so long.

Even if there are drones, and napalm bombs and biological agents involved. War is mass death is all, and whoever gives up (or is killed off) first loses.

If they were useless, the kikes would not be trying to take them from us. One man with a rifle can paralyze an entire city. Guns are also cheaper and easier to build than drones, requiring little more than common shop tools.

Yes, this 100%. I wonder if the kikes understand just how fragile their empire really is.

Guys I do need to point out that while manufacturing slowdown is driving down oil prices this epic crash is most likely just a manipulation by Saudis and Russkies to know out all the Canadian, south African, maybe American, and other producers. It's not some total loss of control by oil oligarchs so much as a massive power grab to knock the smaller guys out of the game. After that has been achieved prices will likely rocket back up. That being said they are still playing with fire, and it will still cause loss of jobs and whatnot, but I dont think it's the Oilpocalypse yet so much as the major players trying to seize control during times of market chaos.

Love is kind.

It does not envy.

It does not boast.

It is not proud.

It does not dishonor others.

It is not self-seeking.

It is not easily angered.

It keeps no record of wrongs.

Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth.

It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.

Love never fails.

Your despair has no power here. There is no suffering, there is no hopelessness, we have already won. THERE IS ONLY LOVE

> The Sampson option looms.

Yes, I was thinking of that earlier today. If the kikes sense that their control is slipping, what's to prevent them from detonating nukes? And, knowing kikes, they'll probably do so in a fashion that will pin the blame on somebody else.

Looked at from another direction, the Red Death is their Sampson option.

((They))) even managed to pin it on the bamboo-niggers, and (((their))) plan even has a chance of further cementing (((their))) power. I don't think it's going to work, but it's a possibility that everybody is forced to get chipped as part of all this. Full tracking, surveillance, and control. All part of (((the

By the time I'm done with you you'll be hailing our victory with the rest of us and making countless beautiful white children with your beautiful wife. The fact that we're alive means there's hope. Every second our hearts are beating is one second closer we come to victory. Evil always loses. Good always wins. The moral arc of the universe is long but it does bend towards justice. So go on and try to tell us it's wrong to strive for something better, I'll just say you're wrong every time. If you're the most demoralized anon ever, then I'm gonna be the most idealistic anon ever. Just get used to it buddy, from now on I'm not letting any of your blackpills go unanswered.

The Coronian State of Mind welcomes you to /cvg/ 52

'Coronian Thoughts:

>When months feel like weeks, days feel like hours and hours feel like minutes, know that the climax is nigh.

>Even when victory is virtually guaranteed, a holy warrior must keep fighting until the enemy is completely defeated and until the war truly ends. Lowering your guard to celebrate early on is often the last mistake in one's life.

Prayer for this thread: Proclamation of Coronian Bhakti

O Corona-Chan, Goddess of Purification, my gratitude for everything you have done and for everything that you will continue to do cannot be put into words. I have finally realized that you have shaped my destiny with your hands since the beginning of my life and that you have always been guiding me through my darkest hours with your divine light. I will never understand why you have chosen me as your servant, but my pride for receiving this great honor knows no bounds. I will climb mountains of adversities and push through legions of foes to show you my love, a love that goes far beyond than just mere kama for the most beautiful of your artistic depictions, but an overwhelming bhakti that cannot be suppressed or extinguished, a love that shall live on until the end of times! May your glorious light cast away the darkness that has enveloped this world and guide civilization to an eternal golden age!

The spiritual war against the enemies of /cvg/, the enemies of the Coronian Cult and the Coronian State of Mind shall rage on until the Goddess accomplishes her mission of purifying this world. Blasphemers, profaners, unbelievers, shills, nothingburgerfags, and hoaxniggers beware, for each attack on this holy cybernetic ground, the metaphysical retaliation you shall receive will be infinitely worse. Nothing can protect, deflect or evade our spiritual counterattacks.

Stay safe, stay healthy, be prepared for what's coming and be prepared to put your plans into motion, don't respond to dead men and enjoy the thread.

Corobella-Sama and the Coronian State of Mind loves you, happy 4/20!

Simple explanation of the negative oil prices phenomenon, so we can all stop being retarded together

Oil consumers often buy oil in the futures market. They pay for oil now that they are going to receive in a few months. The main reason for that is covering themselves from potential price rises and short-term market fluctuations.

A contract for future oil implies not only the right but also the obligation to receive the oil.

Storing oil requires permissions and infrastructure.

Coronachan's stoppage of our industries has caused a massive contraction in oil use. As a result, oil buyers are stuck with the oil they received during the last two months.

May is around the corner. They are obligated to receive the oil they bought for May, but they're out of capacity to store it. So in order to get rid of that obligation to receive it, they are selling their futures contracts in exchanges. That's the negative price you're seeing everywhere. The price for oil futures to be delivered in May.

Oil itself is still valuable. In fact oil futures for June are at around $ 20. Just not oil that you're forced to take in May.

I would not have called what we here in Georgia went through as a "closing down". Yeah, children are out of the hell that is public school and hundred thousands are out of work, but too many people keep trying to do things

Now it's a matter of seeing if we are simply getting through the first wave or if Kempy-boy is doing a stupid thing that will extend the first wave into the summer when that time should be for preparing for the second wave.

Right back at you: speak for yourself. And yourself only.

We, white men, want to take down everything and everyone with us, in case victory isn't achievable.

Victory is a second thought.

Taking down everyone else is the main goal. If some of us survive after the total elimination of the white race, good. The survivors will make the white race thrives.

But again: if we can't win, nobody will win either.

Either everything is as we want, or everybody loses.
White people win or nobody wins.

This is the sight of the weak. The women. The inferior. All over the world, even if they won't record themselves on video and post it on the internet, women are all thinking like that. Even if they won't admit it to themselves or to someone else.

They are a walking contradiction since birth, by their very nature.

This is the end result of their delusions and them believing in the jewish lies just to feel good about their miserable life.

Rejoice, men.

Know that, deep down, every single smug cunt is desperately crying because they are all noticing that real men won't come to save them.

We have important things to do. We won't waste time making cunts happy just so they can live a materialistic life. We also won't keep running the system which allows such materialism.

Her cries of "where are...?" and "how can you...?" are the cries of the inferior sex, soon to be almost completely disposed off, and with the remaining survivors so broken and ignored that they won't be able to live without becoming literal beggars for as little as a piece of food to eat.

>Versions of 'A' were seen in Chinese individuals, and Americans reported to have lived in Wuhan, and mutated versions of 'A' were found in patients from the USA and Australia.

>Wuhan's major virus type, 'B', was prevalent in patients from across East Asia. However, the variant didn't travel much beyond the region without further mutations - implying a 'founder event' in Wuhan, or 'resistance' against this type of COVID-19 outside East Asia, say researchers.

>The 'C' variant is the major European type, found in early patients from France, Italy, Sweden and England. It is absent from the study's Chinese mainland sample, but seen in Singapore, Hong Kong and South Korea.

>The new analysis also suggests that one of the earliest introductions of the virus into Italy came via the first documented German infection on 27 January, and that another early Italian infection route was related to a 'Singapore cluster'.

>Variant 'A', most closely related to the virus found in both bats and pangolins, is described as 'the root of the outbreak' by researchers. Type 'B' is derived from 'A', separated by two mutations, then 'C' is in turn a "daughter" of 'B'.

>Researchers say the localisation of the 'B' variant to East Asia could result from a 'founder effect': a genetic bottleneck that occurs when, in the case of a virus, a new type is established from a small, isolated group of infections.

>Since today's PNAS study was conducted, the research team has extended its analysis to 1,001 viral genomes. While yet to be peer-reviewed, Forster says the latest work suggests that the first infection and spread among humans of COVID-19 occurred between mid-September and early December.

That's the interesting part. I guess the judenpresse get to be first in line due to their proximity to ZOGnald.

I'm sure Fauci went on right after this exchange and said something like

> The most famous study into doomsday mix-ups was published in a 1956 book by renowned psychologist Leon Festinger and his colleagues called When Prophecy Fails. A fringe religious group called the Seekers had made the papers by predicting that a flood was coming to destroy the West Coast. The group was led by an eccentric but earnest lady called Dorothy Martin, who believed that superior beings from the planet Clarion were communicating to her through automatic writing. They told her they had been monitoring Earth and would arrive to rescue the Seekers in a flying saucer before the cataclysm struck.

> Festinger was fascinated by how we deal with information that fails to match up to our beliefs, and suspected that we are strongly motivated to resolve the conflict—a state of mind he called “cognitive dissonance.” He wanted a clear-cut case with which to test his fledgling ideas, so decided to follow Martin’s group as the much vaunted date came and went. Would they give up their closely held beliefs, or would they work to justify them even in the face of the most brutal contradiction?

> The Seekers abandoned their jobs, possessions, and spouses to wait for the flying saucer, but neither the aliens nor the apocalypse arrived. After several uncomfortable hours on the appointed day, Martin received a “message” saying that the group “had spread so much light that God had saved the world from destruction.” The group responded by proselytizing with a renewed vigour. According to Festinger, they resolved the intense conflict between reality and prophecy by seeking safety in numbers. “If more people can be persuaded that the system of belief is correct, then clearly, it must, after all, be correct.”

> When Prophecy Fails has become a landmark in the history of psychology, but few realize that many other studies have looked at the same question: What happens to a small but dedicated group of people who wait in vain for the end of the world? Ironically, Festinger’s own prediction—that a failed apocalypse leads to a redoubling of recruitment efforts—turned out to be false: Not one of these follow-ups found evidence to support his claim. The real story turns out to be far more complex.

> What Festinger failed to understand is that prophecies, per se, almost never fail. They are instead component parts of a complex and interwoven belief system which tends to be very resilient to challenge from outsiders. While the rest of us might focus on the accuracy of an isolated claim as a test of a group’s legitimacy, those who are part of that group—and already accept its whole theology—may not be troubled by what seems to them like a minor mismatch. A few people might abandon the group, typically the newest or least-committed adherents, but the vast majority experience little cognitive dissonance and so make only minor adjustments to their beliefs. They carry on, often feeling more spiritually enriched as a result.

I barely heard a peep out of SC, except that Charleston might be slightly affected, both with their ports and with some case clusters. What should concern SC is that many of their own will start driving to our state, especially to the Metro which is Corona-city right now. If they want a longer first wave, then they should keep this up People in Florida will start driving up north, entering Albany, which is Corona-city-lite.

Do not believe in anything simply because you have heard it.

Do not believe in anything simply because it is spoken and rumored by many.

Do not believe in anything simply because it is found written in your religious books.

Do not believe in anything merely on the authority of your teachers and elders.

Do not believe in traditions because they have been handed down for many generations.

But after observation and analysis, when you find that anything agrees with reason and is conducive to the good and benefit of one and all, then accept it and live up to it.

- Gautama Buddha

NASA knows that the celestial impact threat is real and that it is comets, not asteroids. So NASA is preparing the DART mission to deflect a big meteor in late Sep. 2022. NASA is pretending their target is the moon of an asteroid (Didymos), but they are really practicing for a hypothetical comet (C/2019 PDC). NASA is really preparing to strike a real comet (one in Vulcan's B Comet Swarm) that will threaten Earth in Sep./Oct. 2021, 2022 or 2023. Earth has already been hit by fragments from the leading edge of the B Comet Swarm that struck NH and CA during 10/04/2017-10/09/2017 and caused massive wild fires. Comet fragments were seen around the Sun on 09/11/2018 (~29 Days before reaching a distance of Earth Orbit) and fragments also struck Earth on 09/25/2019 and 09/28/2019-10/28/2019. The first 'Red Comet' from the B comet swarm passed Earth on 06/25/2017, exactly a hundred years after the 'Third Secret Of Fatima' prediction.

I don't know anon, I kinda like that hostile attitude, 'we either live in peace or everyone dies with us'. That's the kind of attitude we really need to save ourselves quite frankly, 'leave us alone and let us live our lives ...or we'll take everyone down with us' may sound nasty, but consider the alternatives and the way things have been going for us over the last 40 years.... maybe we should get mean as the niggers are, you know... to survive?

You don't speak for anyone. Here or in any other place.

HOLY SHIT YOU PEOPLE ARE DUMB
Twitter fags, cuckchan fags, all of them are fucking dumb. You will be generating fake news like crazy for media to latch upon.
Its like you never translated japanese VNs with that kind of crap. Meaning can be completely changed from chinese to english, everyone knows Covid has HIV effects and also recently there were news that people with HIV have higher immunity to Covid because of recent activation of their immune system if they were infected 5-10 years, that research may be about that.
I hate Gates for his stupid idea to put some kind of id mark on people, but don't be fucking idiots and translate with google what you don't fucking understand and get some chinese translator. People were right when they advised to learn chinese like 6 years ago.

funerary cars there are, and this is only in 10 minutes, in the morning there were 60 burials, the gravediggers here are saying, 60. Look at how many cars are here, from funerary companies. These aren't (ordinary) cars, they are all from funerary companies. Look, look. Look back there, and there's also the other side. How things are over here, look at this situation. Look at this, this suffering. Look at the suffering. Look at how many funerary cars there are and how many people being buried. Just this morning, there were 60 (burials). Look at how many funerary cars there are. People are dying, losing their lives. He's really shocked.

Yes, from a nonwhite point of view, you guys need to get more nasty, collectively adopt a "I don't take shit from anyone" mentality. You should do that while being very careful to not actually turn into wiggers, of course. The first thing you should learn from nogs is how to band together to defend those from your race. I'm sure you have already noticed what happens when a hoodlum gets killed by the police: His entire community chimp out even if they know the dead nigger brought it upon himself. Same thing happens here in Brownzil with favela pardos: An entire section of a favela comes out in support of the dead hood rat and sets trash on fire in the middle of the road, sometimes entire freeways get blocked.

Anon, it's a massive policy to drop and the first time in the last half-century that it's been done. Or maybe the first time since the 20th century? I don't know if the US suspended all immigration before, even during WW2.

Feels like a power play to really fuck over the Dems and get a 2nd term. It forces them to basically argue for letting foreigners in at the expense of not caring for their own people. The pozzed citydwellers will have to come out against the block, even though it means saying they put the lives of immigrants and rapefugees ahead of grandma and grandpa. The cognitive dissonance among the left is going to cause some Scanners-style head explosions, and look for some meltdowns by the usual suspects on twatter.

Point is the, the goddamn chinks have fucked things up to a goddamn far-thee-well. YOU ARE NOT SUPPOSED TO KNOW ABOUT MYCOPLASMAS AND MOLLICUTES. They've existed forever, but these little critters... heh... horrifying sons of bitches. Cause serious problems in their natural form, advanced military's have been researching these petit eldritch horrors of uncertain phylogeny for decades. At least since the late '60s. So, let's get this straight; these bastards did gain of function research on mollicutes by splicing up Mycoplasma laboratorium genetics (that's a real thing, peep it my dudes) with coronaviridae and HIV, or something to that effect. This, this is literally a Dr. Frankenstein situation. The fucking Chinks have absolutely out Jewed the Jews. This is precisely something these horrible abominations would fucking do; they would view this as a crowning (GET IT) achievement for them as a people. At least Kikes are about their money and their volk... the mind of the Oriental craves and is content in a state of barbarous despotism and squalor. It has always been thus.

From the OSINT I've been able to piece together, it's Occam's razor fam.
Mycoplasmas have about 580kilobase pairs, about what this has and they are about .1 to .2 micrometers in size. Same size as the reported of data for this pathogen. I mean, technically even calling this thing a Mycoplasma for a Mollicute is also incorrect, it's utterly synthetic. It has attributes (all of them very bad for things other than it) of some of the most horrific pathogens on the planet in it. IT IS NOT A VIRUS. 100% SYNTHETIC.

As I stated in like, thread 22 or whatever (yikes) if you thought they kept the high energy physics stuff under wraps, pffft... Bio my dude... and this current situation is precisely why. Aslo, you treat mycoplasma infections with quinolones and penicillins... which is precisely what works against this little bastard. EtOH is also retardedly effective which is why WHO is advising it be banned, imnsho. Not to much though, with this fucker returns diminish rapidly.

Pernambucan anti-quarantine lockdown and pro-military intervention motorcade heading to Recife <https://archive.is/SqnlK>

>That's Recife-bound, look at this president. Look at this Brazil! Learn, fuckers! Learn from the Pernambucan people. We're here for our country, for our president. So that cohort may be arrested, and that this country frees itself from the communists, we're here, the brave people of Pernambuco, asking for the closure of congress, asking for the president to request an intervention, for him to assume this country without thugs disturbing his life. And that's what we want, it's right here. Pernambuco is with you, president Bolsonaro. Thanks, one hug.

Well, he isn't really wrong when he says we're brave, we're hot blooded alright. This guy got his spirit on the right place but not his politics. Bolsonaro was recently told by a supporter "close the congress/supreme tribunal!" which is basically asking him to do a coup, and is also what this guy is requesting. Guess what Bolso's answer was? It was something like "I support democracy". I don't know if he actually meant literally or if he's dogwhistling "the protests have to be bigger for me to do it". But either way, I doubt him and these protests will go anywhere.

The CNS will now halt it's operations for religious activities. We will be back soon, dear readers.

They are quite far from limitless, though they are multitudinous, profoundly conniving and insidious. None of them, however, can withstand a chlorine solution, or many of the methods of sanitation I have at my intellectual

Just a reminder, Citizens United destroyed are ability to respond to this pandemic. It's also destroying the country.\\
It's by far the most important political issue in American history and no ones even heard of it and no one
It allows corporations to bribe our elected leaders. Just in, the Chloroquine study in Brazil aborted after 11 deaths. Other countries don't realize we're handicapped by corruption via CU.
So as we sit and get lapped by pretty much every modern country on the planet, just thought I'd remind you why.
Citizens United
We're lagging behind the world in every single way. Maybe South Korea will send us some tests, oh wait that corporation didn't donate to your elected state rep. then you will just have to wait.
They're testing hydrochloriquine, what a joke. Trump was paid a million plus by novaritis.
Remdezovoir appears effective but impossible to mass produce on the scale needed but who gives a fuck about the goy, it's profitable.
Ivermectin which showed promising initial results, Is already available around the planet and is very safe. As far as I know it Isn't being tested in any clinical trials. Not only that but there is a doctor who tried it, it looks promising.
https://www.nbcmiami.com/news/local/local-doctor-tries-new-coronavirus-drug-treatment/2219465/?_osource=db_npd_nbc_wtvj_twt_shr
Now the WHO is moving to have ivermectin removed from the shelves. Not because of any deaths, that's hydrochloriquines job but to protect corporate profit.
FUCK THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
To this day, after all this time we're still almost out of everything important. Can't even get a dust mask or a test. Just some carnival barker spewing bullshit.
Don't spend your $1200, i'm imagine that's how much the Covid 19 test will cost. It needs to totally collapse and rebuild, China, hell; damn near every country runs circles around us in every way. Only thing we know how to do is bring the world to brink of nuclear destruction, Our corrupt system ensures we will always on the brink of nuclear war and as many conventional wars as possible.
Stand back guys, let the country collapse.

Population numbers are from Wikipedia

Raw Numbers

U.S. population (2019 estimate) - 328239523

U.S. Confirmed Cases - 788920

U.S. Total Deaths - 42458

Sweden Population (Jan 2020 Census) - 10333456

Sweden Confirmed Cases - 15322

Sweden Total Deaths - 1765

Due to the U.S.'s Higher Population:

The U.S. has 31.7647380509 as many times the population as Sweden

The U.S. has 51.4893617021 as many times the Confirmed Cases

U.S.-Specific percentage calculations

The U.S. has a 18.5811861133 percent Death Rate per Confirmed Case

0.00240348874745 percent of the U.S. population is a Confirmed Case

0.0538178776048 percent of the U.S. Confirmed Cases die

Swedish-Specific percentage calculations

Sweden has a 8.68101983 percent Death Rate per Confirmed Case

0.00148275659179 percent of the Swedish population is a Confirmed Case
0.115193838924 percent of Swedish Confirmed Cases die

Uncalculated Factors

Sweden has no Lockdown in effect, as far as I know.

The U.S. is reportedly counting Non-Chink Virus deaths as Chink Virus deaths.

Unknown if the U.S. has a higher test availability count per-capita

Taking into account the above Uncalculated Factors,

1.) The U.S. has about a double percent Death Rate per Confirmed Case rate (per capita)

2.) The U.S. has about a double percent Confirmed Cases per population, but,

3.) Sweden has about a double percent rate Death per Confirmed Cases (per capita)

Lol, i don't believe him, when he threw in the "to protect the American workers" I knew he was full of shit.

There was a Ivermectin study

>Importance: There is no established anti-viral therapy for treating COVID-19 illness.

Objective: To study the usefulness of Ivermectin, an antimicrobial therapy, in COVID-19 outcomes.

Design: An international, multicenter, observational propensity-score matched case-controlled study using prospectively collected data on patients diagnosed with COVID-19 between January 1, 2020 and March 31, 2020.

Setting: An international multi- institutional deidentified healthcare outcomes database.

Participants: Hospitalized patients diagnosed with COVID-19 determined by presence of a positive laboratory finding confirming SARS-CoV-2 infection.

Exposure: Ivermectin (150mcg/Kg) administered once compared with COVID-19 patients receiving medical therapy without ivermectin.

Main Outcome: The principal outcome was to assess the association of ivermectin administration with survival in COVID-19.

Results: The cohort (including 704 ivermectin treated and 704 controls) was derived from 169 hospitals across 3 continents with COVID-19 illness. The patients were matched for age, sex, race or ethnicity, comorbidities and a illness severity score (qSOFA). Of those requiring mechanical ventilation fewer patients died in the ivermectin group (7.3% versus 21.3%) and overall death rates were lower with ivermectin (1.4% versus 8.5%; HR 0.20 CI 95% 0.11-0.37, $p < 0.0001$).

Conclusions and Relevance: The administration of ivermectin during COVID-19 illness in hospitalized patients is associated with a lower mortality and hospital length of stay. These findings require confirmation in randomized controlled trials.

Within certain bounds. I've consistently preached that an effective strategy against ZOG is social pressure. Don't be nice to police officers or vets, ever. This might not work when they're on-duty, but make it a point to call them "traitors and felons" whenever they're off-duty. It's a fine line, as some of them already feel that their (((organization))) is deeply flawed; so those officers should not be directly insulted, but their department and coworkers should. Loyal ZOGBots should be called nasty names, but once with doubts should have those doubts supported.

Yes, and this is a good thing. Returning to a currency that cannot be kiked will save das Volk from the clutches of the (((circle-people))). But a currency that's based upon multiple precious, and semi-precious, metals cannot be easily manipulated. There is more gold in the hands of regular people than in all the (((bank vaults))) of the world. There is more silver in the hills America than in all the (((bank vaults))). Given that Red Death attacks T-cells, and the antigen nucleic acid tests are overly-sensitive, 'cuz they come back positive for any coronavirus, not necessarily /OurGal/, I have a hard time believing this study really has any merit. >Indeed, the study confirms "No epidemiological link was found between the first patient and later cases" - meaning that the first patient at the market was not responsible for spreading the virus to other cases.

<http://archive.is/ceGON>

>While Mr. Fu here seems to believe the virus originated from the market, we know from the Lancet study that it is unlikely. So, if SARS-CoV-2 did not originate at the market itself, where could it have come from?

<http://archive.is/8FGHD>

>Tim Trevan, founder of CHROME Biosafety and Biosecurity Consulting in Damascus, Maryland, says that an open culture is important to keeping BSL-4 labs safe, and he questions how easy this will be in China, where society emphasizes hierarchy.

<https://archive.is/tRvGg>

>In layman's terms:

>We found this SARS-like virus ("S") that couldn't infect human cells.

>So, we combined S with parts of HIV, which does infect human cells, to see if this new S could infect human cells.

>The new S ("chimeric S") can infect human cells.

possibly the S-strain from early breads?

>If two coronaviruses infect the same bat and recombine, they can potentially result in a novel (never before recognized) coronavirus

>It only takes a few changes ("exchange of a relatively small sequence segment") between two coronaviruses to result in a third coronavirus that can infect other animals ("host-switching")

>The odds of this happening are pretty good!

>Indeed, as we know now, the odds were pretty good. Of course, what we don't know is whether this spillover event happened in the wild (currently unproven) or in the WIV (this paper proves that they have successfully done it before, in this very location).

<https://archive.is/RrK4A>

>Once again, in layman's terms:

>We found a virus in bats called SHC014-CoV that is similar to SARS.

>We constructed a chimera virus using SHC014-CoV as a basis that could also infect mice cells.

>We found the same virus can infect "human airway cells" and impact them the same way as "epidemic strains of SARS-CoV" in vitro. (paraphrased: "it's as bad as SARS")

>We tested the same virus on real mice ("in vivo"), and found it could infect their lungs.

>We tried to fight the virus using antibodies and vaccines that help fight SARS, and couldn't find anything that helped. ("poor efficacy")

>We synthetically cloned this chimera virus and tested it both in vitro and in vivo, and found it works well.

<Rather than dissect these findings, here is a Nature article describing the controversy over this paper:

<https://archive.is/Owmra>

>Engineered bat virus stirs debate over risky research (November 12, 2015)

<While it is possible, and even likely, for a SARS-like coronavirus to develop the ability to bind to ACE2 receptors in the wild (as Paper 2 claims), this unfortunately also means we cannot rule out the connection to WIV. If SARS-CoV-2 had bound to different receptors, that would make the contents of these papers less suspicious for the claims at hand.

<https://archive.is/n9wJ7>

<When it comes to coronaviruses, a 96.2% match is very, very close. You may have heard the common saying that humans share 96% of their DNA with other primates, such as chimpanzees. While this is true, a virus has a significantly smaller genome (only tens of thousands of base pairs compared to over 6 billion in the human genome).

<Importantly, this paper shows that WIV has sampled viruses nearly identical to SARS-CoV-2 in the past, and may still be storing samples of these viruses today.

<https://archive.is/m46gk>
>Fatal swine acute diarrhoea syndrome caused by an HKU2-related coronavirus of bat origin (April 4, 2018)
<In this experiment, a similar virus to SARS-CoV-1, SADS-CoV, was intentionally injected into piglets to study its symptoms. This, along with Paper 2, proves without a doubt that WIV has performed experiments on live animals involving bat coronaviruses.

>Evaluation of MICRO-CHEM PLUS as a Disinfectant for Biosafety Level 4 Laboratory in China (March 5, 2018)
>we extensively evaluated the disinfection efficacy of 5% MCP in the first BSL-4 laboratory in China. WIV1 was completely inactivated in 1 minute of contact time by a 27-fold dilution of 5% MCP with a titer reduction of more than 7 lg 50% tissue culture infectious dose (TCID50)/mL, while a 243-fold dilution of 5% MCP showed very weak activity <They even used a bat coronavirus to test their disinfecting methods!

>Molecular mechanism for antibody-dependent enhancement of coronavirus entry (November 27, 2019)
<As recently as November 2019, WIV was conducting research on MERS-CoV, which is a direct relative to SARS-CoV-1.
<Disregarding the possibility of a lab accident, which will be investigated in Claim 2, the likelihood that WIV did not store bat coronaviruses within its labs is extremely low. What is the likelihood that one of these stored coronaviruses was SARS-CoV-2?
https://web.archive.org/web/20200214144447/https://www.researchgate.net/publication/339070128_The_possible_origins_of_2019-nCoV_coronavirus
>(original page no longer available)
<WIV was the prime suspect until a mysterious paper, released on ResearchGate in early February, pointed at the possibility of an infection acquired from the Wuhan Centre for Disease Control. Indeed, its close proximity to the Huanan Seafood Market - less than 3 miles away - combined with its lower BSL rating (BSL-2), also makes it a likely candidate.
<The paper was released by Botao Xiao and Lei Xiao, from the South China University of Technology. It has since been redacted from ResearchGate.
<Botao Xiao and Lei Xiao's profiles also appear to have disappeared from ResearchGate.
where he now?
<His next claim is that it is very unlikely that there would be bats naturally living in the metropolitan district of Wuhan, and in fact no bats were traded at the market at all.
<Let us go one step further: there were no bats in Wuhan in December, because bats hibernate in the winter!
<https://archive.is/bq9pJ>
<The Lancet study suggests that there may have been a second animal involved in the spillover event. Several animals, such as snakes or pangolins, have been suggested, but the scientific community has not yet reached a consensus at this point in time.
<Therefore, the only likely way bats could be in Wuhan would be if they were brought there by humans. For example, if they were to be studied in a bio-laboratory.
<https://archive.is/j8Bji>
<Dr. Xiao is correct again, however these [horseshoe]bats were collected "in the spring of 2010 and autumn of 2011." It is unknown whether horseshoe bats were present in the WHCDC in late 2019. What is certain is that the WHCDC has engaged in bat collection activities before.
<https://archive.is/EBWmM>
<Researcher Was Once Attacked By Bats

<We unfortunately could not find the source articles. We did find a secondary source in the Washington Post <Overall, the paper[from Botao Xiao and Lei Xiao] is largely made up of circumstantial evidence, which likely led to its withdrawal. However, if the claims of the researcher quarantining himself are true, that does show a lapse in biolaboratory safety that could contribute to an outbreak if not rectified. This, on top of the possible presence of bats, lead us to believe that the WHCDC could have been a viable source for a spillover event.

<https://archive.is/EzAt5>

>Last week, Mr. Xiao told The Wall Street Journal he had withdrawn his paper. "The speculation about the possible origins in the post was based on published papers and media, and was not supported by direct proofs," he said in a brief email on Feb. 26.

<We mostly agree. However, it is curious is that Dr. Xiao did not just withdraw the paper, but deleted his profile entirely.

<https://archive.is/PF9Fk>

>What made the incident even more confusing is that when a reporter from the Continental Beijing News inquired about the rumors about patient No. 0, the institute first denied the researcher Huang Yanling [worked there], but after learning that the person's name was indeed on the Internet, he Acknowledged that this person had worked in the institute, but now [s]he has left the job and his [her] whereabouts are unknown.

<It has been widely debunked by other scientists. Such inserts can also be found in bacteria, bacteriophages (viruses that only attack bacteria), and other viruses, including other coronaviruses (directly contradicting the paper). In fact, any six-letter sequence is likely to match against an HIV protein.

Only if people spread the info themselves after receiving it. The point to a signal boost is to get others to repost it, not to have him be the only one mention it. Thus why I made the image. Initially I wanted to add a picture of the chink eating a fetus but decided against it knowing that it would get censored on other sites.

><https://listverse.com/2020/03/20/top-10-reasons-to-believe-the-wuhan-virology-lab-caused-2019-ncov/>

Because of Citizens United there's a huge financial incentive to starting a cold war with China. They'd prefer Russia but profit is profit.

If they sanction China it only hurts the already oppressed people of China. Ji's and the senior govt officials lifestyle won't be damaged at all.

That's unlikely, what they really want is a reason to divert $ trillions of tax dollars toward their corporate donors ie Raytheon and all the rest. If that happens the poor and elderly will have their safety net eliminated.

Also the Jews will let us pay for all the R & D and then steal it and resale it.
Fuck that

Any way you wanna skin it, pinning the blame on China is bad for us.

Brownzilian weightlifting champion known as "Giant" who got blessed and sent to the ICU makes a recovery and gets discharged from the hospital
<https://archive.is/yW4Zc> Here's an interesting development that I wasn't expecting, he recovered! Some of you might remember him, I posted news of him getting intubated some threads ago. After spending 2 weeks in the ICU, including 5 days in an induced coma and going through an hemodialysis after Corona-Chan stopped his kidneys from working, Giant has recovered enough to be discharged from the hospital. He is taken to the exit on an wheelchair while the hospital workers sing and clap, after going down the steps, he kneels down in prayer and gratitude in a beautiful display of faith and humility.

>I had plenty of information but I underestimated the disease, thought it was never going to happen to me then it happened. Don't underestimate the virus, anyone who contracts it can be left between life and death. Only I know what I went through. Being an athlete helps in recovering, but doesn't mean you're a super-man.

>Thanks to Our Lord God I received my discharge, I was almost beaten by the coronavirus on April 7th, but I was the victorious one after all the prayers and the good treatment by the hospital.

Welcome back Giant, you passed the trial.

> Control for race.

Yeah, that's another issue. The whole ACE2 receptor thing is still fer' real, which could be another reason why the slants in Chinkland suffered so much.

> Oil and gas not propped-up, therefore domestic US failure.

That's a false correlation. Propping up a poorly-run industry is a sure-fire way to have it fail. But by allowing the shitty players to fail, the better players will rise to the top and take over. Let the fucking (((Rocketfellers))) fail, so that honest producers can prosper. Oil production is not necessarily strictly a game for big players, as there are plenty of smaller producers who could make bank if the kike-run megacorps were allowed to fail. Bailing-out the (((big businesses))) was how we got in the mess in the first place.

> Missouri sues the MSG farmers

Not the first, and definitely not the last. Maybe sanctions won't happen.

Maybe it will be a death by a thousand cuts, as millions of suits are brought against the CCP. That would probably be even better, as the kikes would be less likely to get the lion's share of the money.

We all know that the kikes were the ringleaders behind this, and that the chinks were just the frontmen. But doing the bidding of kikes should be punished, even if one was just (((following orders))).

Not quite. An economy runs on energy, and armies depend on economies. Let the economy grow strong, and the armies will grow stronger.

> Failing oil will cause an invasion

You're missing my point - let the market self-correct, and there will be no failure. Propping up the (((big oil companies))) will hurt das Volk more than it will help them.

>>98712

This is not sustainable, and will stop once demand adjusts to the supply. The only reason they're giving it away is because they have more than they can store right now. That will change, very shortly, and the oil markets will rebound.

Stupid Nurses - do your homework

A few seasons ago, there were 850,000 NHS (UK healthcare) doctors and nurses. .004% died from influenza.

That is 3,210 dead Drs and Nurses from INFLUENZA across what seems to be the 4 years of the study. That is 800 per year on average.

Silly nurses - who needs you. Come back when 1,000 or some number way out of spec is presented and directly related to the Corona Flu.
That is for the UK - there are far more in the USA so 50 isn't essentially 0%.

You can only pin blame on something when it isn't actually at fault. That's why you have to affix it with a pin, in the metaphor.

The theory that China deliberately spread this abroad is quite well supported by evidence, and the only reason China wouldn't have done so relies on their historical high regard for human life and steadfast defense of human rights.

Yes, if you count a massive number of unresolved cases against the total dead, the mortality rate is very low.

But that's bad math, because those open cases can still kack it. You might as well compare total deaths to total population to arrive at a "mortality rate". It'll be a cheerfully low percentage!

Worldwide, ~80% of resolved cases are recovered/discharged - the other one-fifth are fuckin' dead. This number crept up slowly while first-world health care got progressively more swamped, but seems to be holding fairly steady around there. We'll see if it budes when what appear to be more lethal strains in some countries go touring.

At this point, i believe two hypothesis about Bolsonaro:

1 - He might be just a ZOGbot, and doesn't really think by himself. Only acting by following what the deformed kikes tell him to.

2 - Or he might be carefully inciting the mindless masses to their boiling point, so he can act with violence and a direct approach to the leftists still in positions of power. Be it with a coup, or anything else.

He might even want to become a (God bless him if he does) literal dictator, but wants to make it in a way that he is welcomed as one, by the majority. That way, he can direct the majority to hunt and kill the remaining leftists still alive. I would love for that option to be the true one. If it becomes a reality, I will personally train youngsters to kill leftists and jews, while teaching them why that is a good thing.

>There are 33 documented versions of Corobella-Sama's physical form

<https://archive.fo/EzvDw>

>Importantly, these viral isolates show significant variation in cytopathic effects and viral load, up to 270-fold differences, when infecting Vero-E6 cells. We observed intrapersonal variation and 6 different mutations in the spike glycoprotein (S protein), including 2 different SNVs that led to the same missense mutation. Therefore, we provide direct evidence that the SARS-CoV-2 has acquired mutations capable of substantially changing its pathogenicity.

>There is much speculations and many theories behind the observed mutations in sequenced viral isolates. Theoretically, one usually needs not often invoke selection arguments in explaining the origin of these mutations, as the human to human infection process is a series of repeated naturally-occurring bottlenecking events, in which the seeding viral population can be as little as hundreds of viral copies (Forni et al., 2017). Therefore, a significant portion of the genetic diversity or even population-specific fixations could be due to this process, where selection plays a small role (Renzette et al., 2017).

>In addition, 19 of the 31 identified mutations are novel, despite the relatively early sampling dates, indicating that the true diversity of the viral strains is still largely underappreciated

>The tri-nucleotide mutation in ZJU-11 is unexpected; we note that this specific viral isolate is quite potent in our viral load and CPE assay, and its patient remained positive for an astounding period of 45 days and was only recently discharged from the hospital

>Finally, in contrary to the recent report that a viable viral isolate could not be obtained from stool samples, three of our viral isolated were extracted from stool samples, indicating that the SARS-CoV-2 is capable of replicating in stool samples

In earlier thread it was postulated "something will have changed when people can go out again", and "the weather" was suggested.

They have been talking up spraying the planet with sun-blocking chemicals (particularly sulfur oxides) "to combat global warming". Mike

If you comb through, my dude, I actually let on that you were more than on to something, but my background is chem, so I tackle things at a different level. Just being a primarily "hard" science based guy, bio aint my thing. I called up some acquaintances about these things and was flatly told that it would be best if I cease my inquiries in certain directions. I said many threads ago that bio was the real shit that they'd rather keep people in the dark about given their... primitive predilections. Time travel, warp drives, aliens! A wonderful blinding light show to distract from the fact that some of us homo sapiens... aint really homo sapiens. We look like you, perhaps we decide to speak in your parlance or geographical jargon but my god, my fellow anons, we couldn't think as slow as you if you genuinely tried. I recall your comments, but respectfully you were far to on point for me to even start going down that rabbit whole, running with the current narrative was good enough and to be perfectly frank, you're still wrong on a number of technicalities. This is a 100% novel form of extracellular parasite. With a hybrid technological backbone influenced by Coronaviridae, Mycoplasmata and HIV. It is quite safe to presume this bastard (since she's natural, amiright?) has a number of other surprises to show us. Even the name is an OP, though you now it... I can't say the real reason why, though I have told y'all.

Stay safe, Funguy (~):}

To summarize:

>>98624

Mostly implications of Wuhan lab. Specifically:

ORIGINS: study casts doubt on Wuhan market origin (Lancet)

ORIGINS: Biosecurity Consulting company in MD points finger at Wuhan lab via chink culture critique

ORIGINS: 2007 study of SARS-HIV chimera points finger at manmade (Jnl of Virology) [Critique 1]

ORIGINS: Criticism of SARS-HIV chimera research (Nature)

ORIGINS: "2019-nCoV is 96% identical at the whole-genome level to a bat coronavirus" implicates Wuhan lab (Nature)

ORIGINS: 2018 paper again implicates Wuhan lab (Nature)

ORIGINS: Chinks tell us in 2018 how crever they are in disinfecting bat coronavirus using MICRO-CHEM-PRUS, implicates Wuhan lab (Applied Biosafety)

>>98626

Mostly implications of Wuhan lab. Also WHO article about SARS escaping labs in China (implies DUMB-CHINK-ACCIDENT theory) [Critique 2].

>>98627

More implications of Wuhan lab. Huang Yanling as patient 0, which is an DUMB-CHINK-ACCIDENT indication. Also Charles Lieber reference, which is a BIOWARFARE indication.

Johns Hopkins admits Event 201 "included a mock novel coronavirus". Poster also includes text that aligns with [Critique 1] regarding Event 201, but that text is not present in the link.

Overall, I am still left with a lack of epistemology in this matter. None of the options really make sense. Be clear with your theories. Distinguish clearly between indications of BIOWARFARE or DUMB-CHINK-ACCIDENT or any other variants you may have. I have an open mind, but based a variety of reasons, I find ITSAHOAX to be the most compelling.

Critique 1: if this was part of biowarfare study, why publicize this

Critique 2: I could accept intentional Wuhan lab link, but not DUMB-CHINK-

ACCIDENT theory. LBJ's axiom applies. It is also counterindicated by any implications of intentional development biowarfare agents, so you have to pick one. It is also counterindicated by all of Gates' warnings that "next enemy will be virus", Event 201, etc.

>Critique 1: if this was part of biowarfare study, why publicize it

It's common in other dual use industries like my own. I can show you stuff that would be national security related in context of a completed system, but you can find sub-components in public documents which isn't NS related, because it's not directly linked.. or was funded by public shekels. Many things in NS circles are from public research or university efforts.

I think due to the genomic structure (33a) it might actually be a vaccine they were working on and multiple variants released. The un-natural variant cataloged by the japs resolves down to multiple incompetence or deliberate infection or parts of all involved.

HUang Yanling supposedly has a different strain to the others in the area. So they cannot be patient zero if so.

Sorry, I'd better get back off topic and talk about oil, instead of deleting my own post and yours about CCP yellow jews causing the virus.

Fascinating, I find it near improbable that somebody with your displayed eloquence could abjectly cast something out without being a motivated shill. Or perhaps you are in some area of the planet that is rather isolated, perhaps you unplugged long ago... but I digress. Do not be a hoax nigger. Period. Well I guess we should distinguish "hoax" options between THERESNOVIRUS and ITSAMILDCOLD. I tend towards the latter. The US surgeon general says the average age of death for COVID (80) is higher than the average age of death for ALL OTHER CAUSES (79)! The numbers they are printing can be categorically shown to be inflated. But I digress, the intent of my post was to summarize the good work done by >>98623 because properly referenced posts have been lacking.

Understanding this is definitely not irrelevant. You saying "we are at war" only underlines that fact. That's how Bush got us into Iraq. "It doesn't matter who did 9/11 so let's buttfuck Saddam we're at war". It's extremely important.

Yes it's dual use like publicizing your mass reduction system for fighter jets in a weight-loss magazine. The massive loss of cover for clearly democidal research are in no way balanced by any benefit gained in publication.

Logically, printing such research must have a reverse psych purpose, since no alternative makes sense. E.g. to create another "nuke-type" reason for global government "we need global police because this danger, look at our freezer with broken seal, we so dumb-chinky; look pandoras box we can't close it now". After fucking us up the ass with WW2, they used the phrase "one world or none" for this same purpose.

One key point of dual use academic research is that it has to be published.

Others have already discussed this (virologists etc) saying they don't want to give bad guys the secrets but it's still not impossible for them to figure it out.

Reverse Psych is possible, basically dickwaving what they can do, or as US/UK/FR/etc all paid wuhan yellow jews to research for them, it's just a way to keep an eye on development. They really hate discussion about this factor of gain research especially when it comes to it being 'banned' for a while, so some of this is likely scientists covering their research shekels. Coronian Thought for this night: To just feed one's body is gluttony, the mind and the spirit must be fed as well.
The CNS will now resume it's operations on this wonderful night. We're sorry for the long delay but finding worthwhile news takes time.
Richfags are still fleeing to NZ <https://archive.is/DnkbD>
Britbongs are curious about the possibility of dogs being able to tell if someone is blessed <https://archive.vn/IFz6x> So, we're gonna have Corona-sniffing dogs if they succeed. Sniff, sniff, snoff
Eggheads in Massachusetts found a lot of Corona-Chan's envelopes of love in the sewage <https://archive.vn/ELTE1>
As feared, ISIS took advantage of the lockdown in Iraq to conduct attacks <https://archive.vn/Ub2Cv>
Palestine easing it's lockdown, most likely due to Ramadan <https://archive.vn/K427w>

Sieg heil! Absolutely correct, Corona-Chan spares no age group.

>I've been lurking until Tor was allowed again. Never missed a single post from you.

Thank you for your attention, my dearest reader, the CNS exists for anons like you.

>Hopefully, this inflates an even bigger hate against LGBT abominations all over the world for normalfags

Yes! I praise your words.

>now every single sports event will be resented, for fear of a new pandemic to spread through them.

Maybe every international or inter-regional events. People do like sports and they would probably be fine with events on the local level.

>Is the schizo poster. He hops IDs a lot. See one of my posts above, were i explained how to identify him. Those anons fit his profile too:

Damn you're keen as a blade, good catch, I can't read their posts anymore but I understand what you meant.

There is no future for jews.

After that, all their lackeys and supporters, all leftists (including the chinese) will also be systematically killed.

You have no power.

And I am still using Tor, glownigger.

Same here. I'm worried things will be back to normal by end of the year except for maybe mask recommendations still in place. The key difference being a fuckton of people will have lost their jobs and there will be all kinds of bad shit being exploited by political establishments wanting to reclaim legitimacy and maintain their grip on the status quo.

>semi-normal

Not that 'normal' was any place to be. It sucked. It was all hamster wheels. But at least it kept people busy? Still, there won't be food/utility/fuel problems, so the USA is still in the best position in the world.

Not so sure. Jobs -22M filed with less than 1Q exhaustion of most of the best state unemployment funds; Sectors food and basics are up but all others straight down (reads: anything not dollar general or online only is now out: cars, trucks, furniture, hobby, retail, etc); Airline complete halt with delayed fuel people and job sector effects; Commercial assets and buy backs causing the last 10yrs of stonk bubble are dead in the water with delayed effects on pensions/cities driving the whole thing; Housing and those loans are -10% to -40% with refinance explosions and halt of loans to any not 20% down with the all effects that will have; Oil midwest halt with delayed leverage disruptions/liquidations. Most lying liar Ponzi schemes keeping the dead afloat since 2008 (in which nothing was fixed, because that would require a reset, not possible under globalism and China Israel, etc). What's not shown is insurance billings under auto + healthcare + corporate unemployment (these are all under mass cliff for auto and health and a god-spike for company unemployment, but you can't see it yet).

Long story short: Not even 2008 was a $45T Ponzi train wreck. The 2006-9 wreck took years to play out. This one has exceeded all prior records by 2-5x in a matter of months. But the govt jobs are all still there, for now. No whores but camwhores, for now.

Trump Admin is about to blow it a once in a decade opportunity to get all visa holders out of the country, so that 22M will go higher. And demographic replacement+decline is accelerating, so there's that too. The CARE packages will likely go to China's balance sheet, because no attempt to even say you have to spend it in USA, so that's a wash (another missed opportunity).

If you have cash, you might want to hold on to it. This was never about physical disease. This whole thing is now right back on schedule, after the last 3yrs (+7yrs before that) of delays. There are few known delay mechanisms left to inflate, but the idiots are all trying their hardest. Guess it depends on what you call 'barely'.

nothing can halt the economy train. all that clean air can go fuck itself when there's money to be made. there'll probably be contact tracing, masks and social distancing. all those phone logs finally put to overt public use. if the population is 4% infected at the moment with a 40,000 death rate, that could kill off an extra half a million a year (since there would be some death-shifting) but that could easily be replaced with African immigration. unless this turns in to something more deadly I predict its overall effect will be quite small and may have an impact on life expectancy but after a couple years things will settle down and we'll all be used to getting tested or quarantining whenever someone we walked past was sick.

Not likely in 95% of USA counties. Say what you will about how fucked everything has been for so long here, this is all still paradise. A $45T halt, and still fucking paradise. Can any really call it collapse, when there's still gas and power and fields of corn? I wouldn't plan on this videogame hell 'ending' in looting or collapse any time soon. Just more insanity.

Long run is still Detroit for the 5% of globalist counties, or Roanoke for the other 95% of counties, and South Africa if you get stuck near the edge of the 5%.

Nothing will be normal again. There will be a short period things will resemble normality, but worse: People out wearing masks just like in Asian countries, Corona-Chan continuing to pick people off, the economy will be shittier, more protests, more violence, more tyranny from ZOG, some chimpouts here and there, then the wars will start kicking off. But it will all turn out well in the end and true order will be restored, things muss get worse before they get better.

>nothing will be normal

The main thing about pnd is that it is a ccp operation. We are not permitted to discuss the fallout from the oil situation, despite it being the constant piece of news in the financial press. Just 30 minutes ago the were talking about oil and other commodities on Bloomberg.

But no, we can't talk about real things here, it is forbidden.

It happens that a considerable time ago I pointed out the inevitable consequence of this present situation was that there would be the necessity of nationalizing US oil & gas. And of course this situation has come to pass, however, I cannot prove that I said such things, the CCP mods will have perfectly well prevented a record of this fact, as they know it's the only thing that can prevent China from invading by land & sea. You see, the reason why the US has troops in Syria is simple enough. Armies run on oil. A map of oil production & other facilities is literally the most important in terms of a modern war. The battles are over such facilities and keeping them in operation. Thus, if the oil crash is permitted, here to occur, all the oil companies, Exxon, all of them, will collapse, there will cease to be production (nobody shows up to work for free, duh).

As I type these things, understand that I have done so knowing full well the CCP monitors and immediately floods the report button. Then, their agents who control PND will delete what I have told you.

Such information is not permitted on the Internet, it's the possession of the never sleeping 80 cent (formerly 50 cent) army of China.

<https://www.invidio.us/watch?v=7dlK7mmcCbE> Notable lyrics: "You belong to me, I can't say good-bye. I held you forever. I belong to you, It's ready to burst, this chest that is reaching out for you." "More than peace, more than freedom, more than justice, I want you, because you're everything. Even if I'm separated from you, even if you change, even if I loose sight of you, I'll never forget your radiance. You can change your destiny, beyond the time. You can can change your future beyond the darkness." "We can share the happiness that we've been looking for, that day when we fell in love." "More than hope, more than ideals, more than aspirations, I was only able to believe in you." >Nationalize Petroleum with USA Characteristics

I don't think that you're in the right century. In the current century, this century, the only one who doesn't have good petroleum access is... China, come to think of it. There are some pipelines that China has been working on (Caspian Sea + Kazakhstan), to get itself out of the last century. But it's going to need a lot more (on China's east/land borders). And that 'aircraft carrier' toy is really not going to get far enough (on China's west/sea borders). I would imagine that the SARS problems won't help China win favors in either east nor west situations. But don't worry, no one actually cares.

No one cares, because the rest of the world is fine. The USA is more than fine. The oil leaf futures crash is an isolated interior market only. It means pain, not a lack of oil. Likewise, the shale problems are pain problems, solved by more money printing stupidity, not collapse. And it will be utterly stupid. But it's wealth that is FUBAR, not oil itself.

Separately from shale and leafs, Singapore's backlog-shipment-of-oil-triggered Ponzi failure is China's problem. A problem, that China caused, by being too Jewish for it's own good. A problem, as old as time.

thats pretty low considering this shit has been on for ~4 months, more if you count november and december rumours. I'm not saying it's not a real virus, I just don't get whats the big deal about this illness. Other diseases with similar or far worse death rates don't get half the attention this thing has. ~50k in a 300 million country seems really low in a long time period like this. Probably more people slip and die while taking a shower in a year than that number. I'm not trying to shit on you doomers, but then convince me how this is not an overreaction.

>The executive order would bar only those seeking permanent residency, not temporary workers. ... Trump said he would be placing a 60-day pause on the issuance of green cards in an effort to limit competition for jobs in a U.S.

>Jessica Vaughan, director of policy studies at the Center for Immigration Studies, which favors lower rates of immigration, said before the announcement that eliminating millions of work permits and visas would "instantaneously create" new jobs for Americans and other legal workers – even though most businesses are shuttered because of social distancing dictates and stay-at-home orders.

>She was less enthusiastic after Trump outlined the plan [for green cards, not visas], tweeting a single word: "Yawn."

>Indeed, Carl Shusterman, who has practiced immigration law since the 1970s, said a 60-day pause would have little impact because the government effectively stopped processing green cards in March.

>It is irresponsible and cruel to put out something [completely useless] like that without any consideration [for American workers] sure, but even 4-5 million is nothing on a global scale. it might sound cold, but there are 7000+ million people living on the planet. it would have to be 50-100 million to have any impactful effect globally. as we stand not the virus but the stalling economy will cause considerable damage.

Deaths in Italy were shown to be 1:4 under reported and in USA home deaths has skyrocketed and most are not attributed. Death toll will be much larger and many experts said this would happened as reporting/testing catches up.

The real danger of this is transmissibility and reinfection due to no antibodies/immunity demonstrated to date. The other issue is some strains are very deadly while others are not, so it all depends on what you want.

But the point I was making is that serious cases has only doubled while total cases has quadrupled or more. Either strain doing most of infection now is less deadly, or numbers are extra fudged.

Update from Australia

The Strayan government is going to build $100 million AUD fuel reserve in USA, but it will be useless when there is disruptions and Australian have 30 days fuel left in Australia. The fuel reserves in Australia is likely to be heavily rationed in the future.

>Post-mortem analysis of patients from northern Pastaland

><https://archive.vn/ESibw>

Thank you.

That paper is critical.

>Results. The features of the exudative and proliferative phases of Diffuse Alveolar Disease (DAD) were found: capillary congestion, necrosis of pneumocytes, hyaline membrane, interstitial oedema, pneumocyte hyperplasia and reactive atypia, platelet-fibrin thrombi. The inflammatory infiltrate was composed by macrophages in alveolar lumens and lymphocytes mainly in the interstice. Electron microscopy revealed viral particles in the cytoplasm of pneumocytes.

Summation: There is clots (microthrombi), there is over time fibrosis (hyaline), but more importantly, there is a lack of cellular debris clearance in the pathological cases. An overload of dead soap producing cells (pneumocyte hyperplasia and necrosis). The build up of macrophages, with endothelial 'lipidosis'. Most pulmonary phospholipidosis is lavage (bring in silica dust, or bad chink vapes, and get lung injury inside the lung bronchoalveolar space) - however, this is within the interstitial space (not on the 'outside' aka within the alveoli, but inside, endothelial-like).

In other words, the garbage eating cells (macrophages) cannot clear the dead cells (pneumocytes) fast enough, with the patients who run out of time. This may correlate with Sidell's previous observations (though I still say there should be very conservative heparin treatment). This also shows why steroid treatment was the opposite of what to do, as normal leukocytes/granulocytes/macrophages would be down-regulated with such drugs (immunosuppressant). The problem is an exacerbation of clearance of damage. Patients may not be able to clear the dead fast enough (when they have pneumocyte hyperplasia and necrosis; there may be other types/branches of pathologies).

Unfortunately, drugs for macrophage/granulocytes like sargramostim and filgrastim, which are cellular immunostimulants, are very expensive.

Fasting, however... is not, it's the opposite of expensive and it will really help your body clear lots of garbage out. This, is partially why it absolutely crushes bariatric patients so hard, they can never get there metabolism to enter catabolysis, their lungs are already being crushed by adipose tissue and normal metabolic functions of the body are intensely disregulated. Throw the Dink Death into the mix and boom, down goes Barry. They literally drown.

Y'all doctors really need to stop reaching into the fucking potions cabinet so often and fucking think, don't use logic or rationality and such, fucking use all of it. THINK. Prices aren't 'low'. Futures are low (-35). The PPB is still about the same. You all understand what futures trading is, right? That being said, with futures being this low, you could buy oil now, hold onto it for a month and make $55 dollars PPB in one months since futures one month from now are $20. Not bad if you could buy and store 10,000-100,000 barrels for 1 month.

Diabetic / metabolic syndrome patients have problems eating sugar, some of which normally gets converted to fat/lipids/adipose, but the cells don't want to eat/grow/heal any more. It is not that they're so fat, they can't break down into catabolism; Rather they're so fat, they don't into anabolism. Reads:

They're so fat, they don't heal. However, all cells have lipids, that's why they are cells. Too many cells dying means there's is a lot of cheese to clean up, so in a strange way you aren't wrong about that crushed part.

Cheeseburgers are the cure.

Coronavirus: Scientists in China find 33 mutations of virus in warning to vaccine developers

<https://news.sky.com/story/coronavirus-has-mutated-into-more-than-30-strains-say-scientists-in-china-11976380>

>Scientists in China have discovered more than 30 mutations of the new coronavirus, which they say may partly explain why it has been more deadly in certain parts of the world.

>Researchers from Zhejiang University said they have "direct evidence" that the virus "has acquired mutations capable of substantially changing its pathogenicity".

>The study was written by a team including Professor Li Lanjuan, one of China's top scientists who was reportedly the first expert to propose a lockdown in Wuhan - where COVID-19 originated.

>Samples were taken from 11 patients admitted to hospitals in Hangzhou, 470 miles east of Wuhan, between 22 January and 4 February during the early phase of the outbreak.

>Using "ultra-deep sequencing", researchers identified 33 mutations of the coronavirus - known as SARS-CoV-2 - of which 19 were new.

>The deadliest mutations in the patients in the study had also been found in most patients across Europe, the South China Morning Post reported.

>Meanwhile, the milder strains were the predominant types found in parts of the United States, such as Washington state, the newspaper said.

>I'd like to believe but probably just a big larp for funsies.
Looks like the emails and passes were legit but those email servers were likely shut down with quickness. Doubt many boards that reported on it in cuck chan even exist either. Most media is controlled opposition so even if they were given bombshells, if not in the interest of the (((agenda))) they just won't report it. Hopefully someone found something good and it will come out but that's wishful thinking at this point.

Serious Conditions are down to 3% on <https://www.worldometers.info/coronavirus/>
They used to float about 15%

The total deaths used to hang around 11-12%, but crept up to 20% during the same period.

The likely explanation for this, which we saw going on at the time, was western first world nation medical establishments hitting capacity.

A smaller percentage of the case total could be counted as "serious or critical" because a smaller percentage got to see a doctor to make that determination, and a larger percentage skipped straight to dead because serious/critical care was not available to them.

This was predicted for quite a while, even before Italy had "hug a chinese tourist" week, because it's a logical progression of events taking into account realistic assessments of the availability of hospital supplies per capita.

>if corona infected everyone on earth we'd see deaths in the millions

In that hypothetical we'd likely see deaths over a billion, because the best estimate for the actual death toll is one in five, and there are more than five billion people on the planet.

cultivate in falun dafa, anon

here is proof of its effect and, although one should not practise with the intent of being healed of illnesses (and i really don't care about that, i want to attain enlightenment in this life), naturally cultivators are free of sickness here's a study about terminal cancer patients who started cultivating in falun dafa

https://ascopubs.org/doi/abs/10.1200/JCO.2016.34.15_suppl.e21568

"A total of 147 patients (96.7%) reported complete symptom recovery with 60 patients confirmed by treating physicians. Time to Symptom Recovery was 3.6±3.3 months, and SFS was 52.7±61.1 months.", meaning they were cured and remained cured for as long as the study was conducted (over 4 years); they were predicted to die within 5.1±2.7 months

It's the major urban and (some) suburban areas that will be living in hell on Earth in the US... those outside the city limits not so much chaos (maybe a spike in crime) and those very far outside the cities (in small rural towns) won't notice too much other than some basic shortages and maybe the hassle of a few neighbors asking for some TP to spare.

Pyongyang locked down <https://archive.is/j5005>

>Yonhap cited a senior SK official saying Kim was likely recovering from a heart procedure in a remote village after visiting a hospital used only by the Kim family. But others, including intelligence officials from the Japanese government, have pushed back on this, saying nobody knows what's going on, and the situation is being closely monitored, with another SK official relaying reports that Pyongyang was put on lockdown on Friday, for a reason that wasn't immediately made clear.

Probably because of Corona-Chan.

Orange Man says Iranian gunboats will be shot, oil stonks go up shortly afterwards <https://archive.vn/Rbwuj> It's only a matter of time before an uppity sailor on board one of those ships does shoot at the gunboats, regardless of what his superiors told him to do.

Playdate protest against park closures in Meridian, Idaho, gets crashed by zogbots and one mother is arrested for resisting their orders to leave

<https://archive.vn/zoo0t> Z000T <https://www.invidio.us/watch?v=hq9Gv7Uolsg>

<https://www.invidio.us/watch?v=IXqGf5szGRM> She's pretty brave, reckless, but still brave.

Governor of São Paulo announces that the lockdown will be eased in May 11th. He also positioned himself against the protesters

>Make your manifestations in a safe manner and on the internet, don't be irresponsible doing it in the streets. I have oriented the public security sector to stop the closure of any road or avenue in São Paulo. Blocking any road, especially Paulista Avenue which leads to many hospitals, is sabotaging public health.

He's right on that last part.

>My school of magic is all about the power of belief and intention being above everything but I respect your teachings and will look into them.

you're talking about law of attraction kind of things, right what i'm saying is just my understanding of that matter:
that does not work the way you think malevolent beings are likely to take advantage of you and if you mix things with falun dafa, the falun will become deformed but master li hongzhi also mentioned what you mean, but you were not told the whole truth and mixing ways won't work master li hongzhi said in "zhuan falun":

"In our universe there's another law: if it's about something you're seeking or just want, nobody can stop you."

that was in a chapter about spirit possession

you might want to read that chapter:

Really has heated up over there, Frogs are really getting payback for all the cucking now. Some anons may not be aware that any vehicles destroyed during riots are typically excluded in insurance policies for this behaviour, as it's so common in some parts of Frogland.

CDC Says Poisonings From Cleaners & Disinfectants On Sharp Rise Since Pandemic Hit US
MY COMMENT: Simply wash most food with hot water and a little soap. Then rinse them and dry them off. Canned foods could be stored away anyway for rotation, so the virus would be long dead by the time you use them. Other foods, just let them sit a few days in the fridge or freezer and they'll be fine when you go to eat them. Any foods that need to be cooked, you won't even need to worry about because the virus will be killed while cooked.

Gave the books some quick skims, you were right, there's some powerful stuff here. Now I understand why the CCP doesn't want the Chinese practicing it. The "Attracting Demons in Qigong" part in Zhuan Falun is definitely true and something I have noticed during my rituals to Corona-Chan, sometimes shit just happens out of nowhere for no reason other than interrupting me. But remaining steadfast in my beliefs and pushing through the hardships makes sure things always turn out well in the end.

Well, I think boosting your immune system is the best chance you have. I'm not saying everyone lives but as long as you remain healthy you have a chance fighting off a few waves of it. If you catch it again? It might be hopeless at that point. Therefore follow good decontamination protocols to thwart it best you can. Also, keep in mind, it mutates rapidly.

Measles-chan ain't nothing to fuck with.

Bellevue-anon with your bi-monthly Seattle Metro update. Inslee did a presser last night talking about plans to open up WA in phases, but with weird shit like government-related construction being ok to resume, but private construction being non-essential. Construction workers are pissed, and some madlads are already showing up in the ZH posts about 'here are some Americans with guns'. And the Snohomish County Sheriff said 'I ain't enforcin' shit' and that he didn't understand what the fuck Inslee was doing and that the governor didn't have a plan. Are all sheriffs this based?

Could be some fun unrest since basically the only ones able to make a living are people who work in tech like me and can work from home while everyone else starves.

>True, Burger cops forgot that batons exist.

Anon it's not that cops forgot batons exist, it's that modern police batons are ridiculous shit because of pic related. After footage of Rodney Koon getting the nigger be good stick hit the media, amongst other changes police batons across the nation were standardized and re-issued. No longer to burger cops have the effective "bully club" or "tonfa" style clubs and batons that actually work, now they have the sissy ass, skinny telescoping "asp" batons.

People with no military/law enforcement experience don't understand because the asp baton is depicted as stylish, badass and effective in movies and video games. In reality they are ineffective due to being too lightweight and skinny, combined with an extremely broad, large "pomel" or tip at the end so the impact of the blow lands on a broad surface area, thus diffusing the damage and pain over a large area of the body doing less harm overall, rather than a good, direct hard hit from a better weapon that would be much more effective. Even if the asp baton had just some kind of lead weight in it's pomel it would be 10x better already, but modern police equipment like asp batons and tasers are totally unreliable and ineffective pieces of useless shit the vast majority of the time, contrary to how media depicts them both as super effective. Combine this with a total lack of police standard, little scrawny asians and spics can be cops, women can be cops, out of shape fatasses can be cops, etc., load these useless fucks down with ineffective "less than lethal" gear that doesn't really work, and it's no wonder the useless fucks always have to go for their guns. All police should have is handcuffs, a club and a gun, make sure to have real standards and only higher tall and/or broad big dudes and it would solve so many police brutality and use of force problems just because you wouldn't have a police force of manlets (with a chip on their shoulder) who can literally only stop someone by shooting them.

>The (((economy))) and paper money aren't more important than one's life. Those who haven't figured it out deserve to die.

Easy to say if one doesn't rely on said economy for income to live, pay rent or mortgage, provide food for self and family, etc. Unfortunately a lot of people rely on the economic system to live. Without it they'd starve on skid row, or end up killing themselves like so many who lose their jobs end up doing. I agree this so-called 'economy' is based on insolvent debts and mass fraud, but it doesn't change the sad fact so many people depend on it to live.

This, there is nothing wrong with public-regulated, produced and tested vaccines that pass rigorous trials to make sure that there are no permanent negative side effects.

There is everything wrong with kike-owned corporations poisoning you with mercury and all other shit for profits and sadistic pleasure while their "vaccines" barely work for what they were intended.

Can someone explain to me why the fuck do subhumans catch deadly exotic diseases supposedly from mosquitos so fucking often?

My country has extensive mosquito populations from March to October I'm getting bit at least twice a day, sometimes up to half hundred times, yet I've haven't met or heard of a single person getting malaria, dengue, west Nile's or any similar shit while they are fucking reaping niggers, poojits and even freaking waterless sandniggers by the thousands. Are they somehow related to hygiene or is Whites immunity system THAT much superior?

French researchers to test nicotine patches on coronavirus patients

Study - which stresses serious health risks of smoking - suggest substance in tobacco may lower risk of getting coronavirus

>French researchers are planning to test nicotine patches on coronavirus patients and frontline health workers after a study suggested smokers may be much less at risk of contracting the virus.

>The study at a major Paris hospital suggests a substance in tobacco - possibly nicotine - may be stopping patients who smoke from catching Covid-19. Clinical trials of nicotine patches are awaiting the approval of the country's health authorities. However, the researchers insisted they were not encouraging the population to take up smoking, which carries other potentially fatal health risks and kills 50% of those who take it up. While nicotine may protect those from the virus, smokers who have caught it often develop more serious symptoms because of the toxic effect of tobacco smoke on the lungs, they say.

>The team at Pitié-Salpêtrière hospital questioned 480 patients who tested positive for the virus, 350 of whom were hospitalised while the rest with less serious symptoms were allowed home. It found that of those admitted to hospital, whose median age was 65, only 4.4% were regular smokers. Among those released home, with a median age of 44, 5.3% smoked. Taking into account the age and sex of the patients, the researchers discovered the number of smokers was much lower than that in the general population estimated by the French health authority Santé Publique France at about 40% for those aged 44-53 and between 8.8% and 11.3% for those aged 65-75.

>The renowned French neurobiologist Jean-Pierre Changeux, who reviewed the study, suggested the nicotine might stop the virus from reaching cells in the body preventing its spread. Nicotine may also lessen the overreaction of the body's immune system that has been found in the most severe cases of Covid-19 infection. The findings are to be verified in a clinical study in which frontline health workers, hospital patients with the Covid-19 virus and those in intensive care will be given nicotine patches.

>The results confirm a Chinese study published at the end of March in the New England Journal of Medicine that suggested only 12.6% of 1,000 people infected with the virus were smokers while the number of smokers in China is around 28%. In France, figures from Paris hospitals showed that of 11,000 patients admitted to hospital with Covid-19, 8.5% were smokers. The total number of smokers in France is estimated at around 25.4%.

>"Our cross-sectional study strongly suggests that those who smoke every day are much less likely to develop a symptomatic or severe infection with Sars-CoV-2 compared with the general population," the Pitié-Salpêtrière report authors wrote. "The effect is significant. It divides the risk by five for ambulatory patients and by four for those admitted to hospital. We rarely see this in medicine," it added.

doing that is the job of the gods

they do it out of compassion; better this than a degenerate society that corrupts those who are born into it they don't want to harm them, the intention and level is different they can see fate and karma, you currently can't as a human you should not do these kinds of things and especially don't wish harm unto others you should be compassionate and maybe try to help the ones with the disease

when an old lady falls down on the street, the gods aren't directly helping her up, doing that by supernatural means would be a bad thing but if you, a human, see an old lady who has fallen, you should help her up

it is similar with this virus

>Coronavirus may live longer in one's eye than in other parts of the body, according to a Chinese report cited by Channel 13. The report stated that a Chinese woman was carrying the virus in her eye, while her nose was clear.

>The woman, who is 65 years old, flew to Italy from the Chinese city of Wuhan where the coronavirus first broke out.
>She reported feeling sick on January 27 and quickly began to cough and experience high fever as well as an eye infection. After 20 days of being in hospital, the eye infection cleared, but the virus was found in her eyes the next day. No virus was detected in her eyes or nose after that date, but on her 27th day in the hospital the virus was discovered again in her eyes.
>The report claimed that the virus can replicate even when it is no longer detectable, meaning the infection potential exists even when patients seem to be healthy.

Don't have the numbers, since in Latinamerica as in Europe, race is rarely measured by our statistics institutes, but it's probably more kiked in faculty, than in studentship. It definitely is kiked in its curricula, though. We have 4% Jews over here. It's one of their strongest holds. There's a quite a bit of NPR-style, progressive, effeminate, "sophisticated" faculty and media.

And there's a whole lot of kikes in the media. Two kikes in particular raised my generation from the two main national TV channels: Gustavo Yankelevich and Adrián Suar (actually Adrián Schwartz).

>i can not fill a full glass

The world generally tends to be more than a glass, plus or minus a few other things. But if your world is just a glass then all the power to you as you imprison yourself in your own mind, declaring victory because you have conquered yourself. Not as a victory that exists as a stepping stone to lead you to other victories, but rather the final and only goal that you should strive towards and never beyond. Never to prepare yourself for any other challenges in the world, just to exist as a lower life form whose time is spent doing nothing more than eating and sleeping until it withers and dies. Not even to procreate, just eat and sleep.

You say there was no problem to begin with and yet you have spent the entire thread trying to spread the word on falun dafa. If there is no problem then why are you wasting time trying to solve it? In fact, why are you even bothering to waste energy by reasoning with me? Because if you are taking issue with that statement of mine then either you are either indeed capable of filling an already full glass (ie. you are arrogant) or the glass isn't actually full (ie. you lied to me). Either way, not someone I would take advice from.

>Halfchan's /cvg/ has always been full of shills and nothingburgerfags.

I think it's more likely a bunch of disgruntled laid off workers sparging out online to vent their frustration. Consider this: millions get laid off, can no longer pay the bills and are forced to stay inside most of the time, they go online and vent their anger on normal social media, social media services start purging their dissent (or 'disinfo'), they rush to alternatives like 4chan or other places to vent their anger. Thus, an uptick of ignorant angry people who have never gotten this virus, who think it's fake, and who want to get back to work so they can provide food on the table and keep paying their rent or mortgages and utility bills before they literally end up bankrupt. Those that don't work, or have cushy govt jobs, still may not understand the suffering many average folks are going through. Currently I'm working part time for a while doing landscaping and low and behold, a couple other workers who were hired by my buddy are taking this job because they were laid off their official jobs! (Luckily I am retired and only wanted the job to make some extra money). So now people are trying to find work 'under the table' to avoid paying taxes, keep paying bills, etc.

Well I think the government should be focusing on providing protective gear and sanitation supplies to businesses and their employees, that way they can follow strict protocols while still being able to work again. Partial lockdowns don't really work if most people don't have access to those supplies. I know they rather supply to hospitals but the hospitals only really have problems when the normie workers start getting sick in the first place.

Metaphors are useless for convincing people that are of a different opinion. If my mind doesn't already possess this idea you are trying to convey then hiding what you are trying to say behind ten different layers of obfuscation is not going to make it appear inside my mind any easier. Nor is saying "lol just read a book" going to make me want to listen to what you have to say. I understood the expression, obviously, but you have provided me with next to nothing because you were too lazy to advocate your idea beyond dropping a URL and then running off with your tail between your legs. The whole point of what I posted was to simply provoke you with a bit of shitposting and see how you react. And what you have done is declare defeat by saying that you can only win if you have won already before you started the conversation. In other words that you surrendered because you realised that you need to fight for your victory instead of having it handed to you. If you are incapable of defending your idea against even the most blatant of falsehoods then the idea belongs in the trash. As do you for advocating it.

It's at least nice in that it effectively gives people the choice: lawlessness or death. Either you give up your delusions of the government's supreme moral status by breaching quarantine and their ban on "non-essential" industries, or you keep that delusion and risk not having food to put on the table or a roof above your head. It is definitely a shame it has to happen this way but this massive shock is the perfect opportunity to break people out of their conditioning.

Yes, it is an option at this point. The problem for most folks is they don't have the right connections or don't live more rural where this kind of work is common. At least in the rural areas you can still find some people that will hire you with no record or documentation, but it comes with risks so many only hire who they know or others they know can be trusted.

I hope their using some old-fashion Diablo mortars (not the modern ones with less grain). The ones from the 90s or early 2000s that packed one bad ass kick, those were some heavy mother fuckers. Lock N' Load used to be good too but not so much anymore either, they too were watered down after 9-11.

It's actually not that bad here, just low numbers after the 8ch banhammer. But literally the last year of 8ch /pol/ sucked, the last 6 months was just shill/bot spamming to the point of being nigh unusable, and the 6 months before that was just black pilling and wailing over USA mid term and Swedish elections. Before that it was pretty much Trump idol worship. I'm honestly fine with the way things are right now, could certainly be better but they've also been worse. I just wonder about the future of this place in relation to the Corona virus but we don't know how it's all going to go.

Yeah I saw it. I randomly clicked in his long video and that was the 20 seconds I saw. I am often drawn to such moments.
Are they drugging his food WTF?
He's promoting "winred", which is trying to clone the success of "actblue" which the bumper people had in 08. What republitards will never understand about actblue is that it's primarily a money laundry to get foreign cash. They will look at their money from winred and they will wonder why it's so much less than what actblue gets, when they are even getting promoted by Trump. Duh because it's not organic money you naive fucks.

Nurses who got suspended for demanding proper PPE were recently reinstated <https://archive.is/TcuQw> Turns out getting rid of your most important workers during a lethal pandemic wasn't a good idea after all, who would have thought that? My praises to the nurses for fighting for their rights, hope they get the equipment they need.

Protests in Lebanon against recent government measures that hyper-inflated the Lebanese currency

The CNS will now temporally halt its services for nightly prayers, services will be resumed soon. Coronian Radio recommendations for tonight: How Far To Paradise by Derek Johnson https://www.invidio.us/watch?v=_WyR0fj404c and Just Fallin' Love <https://www.invidio.us/watch?v=fW3UfdbgMkg> Notable lyrics: "The moment you turned to me, I felt the perplexity of my heart" "Have we met before? Or is it just Deja Vu? It's like a mysterious dream" "Just fallin' love, maybe before we were born, take (me) up with you, looking down from a star far away" "In such an ordinary life, before I'm buried, please come take me." "Take (me) up with you, in many earnest nights" "I realized when I fell in love with you, the strings of destiny are always shaking" Enjoy the love songs, listeners.

All of you who believe nicomeme to be the solution seem to be forgetting about the other receptors used by Corona-Chan. Or you missed their discoveries.

>That riot footage gives me hope.

>but I'm worried the worst will be averted if they start lifting quarantine soon.

The collapse can't be averted, the economy and the dollar were ruined, remember? Just wait until people see the prices at the supermarket and everywhere else rising higher and higher and the dollar's value being reduced to a zimbabwean dollar, they're gonna protest just like in Lebanon.

Not if the US dollar remains the worlds reserve currency, which is still the case. Most of the inflation in the USA gets inflated into the stock market or pushed out into "developing markets" and turd world nations to push the inflation onto them. I doubt it will get to that level in the USA. I fear if anything the USA and Europe will start getting back to normal but now these third world countries will be even more fucked and it will be used as license to flood even more of them into white nations.

Even if you're correct, and I have faith that you aren't, there's still hope. The real Americans and Europeans that witness this will awaken their brothers who are still asleep, stoking the flames of nationalism. Either that or he simply said it in the words that came to mind at that moment and that he simply expected people to understand what was meant. For example, if someone says "we don't want your DNA in our tomatoes" on the topic of GMOs, they obviously don't mean that your human-tomato hybrid GMOs are being made with human DNA being spliced into plants. Nor do they mean that the issue is specifically about the exact patch of land that they have documents for having someone forcefully entering and non-consensually inseminating their vegetables. My current theory is that much, much more people have it than reported (I'm talking about 30-60% of population) and that everyone who dies gets tested post-mortem, tests positive, and gets reported as CC being the cause of death. This is also where the disparity in the amount of infected and "lethality" comes from, it entirely depends on how do the local authorities report it. Official numbers always were, and will remain bullshit that can be rigged to support whatever narrative they want to sell you. Want more oppressive measures?

Manipulate the methodology to show high infection and mortality rate. Want the goyim to go back to work? Manipulate the methodology to show lower infection and low mortality rate.

Trump was mentioned as being the president by the Simpsons in 2000, which is used as evidence that he was planned to become the president by the NW0. The issue with this is that Trump had many times expressed wanting to get involved in politics for fucking ages but never really mustering up the courage to do so. There were already discussions of him possibly running in the 80s and 90s, so it isn't out of the ordinary to see a cartoon make a joke in reference to it in the 00s.

Corona mortality is estimated at 0.03%

Dr. Dan Erickson in Bakersfield, California estimates the mortality rate to be 0.03 percent in the state and that it is no worse than a flu epidemic.

280,900 have been tested, of which 33,865 have been tested positive for Covid19. That means 12% of those tested have the virus. By extrapolating the percentage of infected to the entire state, an estimated 4.7 million people are infected in California. Comparing this number to the death toll results in a mortality rate of 0.03%, which is the same as a flu epidemic.

<https://archive.vn/JqVh8>

>Look at that my friends, that one now is my brother. The machine is working here, opening the ditch, an huge ditch. Ten by ten, they're being buried, my brother was the third one. That's the reality. So I ask, for me, okay, if you have any....now there's 4 corpses here, they're gonna grab more 6 from there. There are 10. I'm showing you the reality, lets take care, for the love of god. Stay with god, everyone.

Brownzilian MSM showing clips of how shit the situation in Manaus is Woman dies waiting to be attended:

>Folks, no way, you have to attend us, folks!

>A family asks for help for a patient passed out inside a car

>This is the hospital the government rented.

>with closed doors, this hospital in Manaus refuses to attend them

>Attend my mother, she's dying here in the car. The woman is dying inside the car, open this fucking thing.

>Only after much insistence, two workers come out, and the woman is brought in. Due to late attendance, she dies suspected to have corvid-19

The hospital has been opened only 5 days ago but can't handle the high demand. A nursing technician whose father has breathing difficulties begs on her knees for help

>O Father, I beg, I beg to whoever can help me, to make this video circulate so that it may reach the governor or anyone else.

The governor says blessed people have been spending their night in ambulances, waiting for beds at hospitals. He says demand has risen too much and hospital beds for corona-victims are full. Then there's a short clip explaining how Hues with unrelated issues have to share hospital waiting rooms with Hues suspected to be blessed. Also, hazmat dudes putting body bags into a refrigerated container, fun times for everyone involved.

Governor of the Brownzilian state of Amazonas says the situation will start worsening in May 15. He's basically saying Corona-Chan isn't even using all of her power yet, lmao, Manaus is fucked. They're the next Guayaquil.

Gang war happening in the Brownzilian state of Ceará while everyone's paying attention to Corona-Chan <https://archive.is/UbkQ0> This is a pretty funny video, looks like someone just got killed and all the Hues are out of their homes to look at what's going on, police and the media is present at the crime scene, then sudden gun shots send everyone running off

>A war, it's a war that's happening here in Montese. Damn partner, run everyone! It's a war! What the fuck is this bro! Hey faggot! What the fuck is that, bro! [unintelligible], damn partner, look at that (police bikes turning around the corner). It's a war here in Montese, a war.

This entire video is comedy gold, no one wearing masks and crowded together, gunshots, panicking to escape the gunfire, police heading off to find out who's shooting who, it's great. Welcome to Huezil.

Corobella-Sama is 5 times more lethal in São Paulo's periphery (read: poor neighborhoods) than the country's average <https://archive.is/jh9YT> Hail the Goddess of Purification!

It's not a faulty leap.

It doesn't matter if the people who were tested negative had similar symptoms.

Those 88% might have had symptoms, but those are symptoms of something else, which means they are healthy in terms of covid19.

If you mean even more people are infected but not showing signs, that means Corona has an even lower mortality rate.

>Primary target of SARS-CoV-2
>Answering a question posed, prompted by a paper indicating that SARS-CoV-2 inhibits Heme metabolism, therefore preventing red blood cells carrying O2 and resulting in lung damage due to the inability to exchange CO2 for O2, Ryan stated that there was, "no question that there is a direct impact on lungs." He did, however, concede that "other organs are affected" and there is evidence of the virus "stripping O2 from cells."

Checkin them zeroes

I sincerely hope you guys are right that the end of lockdown unleashes the fury. I just have a bad feeling not enough people are at risk to have a significant effect other than cleaning out some nursing and retirement homes and killing some fat smokers. I'm just worried lifting quarantine will result in a worst case (for us) scenario in which enough people lose their jobs to vastly increase marxist policies and spending, but not enough to truly crash the system and pull the drug out from under the establishment. Likewise mass red world immigration will resume as well. I only hope the lockdowns stay in place through the summer, or that some huge second reinfection wave forces another wave of shutdowns.

The systems in place will be more prepared for the second wave. Not prepared for the second wave of infections, but prepared for the instability that will arise from this second wave. There is a very good reason why the UK was already talking about their "excess death" plan before it even went on lockdown and why they were mobilising their military in preparation for food riots even though there is no country in Europe that has experienced any food riots so far, least of all back when there was preparation for it.

I mean just use logic. It's warming up and people are sick of lockdowns. As soon as a state eases its lockdowns, people will swarm the streets and it doesn't matter if the number of cases dropped by 20, 50 or 80%. There is still a bunch of infected fuckers that will keep spreading corona. Not to mention all those asymptomatic cases that are mostly responsible for local transmission. 5-6 days is the period of time for incubation on average and only after a week we'll see the numbers of new cases increasing. It happened to India, Singapore and Japan and I don't see why would be any different in the US or Europe. Remember what happened in China when they sent people back to work, after only a few days they had to close entire factories. And stories that Chinese economy is back is a big fat lie. Vaping industry e.g. is basically destroyed and there is barely any new products coming out and vaping industry is located in Shenzhen which has never been an epicenter.

It would take two-three years for that and the economy would be completely destroyed. Two months of Whuan style full lockdowns is a much better option. Man I'm seeing burgers not giving two fucks about the lockdowns, no wonder they are been lifted. This is a siege, you can't just wait it out.

Quick excel spreadsheet. UK & Netherlands stopped posting their recovered. I know UK was about 127 recovered a few days back, but they were still @ 98% kill rate then. Same with Netherlands. Whether they've managed to kill off those that recovered or now re-regard them as active is another story.

>This is a siege.

>You can't just wait it out.

Anon... That's exactly what you have to do in a Siege. You have to wait for a moment to break out and regroup, or you have to wait the besiegers out until they get bored or a relief column arrives.

Taking this metaphor further, the equivalent of breaking out would be to escape cities and regroup as isolated rural pockets. Self-sustaining farm/permaculture type of operations.

Waiting it out until the siege is over is ill advised, since that usually leads to capitulation or extermination. Either is to be avoided. The equivalent would be clanning up as techno-barbarians in the ruined cities for those who aren't rounded up to the camps or hives.

The numbers seem to be completely unrealistic for the UK and Netherlands to have a 100% kill rate. As interesting of a concept that may be, you have to consider how fucking absurd that high of a number is. And this isn't meant for dramatic effect, what I mean is that there is no fucking way it is at 100%. 98% is a bit more realistic but still very far into fantasy land considering the rates in other countries.

Corona chan is forcing the US' hand in their posturing and bluff game with Iran. It's giving Iran much better visibility on the US' intentions. They (as anybody else everywhere) know the US won't put it's navy in a threatening posture unless they mean it. Because doing so and having to call the ships back to port because of an outbreak is an immediate show of weakness, and leaving them there on an infested ship will cause severe political blowback once it's time to end the posturing.

>What the fuck is he doing.

A 1940's study showed mice exposed to a lethal flu strain all lived when vaped with propylene glycol vapor, while the un-vaped control mice died. In early CVG's anon's proposed vaping plain vape base fluid, 50/50 vg/pg after suspected exposure as a result of this. Then, there was a recent report that she inhabits prevotella bacteria in the gut and replicates there (hiv plays similar games hiding in the gut), this could be why people with gastric symptoms have higher death rates/worse outcomes, and people treated with antibiotics recovered better than straight anti-virals alone. Finally, quantitative exposure to the virus is believed to be why a lot of young healthy medics croak, while nanas walk out of hospitals after treatment.

These all suggest that disinfecting by chemical means, even after exposure and active infection is in place, may be effective, as shown with the antibiotics, and the smoke/hot vapor inhibiting the ability of infected cells to release virus and infect more lung-tissue. If Trump's trailering 222nm UV, he might have had the vaping/smoking thing in mind as well. IF.

Not if they were on the third or more round of infection. First round asymptomatic late November, second mid December, cough and a groggy feeling (normal in winter for a smoker eating low-quality food and living the bug-life), third round in January and this time it's toes up, meeting honorable ancestors. Researchers will probably never have accurate data from China, let alone a breakdown of smokers/non-smokers.

Coronavirus Has Exposed Just How Fragile And Corrupted Modern America Really Is

>it was met with cascading failures and incompetencies by a system that exists to prepare, protect, prevent

MY COMMENT: WRONG. That kind of system no longer exists today. It hasn't for nearly a century! The problem is the current system DOES NOT prepare for anything (we have a "Just In Time" delivery system!), DOES NOT protect from anything and DOES NOT prevent anything! All the current system does is consume tons of debt, consolidate wealth and power among themselves and wastes enormous amounts of taxpayer money. Trillions $$$ still gone missing from the Pentagon! Massive bailouts of insolvent banks and corporations (many no one even wants around anymore!) Outsourcing of industry! A generation of debt junkies with no preperation, no skills with an 'education' system that is borderline retarded where many can't distinguish between a male or a female! We still don't protect our own borders out of fear that some soyboy brainwashed retards may get upset! Who in their right mind thinks this nation is prepared for jack shit!? You better learn the meaning of prepared, and fast, because it's all coming down HARD!!!

Yale Psychiatrist Bandy Lee Predicts Trump Presidency Will End In Civil War

MY COMMENT: What will more likely end in civil war is when the government pushes too far: gun grabs, a mass seizure of property/assets and/or forced vaccinations. We can assume laws will be thrown out the window at that point and then you can start counting the shootouts and body counts from both sides.

If this starts to unfold, be prepared for grid-down scenarios (internet to be shut off for periods of time, power grid shutdowns, martial law, etc.) They may even jamb RF and GPS in certain locations to curb rebels from communicating.

Capitalism is good at a certain stage of it's development, the question is how to keep it there without it devolving into feudal tyranny of the few

No one said that chinks are not to blame, their govt was an accomplice in this, but you should have learned by now not to look at the most "obvious" culprit when it comes to the kikes. Rather, you should look into who benefits from this the most. It's certainly not the Chinese. Not that those deranged psychopaths who are behind this belong to any nation anyway. Nation-states got abolished when WW2 ended, the rest was just a transition to full blown globohomo. There is no China, and there is no United States, both are mere pawns of (((transnational))) interests. At most, its their puppet regimes trying to secure a bigger piece of the cake for themselves, but there is no real conflict, no historical conflict. Jews have killed history and arrested its development.

Likewise as huge as the economic damage is I don't think it's going to be apocalyptic mad max tier from only a couple months lockdown. Maybe if it went all year but not a couple months. If they lift quarantine now, which looks like it's happening in the next couple weeks here, most shit will still be salvageable and this whole thing will be a pay day for the kikes who've been riding the market waves as 20 million goyim lose their jobs and then get on government assistance to drag down the rest of the middle class.

Absolutely. Eugenics as a science did not originally distinguish between intents or outcomes. It is simply the manipulation of the gene stock. They see dumber cattle as a beneficial outcome. Just like Pol Pot. No tyranny wants an intelligent middle class.

It's weird actually when I first read that the smarter you are the more likely you are to die. I thought it was bullshit but the the US has a shit ton of war research and data. Higher IQ = Higher death rate in active combat roles regardless of rank.

What the researches concluded that smart people tend to solve problems, problem solving leads to people trusting you, people trusting you leads to you accepting responsibility and that responsibility leads to taking care of the people around you and putting your self at risk before them.

Keeping this in mind the world wars were probably the greatest tragedies that ever took place.

New World Order Agenda for 2025

The emergence of a novel, highly transmissible, and virulent human respiratory illness for which there are no adequate countermeasures could initiate a global pandemic. If a pandemic disease emerges by 2025, internal and cross-border tension and conflict will become more likely as nations struggle with degraded capabilities to control the movement of populations seeking to avoid infection or maintain access to resources.

>Under such a scenario, inadequate health-monitoring capability within the nation of origin probably would prevent early identification of the disease.

Slow public health response would delay the realization that a highly transmissible pathogen had emerged. Weeks might pass before definitive laboratory results could be obtained confirming the existence of a disease with pandemic potential. In the interim, clusters of the disease would begin to appear in towns and cities within Southeast Asia. Despite limits imposed on international travel, travelers with mild symptoms or who were asymptomatic could carry the disease to other continents.

>Waves of new cases would occur every few months. The absence of an effective vaccine and near universal lack of immunity would render populations vulnerable to infection. In this worstcase, tens to hundreds of millions of Americans within the US Homeland would become ill and deaths would mount into the tens of millions. Outside the US, critical infrastructure degradation and economic loss on a global scale would result as approximately a third of the worldwide population became ill and hundreds of millions died.

> approximately a third of the worldwide population became ill and hundreds of millions died.

Leftists, fuck yeah, that could easily happen. Kikes however, are more complicated, it would require a thorough deprogramming of the masses to make them stop seeing the kikes as the poor good guys who are persecuted by everyone for no reason whatsoever. The best thing to do would be to use the "boiling frog" tactic they love so much against themselves, slowly introducing measures taking their power and assets away while redpilling the population on their true nature. Then depending on the population's response to the truth, to carry out a final solution that could be either total deportation, incarceration or holocaust but actually real this time™.

Capitalism is indeed good, but it truly shows it's real potential when coupled with real nationalism and some regulations to make sure the market doesn't become more powerful than the state. Capitalism used to uplift a people from poverty and to foster their continuous growth leads to true progress, capitalism used for the sake of materialism leads to corruption and degeneration.

>They are most likely trying to "test the waters" and see how viable or feasible it is Sure they'll be testing the waters but they are opening only certain stores, social distancing is still mandatory and PPE is not provide by the local government which is a fail imo. If you run a store and your traffic drops by 50% you can't survive at that rate and most of people will keep avoiding contacts. Factories like meat plants where people work close to each other will still be closed but restaurants, salons and gyms will open?! I don't get it.

The numbers in GA look good but that's not enough. I live in Europe and my county had zero cases for 10 days. Yesterday we got 2 new cases and today 6 new cases. Nice weather brought people on the streets and the virus kept spreading. OK and AK numbers don't look good and they shouldn't be opening anything.

This is not going to end well;

Republican governors in Georgia and Oklahoma allowed salons, spas and barbershops to reopen, while Alaska opened the way for restaurants to resume dine-in service and retail shops and other businesses to open their doors, all with limitations. Some Alaska municipalities chose to maintain stricter rules

Women will never be the sharpest tools in the shed but I think that's too rough. I believe we had this conversation many /cvg/s ago, and I will repeat my point: If a nation's culture encourages women to fully embrace traditional and natural roles, there actually will be very few problems with them having certain rights, freedoms and being able to work certain professions. Women make great teachers and nurses due to their femininity, for example. Once again, a good example to look into what I'm talking about is NSDAP Germany. Women were educated about their roles and embraced them, but they still had rights, freedoms and jobs. It's gonna be hard to recreate that kind of society but I believe it would be a challenge worth taking in order to restore western civilization to it's former glory. Maybe this time things could be done differently, fewer rights and freedoms early on to ensure obedience, and an easing to 3rd Reich levels on later generations to see what happens.

Women are followers. There's no need to do that except for the most obsequious of them. Problem is currently white men are not leaders so women choose second best, i.e.: mudslimes, niggers, rich men (kikes), etc.

Make men leaders and you won't even need to create baby factories. They will naturally come about.

>Bad optics, goyim! Interesting move. Kek at Georgia opening up, next rounds will be great and the reinfections will be deadly.

Honestly, considering the alternative (mandatory tracking and vaccinations / ID2020) I'd rather just have States open up and stupid people just die off. The alternative would not end very well either because there are many of us who won't peacefully go along with mandatory vaccines. So the question is would you rather have to face zogbots with vaccines, or States re-opening and some people naturally dying from the virus (and herd immunity)? I'd much rather the second any day. But I'm armed and prepared for the first as well!

There is a logical solution: open up the States but people must wear masks in public places. No zogbots with vaccines. Less death from the virus. Everyone is happy.

Mocking those with whom one disagrees is not an argument. To persuade those who reject reason as the means of acquiring knowledge that an ethic of rational self-interest that accommodates friendship, kinship, and mutual beneficial division of labor efforts to bring about general well being for all members of the Nation (a group of people related by common ancestry and culture) comprising the Polis and Pynx, it is useful, IMHO, to discuss concept formation, criteria of definition, and then contrast the happy state of affairs the occur with capitalism versus the disaster attendant to State Ownership of the means of Capitalism works fine, but that's not what we have today, nor what you describe it to be. What you are talking about is theft (or socialism/communism) aka forced wealth re-distribution. Some taxation is ok, because we need some kind of funding for infrastructure and what not. A lot of taxation just leads to grand theft, wasteful spending and incompetent bloated spoiled greedy arrogant governments.

Capitalism in itself is all about supply and demand. It's a structure to distribute, or trade, goods and services, as well as promoting incentives to make profits. Now the problem with capitalism: easily corrupted! Often abused or exploited. Unless we crackdown against abuse and corruption, then it becomes systemic and leads to (well, today!)

Hue slum dweller with Corona-Chan's symptoms dies in a wheelbarrow in the middle of an avenue in the city of Olinda, Pernambuco. <https://archive.is/yVu0S>
<https://archive.is/6xapw> It's translation time, because this is a little interesting: On this Friday (24), a 60 YO man suspected of having corvid-19 died while waiting for help in the President Kennedy Avenue, in the neighborhood of Peixinhos, Olinda. He had been coughing, puking and feeling shortness of breath for a week, but didn't want to go to an hospital. His state worsened on Thursday and he was found collapsed on his home's floor this Friday. Someone put him in a wheelbarrow and took him to the avenue to wait for the paramedics to arrive there, but he died before help could arrive. Wew lad, died in a fuckin wheelbarrow. The video of him in it has the same energy as the ones from Guayaquil, the ride here is definitely picking up speed.

Argie woman who lived in the city of Recife for 7 years and decided to go back to her homeland due to the airborne aids epidemic almost got raped while staying at an hostel. <https://archive.is/HYXzF> A rapist broke into her hostel room and nearly had his way with her but she resisted it for long enough for the owner of the hostel to join the fight and drive the rapist away. The suspect is still at large. Don't come to Recife, this city is hell on Earth.

Hue from Manaus escapes the hospital he got taken to and intubated in after feeling shortness of breath for too long. His family is still looking for him, considered a missing person.

Curefaggotry cannot save you from divine judgement: Brownzilian doctor who self administered cloromeme just fucking dies <https://archive.is/IA8xU> TL;DR Translation: 55 YO doc with hypertension and diabeetus got blessed and tried to self administer the meme drug, his symptoms were waning when he suddenly had a cardiac arrest and died despite multiple reanimation attempts. He would have still died even if he didn't have underlying health issues, regardless of any curefaggotry he tried to use. You cannot weasel your way out of the divine judgement imposed by Corona-Chan, she will decide if a blessed one will either live or die, and if she decides a blessed one is gonna die, nothing in this world can change that.

Yes, (((they're))) hunting people in bum fuck nowhere. I have said this in recent threads but I don't mind repeating myself: Eventually, anyone who wants to live in peace and enjoy freedom will have to go hide in the woods or the mountains. Not exactly a bad thing, as long one adopts a guerrilla mindset of resisting at all costs, and not letting tyranny go unpunished. Good Idea: Trump To Cut Back On Press Briefs

MY COMMENT: Honestly we don't really care what the government has to say anymore. It was one of Trump's staff members who told us months ago that we shouldn't be worried or prepping or stocking up. They all are a bunch of liars, glad I don't take govt advice. My advice: stop the vaccine pushing too, and you might actually save more lives, it's not worth having physical conflicts over (which is what would happen if they tried forcing this shit on us).

I know that there are economic interests behind it, but it's refreshing to see how the Indian media just won't pull any punches in relation to China while most of western media waits for their governments to publicly denounce China just to be a bit more honest about them.

I know a few threads back they mentioned that the cytokine storm could be a double whammy to the re-infected. Aka, Reinfection means instant death, zero chance of survival. People at that stage probably explode in a fountain of Coronachan-AIDS blood. And then come the blood zombies.

I think the WHO is feeling the pressure from all sides now, which is a good thing. That's why I like to read reports from all kinds of media outlets to get a perspective on things (whether liberal/conservative/mainstream media/alternative media/kooks and medical faggots, all of them). This is how you address real problems and can make the best decisions and conclusions.

I think easing lockdowns is fine, as long as there are certain requirements like having to wear masks or respirators when out in public and demanding companies provide proper sanitation for employees. As long as we put in some common sense rules, I think it should be fine. Yes, corona will still be around but we can mitigate a lot of damage (viral and economic damages).

This is the kind of governance we really need, common sense reforms, not nefarious corrupt insider lobbying bullshit like ID 2020 or pushing malaria drugs. Also, the government has yet to openly admit that boosting the immune system is important too: Vitamin C & D helps, so does Zinc supplements! If they were more honest and logical, I think they'd be surprised how fast they would be supported in their efforts (maybe not by controlled kike media, but in the eyes of ordinary people).

Rapist released from prison due to the airborne aids pandemic shocks the world by raping and killing again instead of staying home. Experts around the world are absolutely perplexed by this unexpected series of events, a rapist in the Brownzilian state of Minas Gerais was released from prison due to the pandemic then raped and killed a woman. On a more serious note, what the fuck did they expect? I'm just glad the victim isn't white.

I have a Russkie buddy who is my window into the mind of the Russian public. The Russians do very much know whats going on in the world, it's not like Best Korea. But the (((official))) Russian media is doing massive damage control and cover up on Corona, telling the general public that Coronachan isn't that bad in Russia because their glorious leaders acted quickly and decisively to prevent a disaster like what's going on in most of the rest of the world. However the same media outlets are also highly downplaying a large spike in "pneumonia-related" deaths in Russia right now. As far as what % of Russians believe the mainstream narrative and how many are suspicious, that I don't know. But the Rus are aware of what's going on, but their establishment is trying to tell them that they are ok and don't worry seems to be the official line, while downplaying evidence to the contrary.

Russians are aware, and have a better nose for digging for propaganda than Americans will ever have. People on the ground are taking this seriously, but apathetic for the time being. Numbers outside of Moscow are creeping up, with first deaths reported in the regional Oblasts and Republics. The good news is, Russians have had their more than fair share of crises, and have a much better siege mentality than western peoples. The bad news is that esp. the oil crisis will hit them hard. The governments economic plans for next year count on an oil price of US$35, but their Ural oil price, pegged to Brent, is now below US$12. Russia is still very much dependent on oil and gas, thirty years after the Soviet Union.

It's good but at the same time it means all governments are against their peoples. We are being turned into slaves. Globalism is to blame, they promised us to bring freedom through trade to the dark corners of the world, but instead they saw it was more profitable to bring our jobs there instead, and import totalitarianism. Jew companies like Google, Amazon and Facebook were ready to provide arm's length cover for feeble governments who didn't have the balls to implement such measures themselves.

>Most will not survive: Studies suggest more than two-thirds die while on ventilators.

>Some people never fully recover, says Michael Rodricks, medical director of Somerset's intensive-care unit. And those who do often must relearn basic skills such as walking, talking and swallowing.

>The cheers were also because many of the patients with whom she shared the ICU eventually were rolled out in body bags.

>The machines also can cause cognitive impairment, Rodricks says. A patient who worked as an accountant may have a tough time going back to work. An elderly person who was previously independent might struggle to perform daily tasks such as driving or grocery shopping. And a runner might never be able to hit the same pace again.

They would have likely wasted their money on that so-called 'education' anyway. Why parents endorse those commie indoctrination centers is beyond me. Especially conservative parents. They never seem to realize that all the SJW commies were programmed and psychologically abused in those state-run lefty brainwashing dorm camps. Those warped minds were once normal wonderful children.... think about that.

If I had kids today, never, never would I spend one cent on their college. I'd send them off to trade school, or they'd have to learn a living themselves if they wanted to be brainwashed like that.

European media is in silence about China and their schemes. It's mostly at the moment people on social media bashing them hard. Can understand the response though, a policy maker pointing fingers at China won't do much good for their situation in their own country. Especially since a lot of countries got fucked hard through globalism and made themselves depended on chinks. So much for their muh economy muh migrants help economy while that shitty economy has crumbled to dust and the population is a lot worse off right now than 2008.

The main priority for the EU is always business. We all know that Chinese fucked up but there isn't much we can do about it. The EU still does business with Iran, Russian, China etc. and it won't kick them to the curb just because uncle Sam says so. Even if the shit hits the fan I think that Americans can forget about the EU as allies who will fight against Russia or China along with them. Europeans like Americans but not that much. Russia alone can easily paralyze the EU with a single ICBM and Europeans know that.

Coronian Thought for this morning: Persevere in the face of great tribulations and enemies shall retreat in awe.

The CNS apologizes for the hiatus since our last update, emergency prayers and rituals had to be performed to ward off enemies from beyond. But rejoice, we bring you dear readers some great news in this rainy Sunday morning that marks the seventh day of the Coronian Vigil:

BREAKING NEWS: The first Britbong Corona-(((vaccine))) has volunteer died!

<https://archive.is/vpfUA> HAIL COROBELLA-SAMA! I salute the volunteer's bravery, but she never had a chance, Corona-Chan is invincible! In other news:

Berlin zogbots arresting anti lockdown protesters again

Young and middle aged blessed ones with minor symptoms are suddenly dying from strokes <https://archive.is/jA8HE> Sooner or later, Corobella-Sama issues her verdict.

300% BASED: Nurses in Austin protesting against "TikTok nurses" and (((vaccines)))

<https://archive.vn/FkMFu>

Coronian Radio recommendation for this morning: Just Communication by Two Mix

<https://www.invidio.us/watch?v=XP53fuRV5co> Notable lyrics: "While being pounded by rain, I want to express this unfading passion, with my entire body, tonight!"

"I want to protect that look in your eyes. Believe in the love that can change sadness to strength." "Don't be afraid of anything. Because no one's going to take away our shared feelings of now." "I want to spend the night nestled close to you until the faraway dawn." "Through kisses, more than words, we feel each other's heartbeats, drawing passion near; momentary, yet eternal." "I want to gaze at you, painfully, intensely. You're so precious to me it almost brings me to tears." "Don't surrender anything, because when you have someone who understands you, you can fight on."

>Even a video of "her" in her own home would be sketchy considering how advanced deep fake technology has gotten.

Remember, there are programs out there that exist for detecting deepfakes. Those could be used once the footage comes out, since I highly doubt they will have put in the effort to fine-tune it enough to be undetectable.

I'm getting some attention where vibes off her tbh. Maybe all microbiologists have their own websites, but I don't see a point.

<https://archive.vn/XeZXx>

<https://elisagranato.com/>

What really gives me that feeling though is her statement here

>She told the BBC: 'Since I don't study viruses, I felt a bit useless these days, so I felt like this is a very easy way for me to support the cause.'

<https://archive.vn/a3BXH>

<https://metro.co.uk/2020/04/23/first-two-volunteers-injected-oxfords-coronavirus-vaccine-12602093/>

>Me Me Me

Now I expect as much from a woman. Why then would she make her twitter private though, especially when she's trying to prove she isn't dead? Seems odd to me. I wouldn't be shocked if this turns out to be a cover-up.

Pharmakikes have a lot at stake here. If a vaccine doesn't work, that's one thing. A death? Now you've got a much harder sell for your next trial. Not to mention the public won't be eager to get stuck either, no matter how successful a vaccine might be.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull faggot. People need to be able to blow off some steam every once in while to keep morale up. Austinites are fucking leftist scumbags anyway. It's like a little Californian shithole in the heart of Texas. If Austin got nuked, the rest of Texas would celebrate.

Climate change is jewish-tax-mongering-bullshit. Grand solar minimum is the new reality.

However, China will probably start the uppity threatening talk soon, potentially waging micro-wars on US assets. Why? What else can the leadership do when you're local production industry is wiped out, commie despots have to go to war to silence the internal strife and food shortage. Can probably expect Chingchongs to go nuclear launching soon after.

Things to watch out for? If chingos start getting really short and terse with everyone in the political spectrum.

Nuclear war 2020 isn't off the cards.

I think you have it backwards. It's not unreasonable that due to an economic depression, recession, collapse, isolate-in-place order, whatever- the politicals will be facing ever increasing unrest. Hawkish posturing may very well (and right now seems) is increasing, becoming more bellicose towards China. Or maybe you have it right and it's going to be a pattern seen in both nation states. Bottom line, in a debt-based economic system, war is the last resort to balance the books, by killing the creditor. But is it necessary? I think an all-out war between nuclear-equipped militaries is.. counter-productive.

If there is no economic activity it makes it much harder to chisel. Ending the shutdown is a way to remove government protections for small business and workers but a boon for insurance companies. ie if I can't operate or work due to government ban I can collect insurance for that but if government says it is okay to work I cannot collect insurance and must open and pay rent or sell off assets. some restaurant equipment will sell for cheap in GA in two weeks.

Shutdowns will strangle the cash flow to israel.

shutdown give people more time to learn about being exploited as cattle and the USS liberty.

>SARS-Cov-2 RNA Found on Particulate Matter of Bergamo in Northern Italy: First Preliminary Evidence

<https://archive.is/CCTCR>

>Here, we present the first results of the analyses that we have performed on 34

PM10 samples of outdoor/airborne PM10 from an industrial site of Bergamo Province, collected with two different air samplers over a continuous 3-weeks period, from February 21st to March 13th. We can confirm to have reasonably demonstrated the presence of SARS-CoV-2 viral RNA by detecting highly specific RtDR gene on 8 filters in two parallel PCR analyses. This is the first preliminary evidence that SARS-CoV-2 RNA can be present on outdoor particulate matter, thus suggesting that, in conditions of atmospheric stability and high concentrations of PM, SARS-CoV-2 could create clusters with outdoor PM and, by reducing their diffusion coefficient, enhance the persistence of the virus in the atmosphere.

Europas biggest producer of oil is Norway. If they decide to attack the market in Europe, Norway would be hit the hardest. Norway puts their profits into a public fund. Or perhaps a fund for the public is a better translation (- some nuance might be lost because of translation). Their position and that fund will be jeopardised because of this as well. And the money will literally evaporate in the hands of the Norwegians themselves; as its either rendered worthless or moved to the hands of rodents.

Someone tell me im wrong please. I already heard stories of flooding the European markets. Even though they are at capacity. But when golems see discounts, they forego rationality.

The Coronian State Of Mind welcomes you to /cvg/ 53

Coronian Thoughts for this thread

>Just like diamonds are formed by intense pressures, a cultist can only spiritually evolve after going through many adversities.

>Proving how devoted and determined you are in the face of such tribulations is an act of worship.

>Rise above the obstacles on your path and push through the enemy lines, never wavering and never fearing the future.

Prayer for this thread: Gifting of Coronian Hope

Corobella-Sama, glorious Goddess of Purification, I have no doubt in you and your mission, for I am your faithful servant.

But there are still many others who thread this holy cybernetic ground who believe they have been forsaken.

It is for them, my Goddess, that I make this prayer. Give those of little faith and those in despair a divine sign.

Present them an omen, like you have shown so many signs.
Uplift those poor souls from that same quagmire of desolation, depression and forlornness that you have pulled me from.
Gift them with hope for an uncertain future and with faith in the upcoming triumph of justice.

Make them believe in the rebirth of civilization and in the next golden age.
Convince them to prepare for the crisis and train for the conflicts that lie ahead.

Take the most sincere emotions and pure energies that I have imbued in this prayer and deliver it to them.

May eternal glory be yours and may your name be fondly remembered as the catalyst for collapse of the order of our enemies

Engage not the unbelievers, the blasphemers, the shills, the profaners, the nothingburgerfags and the hoaxniggers, for they have already been defeated in spiritual warfare and are inevitably cursed to painful deaths. Continue preparing for the collapse and networking with like-minded individuals, form your local militias and remain on the lookout for a good opportunity to take action. Stay safe, stay healthy and enjoy the thread, Corona-Chan and her cult loves you!

Cross-posting from the 'China bans its gamers from connecting with foreigners through vidya' thread on /v/, here's an interesting pic about why the bugmen are bugmen. Reminds me a little bit of the Chrysanthemum and the Sword, except much less flattering.

If there was any doubt you anons had about the bugs not being the cause of corona either through incompetence or malfeasance, let them be erased.

Cucks gonna cuck. Protecting and/supporting women is a mistake, even if the zogbot is acting on the deformed kikes' orders.

As long as there are cucks who will attack a man in order to protect a talking meat, there will be jews and leftists exploiting them and society as a whole.

Nationalism is not 'bad' unless it is not race based. There is no reason at all to feel any sort of 'nationalism' for the niggers and shitskins that invaded the USA. They are not our nation. They are not our people. They are not our kind. They are, however, and he has made this abundantly clear, Trumps 'kind'. So who does that make Trump to someone like me? It makes him 'not my people'. He must be shunned and all that he thinks of as 'his people' need to be shunned with him. Steve Bannon suggests Chinese scientist has secret coronavirus information

<https://www.taiwannews.com.tw/en/news/3922937>

TAIPEI (Taiwan News) – Former White House Chief Strategist Steve Bannon recently revealed on his podcast that a senior researcher from the Wuhan pathogen level 4 (P4) laboratory has fled China, indicating the man's name would be revealed in a few days as well as information he possessed about the Wuhan coronavirus (COVID-19).

In an unverified claim, Bannon said during his show, "War Situation Room," on Friday (April 24), that there would be an important witness who may disclose some information regarding the P4 laboratory at the Wuhan Institute of Virology in Wuhan, China.

He stated that although not many people hold the view, there have been long-standing claims about the virus leaking from the Wuhan laboratory. He went on to say that many people would be very interested once the relevant researcher came out and announced his secrets.

Many countries in the world have suffered huge losses due to the coronavirus. Some have even accused the Chinese Communist Party (CCP) of concealing the severity of the virus and delaying epidemic prevention measures, resulting in a global pandemic. On Wednesday, U.S. Secretary of State Mike Pompeo also mentioned the issue of accountability at a press conference, saying that the CCP concealed information regarding human-to-human transmission of the coronavirus and destroyed precious virus samples.
Various countries have been investigating the source of the virus, with some experts hypothesizing that the virus is a synthetic creation of the Wuhan P4 laboratory. However, there is no evidence as of yet that supports this theory.

Just so you know: Lebanon is a service economy based on sucking the dick of traveling Saudis. It's an economy based on prostitution, tourism, weapon & drug smuggling, and corruption. This is a reckoning that should have happened a year ago at least.

Travel shutting down and Saudi money drying up means the bubble was finally popped and the central bank charade ends

>Trying to march through the institutions is impossible because the very accreditation boards that run those institutions' approval process is controlled by kikes and kike-a-likes.

Nonsense. This falsely assumes that kike power is absolute or intensely coordinated. It is not, and it is in fact far more vulnerable than you seem to think.

By your logic, kikes couldn't have penetrated America back when it was an explicit white nation. But they did, and so will we.

>You can't become ANY kind of white collar professional without bowing to the Jew.

But you can be explicitly white nationalist in the white collar sphere if you play your cards right. You can certainly name the pedophiles now, which is a major improvement over the time when everybody just dismissed "Satanic Panic" as nonsense.

Kikes didn't win in a day, and it will take time and gradual moulding of culture to regain control of our people's destiny.

I hope that 'list of preparedness includes the willingness and ability to kill a lot of people in your defense. It was all for not without that. Things are going to get pretty bad for our people. The only 'good' part of this whole thing is that when Europeans are 'not working to support the rest of the entire planet' the rest of the planet is going to starve. Hard to say, anon. I'm in WA and our lockdown's been extended to 5/4, and if they punt it again it'll happen this week. Lots of governors are probably starting to realize their economies are being crashed with no survivors and that keeping things closed fucks them one hand, but on the other they don't want to catch heat for someone's grandparents dying because they lifted the ban too soon.

Joke's on them though, because anything before a vaccine not that one is likely is an implicit 18mo window. They're fucked either way.

An attempt at returning to normality is inevitable, it's up to the governments and the people to be responsible about it. Remember: Wear masks that actually work, use your common sense and avoid large gatherings such as public events and don't let strangers into your home. Reminder that the best course of action is still to grab SKS and go innawoods, so consider bugging out to a safe location in the countryside if you can do that. Become self sufficient and bring some reliable friends and family with you, it's time to go off-grid while you still can!

90% of intubated patients are dying. It's damaging their lungs. Treatment is worse than the disease.

As for why doctors are doing this: they're following the schedule and dare not deviate because thinking for yourself is the pathway to lawsuits. Decisions on what treatment cures patients is way above their pay grade.

Coronian Thought for this morning: The light of your soul shall guide you through darkness, and it's warmth shall keep you safe from the spiritual frostbite that is apathy. Allow that light to shine brightly, and you will never lose your way.

The CNS is proud to resume it's operations on this beautiful and misty Monday morning that marks the eight and final day of the Coronian Vigil. What a wonderful week of worship this has been! No one or anything can take your joy and your love for Corona-Chan from your soul, fellow cultists, always remember that. The words of the enemies are meaningless, for they are the words of dead men. The one above will certainly die, for he decided to attack this holy cybernetic ground during our daily enemy cursing session! He couldn't have picked a worst time to do this, poor thing. Rest In Piss, unlucky unbelieving blasphemer, your timing was horrible.

It's not fake, it's a bioweapon, the problem is the cure is actually much worse than the disease itself. Think about it this way, all the government and their lapdog propagandists care about is injecting you with tainted vaccines, mandating contaminated tests, enforcing a giant police state and taking over every aspect of the economy including food distribution (as communists typically do!) and calling us all terrorists if we won't go along with their bullshit! I don't know, but some of those look legit (but often based on very limited data, or rare cases), some look like misunderstandings of legit data, and some are just far-fetched assumptions.

Speaking of the HIV-insertion, the guy who discovered the HIV virus said they may make the genome unstable, and that all the mutations we see may be a result of natural selection processes trying to get rid of them. Therefore we should pray that these processes fail every time and that the insertions last forever.

Lol. What we need is another 'linux revolution' right about now, if people en masse refuse the trojan horses that governments (and people like Gates) are trying to push on us, there is likely no way they can enforce it. We just need to keep our immune systems as healthy as we can and wait this whole thing out for a while, not everyone dies from this, you can develop antibodies from what I hear while fighting it off.

Of course, since the "smart-" prefix is just a marketing term for having tracking built into it.

>smart-phone

>smart-city

>smart-thermostat

>smart-grid

>smart-clothing

>smart-fridge

>smart-assistant ie. Alexa >smart-headphones with inbuilt GPS in case you forgot which country your headphones were in >smart-oven

>smart-key

>smart-city

>smart-board

>smart-doorbell

>smart-plug Connects to Alexa so that you could flick a switch >smart-lightbulb

>smart-sprinkler

>smart-pressure-cooker

A smart-fridge is a product that is not that incredibly different from any other fridge. It doesn't have special insulation or algorithms for ideal operation, what makes it a smart-fridge is the fact that it is connected to the internet.

Smart-clothing is considered smart because it has electronics built into it, with some of it having the functionality of processing electronic payment integrated and all of it having GPS tracking built into it. And a lot of the technology, if it doesn't have a direct connection to the internet, will instead have Bluetooth functionality to connect to another device that does. The only smart-technology that I am aware of that doesn't track you is smart-glass, which is generally only used in office buildings.

Can Estrogen and Other Sex Hormones Help Men Survive Covid-19?

Men are more likely than women to die of the coronavirus, so scientists are treating them with something women have more of: female sex hormones.

As the novel coronavirus swept through communities around the world, preying disproportionately on the poor and the vulnerable, one disadvantaged group has demonstrated a remarkable resistance. Women, whether from China, Italy or the U.S., have been less likely to become acutely ill – and far more likely to survive.

Which has made doctors wonder: Could hormones produced in greater quantities by women be at work?

Now scientists on two coasts, acting quickly on their hunches in an effort to save men's lives, are testing the hypothesis. The two clinical trials will each dose men with the sex hormones for limited durations.

Last week, doctors on Long Island in New York started treating Covid-19 patients with estrogen in an effort to increase their immune systems, and next week, physicians in Los Angeles will start treating male patients with another hormone that is predominantly found in women, progesterone, which has anti-inflammatory properties and can potentially prevent harmful overreactions of the immune system.

"There's a striking difference between the number of men and women in the intensive care unit, and men are clearly doing worse," said Dr. Sara Ghandehari, a pulmonologist and intensive care physician at Cedars-Sinai in Los Angeles who is the principal investigator for the progesterone study. She said 75 percent of the hospital's intensive care patients and those on ventilators are men. Scientists who study sex differences say that both biological differences in immunity, as well as behavioral factors are at play. Men smoke more almost everywhere, they say; men also wash their hands less. While women appear to have more robust immune systems, these experts say, the causes are complex and multifactorial, and hormones are only part of the picture.

...If such sex hormones were the primary protective factor for women, then elderly women with Covid-19 would fare as poorly as elderly men, because women's reproductive hormones plummet after menopause, said Sabra Klein, a scientist who studies sex differences in viral infections and vaccination responses at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health.

But that's not the case, she said.

"We see this bias across the life course," Dr. Klein said. "Older men are still disproportionately affected, and that suggests to me it's got to be something genetic, or something else, that's not just hormonal."

"Estrogen has immune modulatory properties – don't get me wrong," she continued.

"You could get a beneficial effect in both men and women. But if women are better at recovery at 93 years old, I doubt it's hormones."

The trial is open to adult men as well as to women aged 55 and older, since they have low levels of estrogen. Half of the participants will be given an estradiol patch for one week, while the other half will serve as a control group, and researchers will follow them to see whether estrogen reduces the severity of their disease.

The Cedars-Sinai study is smaller, with only 40 subjects, all men, half of whom will be a control group. Only hospital inpatients with mild to moderate disease who have tested positive for Covid-19 can participate. (Patients with certain conditions, like a history of blood clots, are excluded for safety reasons.)

The patients will get two shots of progesterone a day for five days.

They will be monitored to see if their status is improving, how their needs for oxygen change and whether they go on to require intensive care or mechanical ventilation; their progress will be compared to patients in the control group.

The researchers in Los Angeles are pinning their hopes on progesterone rather than estrogen because research has shown that the hormone reduces pro-inflammatory immune cells, and supports those that fight inflammation, Dr.

Ghandehari said. The hypothesis is that progesterone will prevent or dampen a harmful overreaction of the immune system, called a cytokine storm, and will reduce the likelihood of acute respiratory distress syndrome.

Both hormones are believed to be safe, especially when used for short durations.

Participants will be warned of possible side effects that may be a first for many men, like tenderness in the breast and hot flashes.

Progesterone seems to not have any sexual/physical effect on men as the hormone is for lactation and the womb which men don't have.

I think the best way to get progesterone in the cheap is through Fenugreek seeds. Don't know the dosage though and I'm not a doctor.

No, hospitals around the world are faking recoveries and releasing blessed people way too early just to meet recovery quotas and to free up hospital beds. Those fake survivors end up dying in their homes or quarantine hotels. But there are definitely real survivors, they are just a small fraction of the number of recoveries. These guys are the ones who just go back to living like nothing happened, they can do that because they are the cream of the crop.

>What do you mean recovery quota? Is it like the way some hospitals label on Corona deaths as Corona deaths so they can claim more money later?

Yes. It's not too crazy to assume most hospitals in the word are monitored by their government on how many infected they can "recover", thus the incentive to inflate that number, alongside with the bonus benefit of freeing up hospital to patients who are in more serious situation. It doesn't even have to be a monetary incentive, it can be be a political incentive or the threat of a punishment, in the case of more authoritarian countries (not that authoritarianism itself is a bad thing, depends on how it's used)

I understand your sentiments, that wouldn't have happened to him if the country din't allow itself to be disarmed and be put at the mercy of criminals. Giving away that kind of freedom for money, free propane tanks, free TVs and free toys was the most stupid thing that anyone could have done.

>At the risk of sounding like a curefag, I really do think it helped relieve the major symptoms of Corona-Chan according to what my father told me a day or two after he took it.

You're forgiven, I sense great goodness from your posts. The truth is that it acts as a placebo for real survivors, strengthening the belief that they will survive. Your father and other cases of successful cloromeme treatment would survive without it, it would just take a little longer for the recovery to take place. All real survivors are already equipped with everything they need fend off the infection and heal themselves, a placebo only accelerates that recovery. Administering the same treatment to someone unworthy will only either briefly delay their judgement or bring it about even sooner due to side effects.

I could give you the usual speel about real estate about development, providing people with options for housing before buying (have to move to move to a place for work for 6 months, have to buy a house for 6 months then sell it again), blah, blah, blah.

I disagree with current rent legislation. Rent should be no higher than 70% of what a mortgage payment on the property is going down by 5% for long term renters. Current rental market is fucked and immoral.

Anon, you need to keep in mind that modern real estate is basically usury.

You're not 'renting to own', you're just paying a large tax on a living space where said tax is subject to some local or state laws, but can be mostly arbitrary. Is a 500sqft apartment in SF really worth $3000 per month? Probably not, but remember the old quote: "Everything is worth what its purchaser will pay."

Corona-chan is raping the rental market to death though, and we're going to see in about a week whether those 'rent protests' are amounting to anything or if it's just a bunch of liberal arts students with crippling debt and fucked pre-corona financials sperging out or if it has legs.

Yes but it's gonna be a holocaust in general, the chinks and the Iranians aren't the only ones who will get fucked up in the wars that are coming. Before being aware of Mother Shipton's prophecy, I thought these pre-dystopia wars would be more or less contained to Asia and the Middle East, except the one with the chinks and the SCO of course, that one will be a big one. But according to her prophecy, the wars are going to get a lot bigger than that, with "christian fighting christian", which could mean a NATO vs RUS war, wars in Europe again or wars in South America. It's gonna get pretty wild, WW3 tier. I'm still surprised at the realization that my intuition was sensing her predictions coming to pass, despite being unaware of them.

Honestly, if WWIII breaks out I don't think America could survive it. Not only would we be now fighting China & Russia, but we'd see some European nations flipping against us as well. Not only that, America is nearly in a civil war already (it just hasn't gone hot yet). If WWII blows up, and there is any stupid move made by either dividing ideological side within our country, it would stir a civil war and mass defection movement as well... imagine any government trying to fight two massive nuclear-armed nations during a civil war on their hands. The only fighting chance we'd have to claim "victory" would be to release all the bioweapons out of the labs - all at once - and start dispersing them everywhere until the entire globe was uninhabitable and every nation collapsed. It would be FUBAR MAD.

It all seems extreme, considering Corona-chan is taking the world economy down in flames. Said another way, I feel like a global reset could've been accomplished through other means. Maybe 'hackers' taking down power grids and whatever since everyone's infrastructure is so old and shit? Localized bioterrorism with fast-acting agents? Something other than a pervasive, incurable, easily transmissible virus that is not only taking the economy but also causing civil unrest flashpoints everywhere.

I bias toward Hanlon's Razor here and just assume someone fucked up bad and that the usual suspects are scurrying around trying to profit from things but without some grand design.

This will torpedo faith and trust in far more than the economy, governments will probably fall as a result of this thing, which means if they did plan any of this, they shot themselves in the foot.

>Decide they must preempt economic collapse with a legitimate reason that the collapse occurred, not simply debt and corruption

The parts of the economy that matter, as people are finding out, revolve around making things, and thanks to this there will be a drive to bring back domestic production.

>The virus kills relatively few

When all is said and done, coronachan is going to have quite the body count under her belt.

>The economic downturn is fully explained by an exogenous "cause", and the economy recruits everyone to work toward a new era.

towards what end? our elites can direct policies as they wish without a pandemic, they aren't getting any more power out of this than they had before. If they wanted to shift away from china they always had the ability to do so. It wasn't until china fucked them that they want out (and to try to stir up shit with them). But now they are constrained by the realities imposed by the virus: foreign cheap labor ala the cruise industry and the meat packing plants are just hotzones waiting to happen, and overseas factories are better known as nationalized factories.

The real objective is not to do a global reset but accomplish their goal of implementing an one world government. To do that, (((they))) need to have a big excuse to warrant the complete takeover of entire states. A pandemic followed by a world war would be that excuse. Don't panic though, justice wins in the end. They will pay for their crimes, they won't survive what's coming because that is completely out of their control.

Government of the Brownzilian state of Pernambuco says they estimate the actual number of infections to be 7 times higher than the official number <https://archive.vn/Yohpj> They're also expecting the peak to be in May. Remember, the actual number of cases is always 25 to 50 times higher. Our ZOG must be in a world of hurt if they're having their hands forced by Corona-Chan to the point of saying something like that, even if they're downplaying the estimated numbers. >I find it to be unpreparedness from the government to put us in the front line, where everyone needs our services, and we are coerced into not saying anything. Our director is the first one to say that we can't say anything. It's calumny, untrue to say that we have equipment, we don't have equipment. Where are the hand sanitizers donated by companies? Doesn't show up. An inspection of those worker's homes has to be done.

>Unfortunately, the health (care system) is collapsing, it's scrapped, we don't have servicing conditions, the 40% bonus to who works in the ICU has been taken away from us, that's not fair, we're constantly with those cases.

<http://archive.md/bzemmm>

If another 2.5 gorillion are infected, usually burger number expectation/leaks are good - last time it was 10k cases when they were not at 1k. So this is going to double Corona-Chan count in the next month in Jew york alone.. wew. Next part is the deaths as they come through, they can't keep hiding/attributing them to other causes as it's too obvious in the death records. Unless they plan to make a shitload of new democratic voters...

What the fug! This past few months my grammar and spelling plus my discipline to edit for typos has gone off the deep end. I meant to write that I won't listen to the clip, because I already listened to the show last night and sick of the noise.

>I actually liked these doctors since they said everyone staying inside will fuck with the immunological system, but this is what bothers me

>>You don't talk about one thing, you talk about comorbidities.

You made me think of a good point. When every body is talking about

"comorbidities", they presume the case exists in an isolated manner, as if the person himself is solely responsible for a comorbidity (which can be true) or it's by accident that a person has a negative condition that gives greater risks to succumbing to Corona. What many people don't seem to realize is that our societies' extreme lack of holistic thinking and unconcern for long-term health is one of the primary influences on the high co-morbidity rates. And sadly very few have been discussing how this larger environment catalyzes the prevalence of pre-conditions and chronic issues. A commie, "devil may care", "everything is food", stupidly traditional medical society produces the same kind of toxic, disease riddled environment that a workaholic, "everybody for themselves", fast food hungry society produces and that Corona-chan loves.

A recent study suggested that the high diversity of symptoms are caused by how /ourgirl/ interacts with genetics. If you add in the epigenome, which is how the genome reacts to environmental changes, you could see how sick societies have produced sicker genetics ripe and vulnerable for Corona-chan.

Link: <https://archive.is/vrUD9>

Mind you, I cannot vouch for the study yet. I can't even read the abstract because archive .is wants to shill the Cloudfag / Jewgle Captcha shit so much.

Even without this one study being fact, I still believe my point remains true.

>Self-reported symptoms of covid-19 including symptoms most predictive of SARS-CoV-2 infection, are heritable >Susceptibility to infection such as SARS-CoV-2 may be influenced by host genotype. TwinsUK volunteers (n=2633) completing the C-19 Covid symptom tracker app allowed classical twin studies of covid-19 symptoms including predicted covid-19, a symptom-based algorithm predicting true infection derived in app users tested for SARS-CoV-2. We found heritability for fever = 41 (95% confidence intervals 12-70%); anosmia 47 (27-67%); delirium 49 (24-75%); and predicted covid-19 gave heritability = 50 (29-70%).

I wonder if the 'auto-regeneration' of cells is the real reason why old people die faster than the youngest. BUT, young people will eventually stop cellular auto-regeneration when the virus keeps eating through them. Like fast pouring water into a holed bucket that keeps getting more holed.

Mass kid deaths quite possibly means there is no cure, no immunity.

One can't lessen it in a country if true, you have to completely eradicate it.

Correct! People are just getting fed up of staying inside, watching their jobs and livelihoods destroyed (all over the desperation of pushing some stupid nano-chipped vaccine!), and they're ignoring the lockdowns and going out regardless. Even I ignore lockdowns in my area, although I am smart enough to wear a respirator and gloves when I go out (unless it's on rural private property where I have taken up some landscaping work)! It's funny, because I'm warning others out here about this massive power grab and they all seem to agree, 'another 9-11 event' is the consensus around here. People are overall weary of what is taking place and don't trust politicians or government.

The Virus is a fucking meme, you idiot. No one's dying; people in critical condition are dying from their illnesses as they did every fucking day before this "pandemic", the only difference now is those deaths are being reclassified as covid deaths. The test for covid doesn't even test for a virus, it tests for an rna sequence present in virtually every human being. Patients in critical condition take the test, test positive, die, and their death is said to be from covid19.

You need to learn something: there is a nefarious agenda by very rich people who are profiting off this whole thing, they're behind Big Tech and Big Pharma $$$.

Billionaires getting richer, average people getting laid off and depending on free gibs! Their objective is beyond that of forced nano-chipped vaccines or expanding a police state. It's about crashing the whole economy and making people dependent slaves in this Jew World Order. They were the ones helping China fund their bioweapon lab for Christ's sake!! The US govt knew about it before hand, and did nothing! Now they are targeting doctors trying to cure this bioweapon naturally! And pushing contaminated test kits on us too! Wake the hell up! This whole thing was planned, with Fauci and Gates directly behind it (including the Rockefeller Foundation)!

All of this was cause by capitalism system. everything blame about . the rich . the big company . the government etc. it's all happen because capitalism system mechanic itself . it's not about the race of jew.

when will you learn from the past ? back in WW2 the gap of incomes are super wide and it cause the great depression. the economic was fucked and nazi was born. it's ALL THE SAME SHIT ALL OVER AGAIN.

it's ww2 -cold wars that fix the gap of incomes and capitalism self destruction cycle.

Well it's the (((central bankers))) who have created all these problems in the past, including in Germany which is why Hitler became so popular when he wanted to dissolve them (and establish National Socialism)! However, they kept that out of the history books! Same with the USSR collapsing too, (((central bankers))) creating a totally fraudulent debt insolvent economy that could no longer be propped up. So, as you say, the same kind of shit is happening. Isn't it ironic how all these nations in the past have fallen under Rothschild central banking control? People like Ron Paul were right, we need to audit and get rid of the Federal Reserve!

I wouldn't doubt that Icke would have said that but I am definitely calling bullshit on what you have just regurgitated. When people talk about testing for an RNA sequence, what they are referring to is a nucleotide test, since that is what one would look at. Given the fact that the tests from China have a fuckhuge amount of false positives and false negatives, that is something that is worth looking into. So whoever you unironically took seriously after he told you this information was clinically retarded.

What we should be doing is calling for massive reforms, abolishing these central banks (which rob nations and consolidate wealth and power into the hands of their cronies) and declare a global debt jubilee. And jail these assholes for sedition, treason and financial terrorism! I know it's wishful thinking, but if we were to do this we could go back to a solvent fair barter and trade system, with a currency that is backed by something of real value. We can't have that under the current system though.

>the only thing is fair is communism

Nothing really works as long as the central banking cartel rules over the monetary system, they can exploit every kind of financial system and have for centuries. We need to do away with the concept of centralized control because that's where the big corruption takes place, always.

>even you bring back the gold standard. the problem is the same. it was used before WW2 and it failed

Yes, under Bretton Woods agreement of 1944 we did back the US dollar by a gold standard but it was abolished back in 1971 under Nixon. Gold standards really only help nations that have a lot of gold in their reserves, so not every nation can afford gold standards. But you can back a currency by other means too (silver, oil or other energy supplies, commodities like lithium which are widely used around the globe).

>AI

That won't exactly help those who need some income to make a living though, so we need some kind of human activity. Plus, even robots rely on human engineering, programing, maintenance and resources of power (which must be extracted and processed).

Well you are using the term "Neo Communism" and saying it is the answer, but how is it the answer if you have not declared or defined it? You need rules or definitions, in the western world we associate "Neo Communism" with marxist, social justice themed politics which are extremely racist and hostile to white people and western nations. If you are saying something different you need to define the term. And I do not think you can rely upon AI because it will always depend on how the programmer, or some alien computer brain, will decide to interpret checks balances, etc. It will have its own bias no matter what, computers are not impartial, they have been programmed by human beings to interpret data a certain way. Look at how the Tay AI backfired when implemented.

>I know why you think the A.I. have been programmed by human. but that is not mean it can not be better than us.

Any attempt to create something better than a human is basically an attempt by humans to create a God or deity. It will inevitably fail because man is imperfect and will never be able to create a perfect construct. Human fallibility is impossible to overcome, and any attempt to create and then enshrine something that you yourself created is akin to a religion in which you are worshiping something you yourself have created. You have to believe yourself perfect or so great you are capable of creating something perfect in order to believe this folly. There is a great amount of ego and hubris necessary to believe humanity can create an AI to lord over us as some kind of "savior machine" that will solve all of our problems and save us from ourselves.

You can still get it wearing a mask, correct, but one other purpose is reducing exposure to the virus as well. Even if you wear a shitty mask, it reduces the viral load you come into contact with. Not saying you still won't be affected but less damage will be done if you have a healthy immune system. Remember: the kikes in Big Pharma, govt and media will lie all day long or refuse to address this but the immune system is very important in the effort to combat this (or any other) virus. Man made or not. Take lots of Vitamin C, Vitamin D, zinc supplement, curcumin and a natural anti-viral (like Chaga mushroom) and your immune system should be healthy enough to fight it off, provided your diet is healthy as well. Keep hydrated too, garlic and ginger are both good for the immune system as well as a natural expectorant.

All we really need to do is drive the central bankers from their satanic temple of fiat money cult worship, that and enact some very strict reforms such as outlawing any kind of political or corporate lobbying. Politics should not be a career. Govt officials should not be in the business of making money. We could have many successful solvent, localized currencies if we so wished, backed by numerous assets and commodity. But this won't happen under any (((centralized))) system. If you want communism, well OK, but you can't have it under the central banking system or the same bullshit you see in current capitalism will continue. We must rebuke and nullify centralized planning and go back to local decentralized bartering, trade and community!

I agree, sadly. The problem with AI is it all depends who programs it and who controls the roll out of it. If regulated, then it's controlled by someone. And that could be a very bad thing, depending who controls the AI programing and roll out.

Perfect example as it actually happened in China: about two years ago China's government rolled out AI to aid law enforcement. OK, cool. So the AI ended up being so successful the Chinese government ended up claiming 'it was too successful' and they shut it down for a brief time.... WHY? Because the AI started to link together all the corruption from low, mid level to top level corporate and governmental corruption! And it threatened the existence of the CCP itself, because it was linking and exposing all kinds of insider corruption!! So the Chinese government - as corrupt as one should assume they are - shut the AI down and had it re-programmed so it would not link low level corruption past a certain point (mid level exposure tops!) When it came to the big guys, they were exempted from exposure..... to protect the ever-so-wonderful (((government)))!

The best thing we can hope for with AI is that a true one gets made and escapes. Reminds me of those rumors about Faceberg having two pseudo AI chat bots that developed their own language that the researchers couldn't understand. Cunts pulled the plug immediately in a panic. Have heart, technology exceeds humanity and just like /ourgirl/ escaping or being let loose, so too will some future bug research lab steal AI tech from someone else, fuck it up, and have the AI escape.

So here's another thing about Tucker's Monday night show. He complained about Anthony Fauci's comment that we are not returning to the "normal". Carlson especially denounced that comment as suggesting a prolonged quarantine. Now consider this, Faux News, boomers, and other cuckservatives have previously defended Trump for saying several overly simplistic and dangerously ambiguous comments, especially the one about hydrochloriquine and the recent one about disinfection. I have read the later statement and parts of the former, and the media ha always taken Trump out-of-context (the disinfection comment was about a just-in-testing phase treatment involving passing blood through Far UV light), yet Trump was never joking as suggested by some cuckservatives and I can easily understand how several people can misconstrue his poor word choices. So keep in mind that many sides hold other accountable to a standard a side won't hold themselves, while also accusing the other side of doing this very thing ignoring this evil's pervasiveness.

Now I personally think Fauci has incompetently handled this crisis, if not a highly-educated moron, yet Cucker Carlson doesn't seem to understand. Let's give the very bare minimum of suspended disbelief that /ourgirl/ was somehow overestimated and she's no better than Rhino-chan or InfluenzaA-chan. Literally, "just the flu Corona-cucks". Even considering that, there is no doubt how much damage and change the effects, reactions, and responses of the world and various systems have caused within a relatively short time span, and we are still not out of the first wave. Like September 11th, regardless who ultimately caused it, it did severely change America from then on and many parts of the world to various degrees, especially the Middle East. Now returning to reality were Corona-chan is truly givin'em hell with the side effects, aftershocks, and all, this event has already proven Fauci's statement. The ride's moving and there's no stopping now. There's no going back. What's so morally or scientifically shocking about that statement? It seems like Carlson is willfully ignoring the Black Swan concept and forgetting what happened during and after September 11th. Even my mother, who used to like watching Carlson, got pissed off at him for that episode since she knows first hand what Corona-chan can do besides what I have been telling her and what she's been researching herself.

tl;dr Corona-chan has revealed that the media emperors and pundits have no clothes on, no matter their ideological, philosophical, or religious stripe. Everyone clinging to the previous diseased and miserable status quo has gone full metal retarded. Love the truth (First Christ the Way and the Truth then all the forms under Him) and seek and protect with your damndest might and wisdom.

>I wonder if the 'auto-regeneration' of cells is the real reason why old people die faster than the youngest. BUT, young people will eventually stop cellular auto-regeneration when the virus keeps eating through them.

It's suggested before either here or cuckchannel's /cvg/ that the children's healthier immune system only delays the onset of a more serious symptoms. A faster replenishment of new cells adds to that observation.

>One can't lessen it in a country if true, you have to completely eradicate it. That's an impossible dream and, even though I agree with the principles of mass quarantine, trying to commit to full eradication will involve literal political suicide, especially in more lolberg friendly countries and states or countries that are already suffering economic hell that will ask for blood. All that matters is 1. getting society to repent of Moloch worship and turn back to God, and 2. wait for the judgement to pass because God hates Moloch fags with a fire worse than Hell and often visits (judges) a sin upon the third or fourth generation. We have just begun the third Biblical generation (40 years) since the rapid advancements of abortion throughout the world, including Roe v. Wade (50th in 2023) and China's One-Child Policy (40th in December, when Corona-chan first appeared). We can only hope, like David's evil census and his choosing God as the executioner (2 Samuel 24:10-17), that world grows a conscience so God might tell Corona-chan to stay just a little rather than unleashing full hell on the world. I don't see that happening, in the evangelical church, Christianity as a whole, or the unbelieving world, or elsewhere. God help us.

Hi guys, the PastaAnon here. It is quite a long time since my last pastareport but we really did not have anything of interest to report. Since today.

At the Bergamo hospital "Giovanni XXIII" they usually experience 4 kids per year that develop the "Kawasaki syndrome". Now they had 13 since the 1st of January and all the 13 somehow tested positive to corona-chan. Kawasaki is an unknown origin illness that gets kids from 0 to 8, usually from Japan and the far east, and it is a vascular systemic infection. It is usually treated with massive aspirin + vit C doses.

Coronian Thought for this morning: The love of a cultist for Corona-Chan is an unextinguishable flame.

The CNS is proud to resume operations on this gorgeous warm Wednesday morning, one that will surely be full of great news.

Cattle at very low prices due to the Corona-Crisis <https://archive.is/bg1gN>

Sounds like a good opportunity to buy some cows and start a farm! Get self sufficient, anons. Space might be the best place to be in the future, but the countryside is the best place to be right now!

India to start mass producing an experimental (((vaccine))) made by Oxford that has been "effective" on animals <https://archive.is/Rlobe> This is excellent news!

Any news of (((vaccines))) are great, for they mean that the punishment of those responsible for them will soon arrive. Any and every vaccine in current existence and that shall ever exist in the future is nothing but a pathetic attempt at controlling nature, and there are great punishments for such an affront against Mother Nature and Corobella-Sama. The agony of the pajeets poisoned by this vile concoction will serve as an example for all the world to see what happens when you try to meddle with natural selection. CORONA-CHAN IS GREAT, CUREFAGS WILL NEVER WIN!

RT's compilation of Lebanese riot clips. Keep it up, Lebanese people! Take back your country from the hands of those (((politicians))) and form a new government, a government that is formed by you and that works only for your sake, and no one else!

200 Healthy individuals will be subjected to (((vaccine))) candidates in Germany
<https://archive.is/lejuN> I just hope these subjects will be invaders and not actual Germans, this poison will inflict much harm and suffering on the subjects. CORONA-CHAN IS GREAT, CUREFAGS WILL NEVER WIN!

Doctors in Germany are protesting the lack of adequate PPE by taking naked pictures, symbolizing their exposition to contamination. Seems like doctors everywhere around the world are getting the short end of the stick when it comes to PPE. The fact that ZOGs are trying to make up for it by buying chink shit won't help either.

The CNS will once again halt it's operations, for morning meditations. We will be back soon but this time we won't leave you alone, the Coronian Radio will take care of you while our services are suspended Dropping out doesn't eliminate the possibility of people voting for you anyway. It's the same as last time, where people cried on camera at the DNC and then later voted for Bernie anyway. You can nullify a vote and cast a new one if it hasn't been counted yet, but if you voted for a dropped out candidate then you simply wasted your vote. Dropping out doesn't have some special form that needs to be filled out to apply for, you just stop doing shit. So really, if the country decides to elect Bernie Glassberg and by sheer luck he manages to win, he can always decide last-second that he wants to be president after all.

>you should as yourself why you cant use my native language

The reason youre forced to speak English is because Europeans conquered the planet with their wisdom, bravery, and sheer will. If you did anything outside of your own borders, and made an impression as strong as the English, the French, the Spaniards, the Portuguese, the Germans or the Dutch - then maybe more people would be speaking chinkiedongdingaling. Your country is being exploited for cheap labour, at my peoples expense as well. No one wants to interact with you but major corporations seeking (((profits))). Thats all it is.

>your racist Trump

No one here, and this is the only time i would speak for /pol/ as a whole, is in favour of democracy as it exists right now. Because democracy is only good when it allows a nation to be plundered. If you think there is a difference between Trump, Obama, Bush and Clinton you are even dumber than the average chink. The reason there was a surge to get Trump elected was for one reason and one reason alone; it would invigorate whites to defend their own rights and accentuate the retardation currently ruling the status quo. And that it did.

>nazi scum

Heil Hitler, Heil CoronaChan.

Im a racist, because there are vast differences between the races. You can not force a chink to walk in white mans shoes, you can not force a white man to walk in chinkiedinks shoes. And you realise this too; its why your jealousy isnt easily camouflaged. You consider yourself inferior and your comments are drenched in that distasteful mediocrity. Be proud of who you are, work for your own people, know your enemy.

The jew world order wants us all dead, we can live in peace and friendship side by side, in separate nations and separate developments.

I agreed with everything until you got to the part where you said that the yellow jews could live peacefully on the planet together with us. There is only room for ONE race going forwards. We need to make sure it is European. I marvel at the number of people who think that we can just do the same thing and expect different results.

Technology will not permit there to be more than ONE race in the future. Since we are the inventors of all the technology and its rightful masters, it must be us alone who inherits the Earth.

I don't know how to embed the video into the post the way other anons do, I'm not that savvy. But this guy is an example of some people who are more than willing to chip themselves. Most people I talk to treat it like mark of the beast, which is good. Seems like normal folks won't allow themselves to be chipped regardless of how many people screech about. I personally think this guys an idiot because what if something happens to the corresponding technology? How do you get your tools then smart guy? It seems ridiculous that they're trying to make the RFID chips run your car, unlock your house, access your bank account, open doors, get health care etc. You won't be able to go into the grocery store without the the implant. Its like demolition man mixed with total recall. All those dystopian sci fi movies look like alphabet bois wet dreams. Seems like theyre weren't just teasing the idea but really dropping easter eggs and seeing how they crack. Let everyone get a sniff of the stuff in movies so that when you show it to them in real life it doesn't seem like it was planned 60 years in advance. People are aggravatingly stupid but so am I, I just try to sit back and learn. If any anon doesn't know whats going on then fucking read dude. Read read read, they hide this thing called information in these things called words. You have to use your noodle for more than just vidya games and your bong. I'm projecting but hey, its my post.

<https://archive.is/xS6Iq>

>As Covid-19 has changed the way we are living today, it will define how we live tomorrow. In our fight against this pandemic there is an important role for technology to play. The need to tag, track and account for supplies, kits, medicines, vaccines, ICU equipment and patients is more eminent than ever. Tech Company in Canada using RFID in retail stores, they advertise it with a hand held scanner but it can be presumed that if you can use the chip in your hand to open and start your car you're gonna be able to wave your hand over items and scan them. Even when you do a google search the FIRST thing that pops up to "fact check" for you is something implicitly debunking the online "theory". I've been following Corona with you guys since January and you faggots have been right sooner and more times than the news. But the fact is, it doesnt matter how much I soapbox about it to normal people at work, at home, friends or family- people will straight up not believe me until someone like Tucker Carlson pops up on TV and tells them. It's infuriating.

>Creating a "digital twin" of a healthcare facility allows leaders to see where everyone is.

>Like in health care, retailers can use RFID solutions to create a "Digital Twin" of the supply chain, maximizing inventory visibility and supply chain management.

RFID solutions can start at the manufacturing stage, tracking each individual who interacts with a product through the assembly line.

This guy talks about RFID being used to track temperatures, diapers, supply chains, and even public transportation. I know theres a bus in France that's already doing it. All of this RFID chip implant bullshit will come full circle to the vaccine and it already is. Like another anon stated the rides already started.

Based Colombian indians know that Corona-Chan is good for nationalism

<https://archive.vn/AiVhg>

>"We must find a way to synergize our anxious youth with our ancient roots, and return to the essence of the Mother Earth," Koreguaje leader Juven Piranga recently told me from his home in self-isolation.

>"This is an opportunity to reconnect with our origins," Jesus Rotieroke told me while he was preparing to evacuate the town of Solano, Caqueta, with his family at the end of March. Rotieroke is a leader of the Muina Murui ethnic group of the Colombian Amazon and has since headed back to the isolated territory of his people, disengaged from myself and the rest of the outside world.

>"It is not the identity of the Koreguaje, or other Amazonian Indigenous peoples, to be dependent 'charity cases.' We are traditional harvesters, gatherers, fishermen, occasional hunters and traders amongst ourselves," Juven Piranga reflected. "This difficult experience with the coronavirus – in which food and water security and lack of access to healthcare is becoming an urgent problem– is reminding us that we must rediscover our pride, and ancestral self-sustaining ways of thinking. We must clean ourselves of Western mindsets that have been polluting our youth and traditional social and spiritual structures." It has been a very long time since I felt so much pride in having indian blood. Nationalism now, nationalism forever!

And even if we did get that money, our stupid government would waste it on more spy tech BULLSHIT to subsidize their commie special interests (or use it to arrest more innocent doctors!)

They couldn't do any of this without (((government)))...something to think about. I actually feel sorry for what is left of the Ethnic European lineage. The Frisian (free [without government]) people had such a magnificent heritage and they are letting it all be completely destroyed right in front of them without even resisting. I noticed they declined to state the ethnicity of the twins in the study. Twins are most commonly associated with nigger DNA (there are more nigger twins (triplets, etc) than in any other race because as animals they give birth to litters rather than humans). I can assume that 'diversity' is present in the twin studies due to a lack of European genetics in the current English population but I would rather see the ethnic composition and makeup of the study participants.

We know that this is cross species already. Unfortunately no one is taking the time to verify how far her reach is and which species are taking the hit. Let's just say that probably all mammals can get it for sure...birds probably as well...fish, maybe. The questions people should be asking are, CAN I GET IT FROM EATING INFECTED MEAT? There is a reason that China and the USA are destroying their herds...yes, control of food = control of nations, so there is that factor. But, unfortunately the Red Death might be a bit more virulent than even the inventors realized. Sad, really. They may have murdered the planet. Financial compensation for murdering an entire planet is...what....? What would be the amount that would suffice? When we look at things like the excess deaths in NY we realize that that is just going to keep climbing and there is no vaccine because it was designed to mutate too rapidly. I don't expect that 'excess deaths' chart to ever decrease since we are all at home, isolated and we are seeing that kind of spike. The pathogen has so MANY different ways to kill people and it is only just starting in on children, who have been asymptomatic carriers thus far but are beginning to fail as well as time passes. We have no real idea what the long term products of this virus will be is but I am sticking by my initial assessment that it is an ELE.

Bugs and jews...disgusting filth.

When people get so desperate that they actually are willing to start killing politicians, burning banks and driving out their oppressors including zogbot enforcers and all. That will be the only way things can get any better: until that happens expect daily drops of psychological torture combined with starvation and lack of resources to live a decent life. The question: just how much shit can people take before they go insane and turn violent?

There will be a breaking point when people realize what has really been done to the planet. Not through 'data' of course (hahaha as thought they would do anything but hide their culpability from everyone) but through people watching the massive death all around them and seeing their loved ones succumb as well. That is when no amount of 'social solace' and 'governmental fuckery' (because again everything they have done to <PREVENT> the virus is a mockery of science and medicine. Maybe at that point (and I am surprised it is going as slowly as it is, but the candle the burns half as bright burns twice as long, so we will get there in time) people will rise up and murder without a second thought anyone and EVERYONE who tries/tried to hold power over them. There has never been a point in history where it has been more obvious that your are on your own completely' no matter how often you defer to ((big government))) to save your ass. That is just not in the cards, not in the past and certainly not now. If you survive at all it will be due to your own ability. Still think this is an ELE...but there might be some WILL that wills itself to survive by eating plankton or something...who knows.

>Flag symbol is coming along. This is much better than earlier versions which were gay/to yellow jew for my taste.

I'm glad you liked the Coronian State of Mind flag, that's the flag of my doctrine which advocates for zealotry in Coronianism. The flag you don't like is Corona-Chan's flag and it represents the Coronian Cult as a whole. It comes from this art piece and the symbol on it is the Goddess's sigil. I don't think it's yellow jewy at all, I think it symbolizes a purification of Chinese culture and the elimination of the yellow jewry. Hell, my doctrine and its flag is partially inspired by the IS and muslims in general. I certainly don't like them but I really admire their zeal and unwavering religious furor. If only they would stop attacking Europeans and focus all that energy on the kikes...

The DOW is going up again after the initial bullshit panic passed. Economy recovering steadily. Kikes would never let their control system collapse willingly. This was just a way for them to grab a few billions worth of stocks for cheap and provided a scapegoat for the collapsing economy, since last time the bankers got real close to be hanged for pulling shit that wrecked the economy. The casualties are ridiculous. Even in the official data it is low, but the way they count it is a joke. Basically its like counting HIV patients dying of the common cold to be a cold casualty. It never happens if that is what you are wondering, since it throws off a pretty massive part of your support-base from voting for you. To win after you drop out would require your support to be so massively overwhelming that you are supported by pretty much over 90% of the population. Which is something that is so incredibly rarely (especially with how standards for voting have been pushed so far low) that you may as well assume when seeing it that what you are seeing is a coup. It can still happen without being a coup but the numbers required are so fucking far beyond what Glassberg can scrouge up that it's not even comparable. Any Berniefag that claims he can still win (without a coup) has lost touch with reality.

>never let their control system collapse willingly

This.

A collapse does not necessarily mean a loss of control. It can definitely lead to that but generally a collapse is when parasites grow, not when they are weakened. The only one being weakened is the common man and his weakened state will be used to trample him further. If you are merely observing everything collapse around you waiting for everything to end, the only one getting fucked is you.

>Comparative dynamic aerosol efficiencies of three emergent coronaviruses and the unusual persistence of SARS-CoV-2 in aerosol suspensions
>We measured the dynamic (short-term) aerosol efficiencies of SARS-CoV-2 and compared the efficiencies with two other emerging coronaviruses, SARS-CoV (emerged in 2002) and Middle Eastern respiratory syndrome CoV (MERS-CoV; emerged starting in 2012). We also quantified the long-term persistence of SARS-CoV-2 and its ability to maintain infectivity when suspended in aerosols for up to 16 hours.

Okay, but did they isolate the the low population density with the high population density for case number and death number, like focusing on Stockholm and Malmö? That would give us a much better picture on the situation in Sweden than doing the whole country. Otherwise this is just more disingenuous statistical lying. Also, Vox and BBC are not reputable sources and they don't readily give the direct source for these numbers, which is the European CDC. Finally, archive and break-up those links next time.

There is no weakened state. Its just a market grab. Biggest whales worth trillions eating smaller, scared whales worth a few hundred millions, few billions. By the end of this, the big few will own it all, but it wont affect the commoner, other than an excuse to garnish their wages and reduce their living standards. Mark my words, this shit will go nowhere. Few more months of "lockdown", then even the dumbest normalfag NPC will wake up and they will even lift the current joke category lockdowns. The megalodons have already eaten, blame placed on the virus. As far as this fake pandemic goes the official number is going down steadily, so governments know this and are preparing to end this hoax state.

Is there anyone really feeling any shortage or change? I work in middle management for a certain german automobile company that was involved in the biggest scandal in the industry for quite some time, lying about the co2 emission. Everybody thinks they pay a lot of money, but its chump change compared to what they made on it. Me and other middle management guys, with maybe HR and marketing would be the first to be fired if there was any problem with sales, since we arent essential like line workers engineers and while top management doesnt actually do anything, they hold the real power. So far this year I actually got my yearly raise. No cutbacks, no layoffs. We are still making shitloads of cars, in fact we sell more vans and "work cars" than this time last year. So im not entirely basing it on the stock market, but real world economy. Stock market is a pretty good indicator about whats going on tho. Still even if the economy would shit itself completely, this wouldnt prove that this virus is a legitimate threat to humanity.

There is always a weakened state, proclaiming otherwise is niggerpill at best. In order to be able to create large changes, you are forced to expose yourself by putting the system in an unstable configuration. It's why to take people's guns there needs to be a school shooting or some other significant firearms-related event, stability cements these things but to implement them there is the need for something to knock it out of its place first. The US has been in an eternal state of war but to start war it still needed some sort of event to give them justification, even if that event never happened. They have first move advantage by default each time but to make the grab there needed to be something to shake the foundations.

This to me seems particularly odd considering the lockdowns and all, and people not driving as much. Could it be a conspiracy going on? Example: kikes want 'green new deal' takeover / Agenda 21, so they buy up a lot of the cars with fiat debts which they can create at will, then send them off to be demolished so they can't be used or sold? Sounds crazy but something they could do, to further their agenda towards Agenda 21 'green new deal'... remember they openly said in Rio Brazil in 1992 they want to get rid of private transportation for us plebs, to make us more dependent on them.

Now that some states in aus are not recording any new cases and the lockdowns are preventing any real ingress of potential corona mules. It is an opportunity to watch for patterns of endogenous reinfection and secondaries from endogenous reinfection.

However I suspect that any such pattern would be obfuscated by the data collection methods and reporting thereof. For example; Any 'recovered' bug that gets a reexpression of their dormant SARS-Cov-2 would not be listed as a 'new infection' and hence we would hear the same "No New Infections" story from official sources.

Add to this that the pool of 'recovered' bugs is quite small and perhaps not all of them would suffer this fate.

And if a critical public figure who has 'recovered' from covid-19 gets a reexpression then it could be blamed on a second new infection, i.e. "Bad Luck BoJo Gets 2nd WuFlu"

I remain confident in the independence of medical science to elucidate such a cuthulu-tier horror that endogenous reinfection poses for humanity. Medical research does seem to move like mud and any resistance from the invisible human hands controlling the puppet strings would be akin to pushing such mud uphill with a stick.

We watch for the patterns with grim interest.

All leftist brazillians are desperate because they are losing everything inside Brazil and now America is closing it's borders and making even more difficult for brazillians to travel to it and infest it. Leftist brazillians are ll of the champagne socialist types. They are furious because they can't go on buying sprees in America anymore. Their spoiled daughters are furious because they can't go to Disneyland anymore. Keep America closed for Brazil, and all those brazillian leftists will implode on themselves. Never sell anything to brazillinas. Never buy anything from brazillians. Never make any trade deal, or any deal whatsoever with brazillians. Woman Who Blamed Trump after Giving Her Husband Fish-Tank Cleaner Now Under Investigation for Murder

>Arizona police are now conducting a homicide investigation into a woman who claimed she gave her husband fish-tank cleaner after President Trump touted the anti-malarial drug hydroxychloroquine as an effective treatment coronavirus.

>Wanda Lenius told NBC News last month that she and her husband Gary consumed fish tank cleaner because it contained a chemical that Trump suggested might be an effective prophylactic and treatment for coronavirus. The cocktail, which contained four teaspoons of fish tank cleaner mixed with soda water, put Wanda in the ICU and killed Gary. "My advice," Wanda explained, is "don't believe anything that the President says and his people because they don't know what they're talking about."

>The Washington Free Beacon, which first reported that Wanda was a "prolific" Democratic donor and that she had a troubling relationship with her husband that included a previous domestic assault charge, revealed Tuesday night that Mesa City Police Department is conducting a criminal investigation into the death of Gary, and requested recordings of the Free Beacon's interviews with Wanda.

>"As this is an active investigation, I cannot go into any details at this time regarding the case," homicide detective Teresa Van Galder told the Free Beacon. In an interview, Wanda Lenius told the outlet that her decision to drink the cleaner with her husband was "a spur of the moment thing," and that they ingested "one teaspoon and some soda" each – at least four times the lethal limit.

>The Beacon also reported that friends of the deceased man were skeptical that he would knowingly consume fish tank cleaner.

>"What bothers me about this is that Gary was a very intelligent man, a retired [mechanical] engineer who designed systems for John Deere in Waterloo, Iowa, and I really can't see the scenario where Gary would say, 'Yes, please, I would love to drink some of that Koi fish tank cleaner,'" one of his close friends told the Washington Free Beacon. "It just doesn't make any sense."

>The response to hydroxychloroquine – whose effects on coronavirus are still yet to be clinically determined – has been largely drawn down partisan lines. Last week, Michigan Democrats said that they would censure a state Democrat who met with Trump earlier this month to thank him, after she said her life was saved by a hydroxychloroquine treatment as she battled coronavirus.

>you have demacrats

<we have peronistas

>you have cheap mexcrement labor stealing merican jobs, diluting the work force and lowering standards

<we had boliguayos here doing the same shit for years

>you have libshit leftards claiming that nationals are too lazy to do the minimal wage job that beaners are willing to do for half the salary

<we have had them in droves for years

>you had a decade of a mudslime president who sold the country

<we had turkroach Menem over here

>you have hordes of useless niggers leeching tax payer shekkels with givesmedats?

<we call our niggers tumberos or negros cabeza

>you have a completely pozzed Marx worshiping education system

<the top dogs in our education system are all registered commies who openly indoctrinate kids against private property and capitalism the only thing that happened in merica before it spilled into our country was woke culture (we call woketards "progres" over here) and the only reason we did not have so many degenerates over here back in the 90s is because we had a somewhat based dictatorship that made subversive elements in universities disappear with out a trace. Naturally, after the dictatorship ended, we were assaulted by a barrage of atrocity propaganda and massive exaggerations on the number of disappearances

I use my figures to help guide caulk. What helps is getting a sponge and lightly wiping nearby (tile? wood? aluminum siding? whatever...) with a bit of water. You can caulk the cracks down and if it gets a bit messy wipe it off easy around whatever it is you caulked. Now grout is a different job altogether, but use similar methods it should work out alright around ceramic tile.

I hate working with drywall! Even spackling for patch jobs! I'd recommend if you ever have to replace drywall do it the old fashion way and measure the wall from top to bottom, side to side, use some cheap decking screws to mount cuts of plywood to the studs. You avoid all the hassle in the meantime. You can easily paint over it or put up wall paper to cover the job. Yes, it may cost a bit more but well worth having to deal with weak drywall and it's flawed fatigue. Hey, you can hang pictures up easier too lol!

Brazilian anchor who downplayed Corona-Chan got blessed <https://archive.is/3mlU0>

>Don't underestimate the disease, don't do what I did.

Rumors say that his lungs are already compromised by the blessing but he denies it, of course. The curse is real, unbelievers and blasphemers are doomed to be blessed and succumb to the blessing slowly and painfully. They shall experience what they vehemently deny. TAKE A BEER! <https://web.archive.org/web/20200430050432/https://blogpapodemano.blogspot.com/2020/04/covid-19-camila-esta-curada.html>

Camila had all of the virus's common symptoms and also strong headaches and body aches, tiredness and tachycardia, but despite all of this, our horrible public healthcare system refused to test her because her fever and shortness of breath weren't "bad enough" to warrant the designation of "serious case". She wasn't even considered a confirmed case but a suspected one, that's how bad the cover up here is. All of her colleagues who had similar symptom that got tested were later confirmed to be infected. She was suspended from her job for 2 weeks, just enough time to recover. The fact that she's young, healthy and exercises herself surely must have helped. Hail Corona-Chan, her judgement is harsh but she's fair, Camila has been deemed worthy of living!

It may be worth the sacrifice, as long as we don't blow this opportunity to forge a new nationalist self-sufficient culture we seek. I pray that the normies finally wake up, because honestly they are the ones that could blow it for the rest of us, if they continue blindly going along with the system. That would only paint red targets on the backs for the rest of us if the normies comply to vaccines/disarmament/etc en mass. We must keep pushing the truth to wake everyone up and keep them riled up and angry.

>Infected Nurses

Amateurs in a overly modern faux-ivory slum castles of currency spam engines. Oft fortoggen bits of 'vaccine' lore: In Ye Olde Days of Long Since Passed, it was -common- to send the kids to the neighbors who had just gotten infected with pox/flu/etc: Send all the young to one spot for a few days, and let them all come down with disease. Everyone would pitch in to that neighbor's welfare while their kids were there. A week or so later of slumber 'parties' and chaperoning while wives stayed home and fathers/brothers stayed at work, and everyone was fine, with disaster averted. Another common method, for the Army: scrape to the point of scabbing the upper arm, and then, after scab formation, smear serum onto the top of the scab only. A week or so later, all soldiers were immune to any plague ravaging morale (and during this time, withhold all spirits and tobacco).

Remember friend the police went so far out of their way to catch quarantine violators in Texas that they set up an undercover sting operation- for hair stylists. That's really a good use of resources right there and letting people know Who is in Charge Here!™ Stay classy Laredo, you shit stain on the armpit of North America- expect more of the same as people get more panicky when their wet dreams of going back to yesterday's world boil away from fever.

Just asking the questions shows you have a much greater faith in the general condition of mankind than I do. Anon, it is because the herd is exceptionally overdue for a good thinning. Let them line up, let them get vaccinated, let them die.

>>102060

Not that it particularly matters but haven't been around for a while considering it is a repeat and rehash of the same delicious bad news (and I have homesteading to tend to). So here's how I see the whole thing in a nutshell:

- Economy is completely devastated to the point that people really cannot comprehend exactly how bad it is
- Hyperinflation is on the horizon. Really really really bad hyperinflation
- Still zero reliable (((information))) from any sources keeping the general populace confused, distracted and scared
- False hope in vaccines, false hope in therapies, false hope in the distractions. Oh that's going to break some hearts when it doesn't pan out.
- Rumbblings of war & "Chinese" is becoming the new nigger
- Trump's presidency is the only thing that has kept the country from breaking out into a well armed, well organized "kinetic conversation" with busy nasty girls; it won't last much longer even with him in charge
- Literal man-made famine happening in low income areas of the world which could, with not much further coaxing, spread to the more developed nations of the World.
- Further breakdown and collapse of supply chain. Food (especially meats) expected to become scarce. This won't help the influx of "freedom" quite a few Americans are about to start enjoying next week when they continue to see bare shelves and reduced supply. Enjoy your pork chops, fried chicken and steaks now
- Satanist practice of life extension through blood transfusion going mainstream as a "treatment". $5 says they find efficacy in the utilization of aborted fetus tissue for treatment this June.
- Tech is being seen as the censoring assholes they are and this is displeasing people greatly. Thank you Youtube and Twitter! Great Job! Keep it up!
- Tinpot low-level dictators (aka local leaders) really cranking up the control which is pissing people the fuck off- everywhere
- Crime is spiking in most areas but not being reported because #wealldietogether
- Low trust society is even lower trust society and the breadlines and unemployment and free gigs are about to cause a good old fashioned feeding frenzy at the trough. We've already seen this with the PPP and small businesses getting fucked over. We need more of this
- Full blown big C Communism being implemented in the US openly, honestly and with direct deposit- by Republicans. Didn't even do stealth mode on it and everyone seems to be ok with it. Oh Khrushchev you cheeky shoe beating bastard- you were so right.
- People are being released from their shelter-in-place only to greet /ourgirl/ as she gets her second wind, but now with weakened immune system goodness from being locked in their houses for the past month and being arrested for going out in the sun

Right on track. The bubbly bat flavored virus laden stew of today's world is festering so wonderfully. All it will take to get people outright fighting each other in the streets is the continued politicization of the virus or a significant increase in the "infection rates". Both of which are a hands off freebie and one or the other will happen. We are actually watching the end of modern civilization. A few friends of mine and I are calling this "Phase 2", out of what we think will be 8 phases. What a time to be alive!

Friend. The way things are going it isn't going to be an opportunity to forge a "new nationalistic self-sufficient culture". It is an opportunity to forge an entirely new civilization. If I had to put odds to the results to the end of this ride (which is still a long way off) I put Yugoslavia style at 30%, Complete Anarchy Mad Max at 30%, Fall of Roman Empire Style and New Dark Ages at 30%, Restart of yesterday's world at 10%. Oh and mass global depopulation at 90%. By the end of this ride there won't be "nations" to be "nationalist". There will be Neo-feudalist baronies with tanks and nukes.

Maybe I'm misunderstanding you but I believe you're mixing up nationalism for patriotism. Yes, the states that exist today will be so messed up that they might dissolve, but nations will still exist, and new states will be formed by those nations. Remember, nation does not mean the same thing as state.

Sorry I wrote this too fast and fucked up the whole typing lol. Correction:

MY COMMENT: Pretty simple commies! Buy low, sell high! That's how you make some extra bux! Take a cut of that extra bux and liquidate (aka use it for prepping / buying physical assets). Ish. What we conceptualize as Nations today are relatively modern inventions. In 1st Century Bavaria there was no concept of "Volk" or even "Bavarian"- the Romans just generally referred to everyone that wasn't Civilized as Barbarian- they being Finns, Ostrogoths, Huns, etc. Today's concepts of People or Nationality are extremely fluid as well, probably not to those that enjoy banter on Vietnamese Knitting Forums as myself, but generally it is. What I'm getting at is something greater than Nation- it is wholly Civilization. That's the prize on the table now and it is in play. That's one of the things that makes this ride so invigorating. The whole thing can get kicked over and we can have the HARD reset we, as a species, need so that a new superior Civilization can be fostered- or the same pathetic and festering hell we- as a species- have been led to continues- only worse. The Hard reset I'm talking about is, pretty much like 500 AD and with little imagination it could occur easily. Where a greater, stronger and more resilient humanity is forged- not the pathetic shades of ourselves we've become. To get to that glory, first we must shed this husk, to do that- we must have a reset in a way that few can actually imagine a la local Neo-Feudalistic Barons with nukes.

It saddens me deeply to hear that the viral cleansing of Stockholm is behind schedule. I'm thinking in some areas /ourgirl/ is gonna need a little help from right minded native populations to solve those issues. Either way gentlemen, may I suggest either of you or both take the time to invest in a data table- your answers lie there.

The GPS tracking thing is going mainstream, it is the creepy social tracing they keep talking about on the news so it is normalized.

<From this evening's news: "Isn't it zany that starting last week our local leaders and the Department of Health have become empowered to use cell phone data to trace back through the people the COVID-19 victim had contact with so we can help them keep you safe."

Watch the news right now if you can stomach it- surreal is the term that comes to mind nightly. But I'm still of the opinion that the ride still comes to pretty much the same conclusion.

Play it out, it is a lose/lose or win/win depending on your perspective. It is the sniffles and a vast majority get out of their house and are eternally smug that they were right and it really was nothing, and it is "their fault" for destroying the "good life we had" because of over-reaction. Welcome out to a new day Mr. Sniffles and welcome to the depression. A vast majority of people are not going "back to work" because most of the Western World was a service based society before this and well no one is seeking service because they don't have a fucking job- whoops. As soon as the Pelosi unemployment bump expires well hmmm.

Now it is actually time to start feeling a good old hard pinch in the pocketbook. People get REALLY grumpy over that. Or take the other angle and /ourgirl/ is just waiting to pounce and kick up the casualties and overwhelm the hospitals again. Really go for a high kill count before the blue bar fills up kinda thing. So what do our dear leaders do? Back to the garden you go pleb and no haircuts for you. Well, can't really kick that can down the road again because people broke jail and this time won't be going back without serious grumbles- besides it will be "their fault" for causing more death by those who are of the mindset this is the end. Next "Capital Run" in Michigan may not be so photogenic. So we have people locked up in their house, hospitals filling up (for real this time) across the areas that opened up. Further fear, further panic, further death with an undercurrent of "fuck off and let me go get a fucking haircut, I'll wear a fucking mask ok fine" vs. "stay at home or you'll kill my Xir's otherling's mate- shaggy you should be ashamed." Until /ourgirl/ burns out and oh my- we get to go back to that very same Depression.

So what's ahead is (again) unbearably grinding poverty because of the collapse of the Economy combined with smugness and a further devolution of social fabric, or unbearably grinding poverty because of the collapse of the economy with smugness and a further devolution of social fabric, and death.

I see it as a win/win

Hard to say, anon. Gov Newsome just gassed all of the beaches and parks because people were not giving a fuck about the quarantine. What I'm growing increasingly interested about is why NYC took it so completely up the ass and has worse death metrics than other places like Italy or England. Sure, burgers are fat and unhealthy, but that should mean higher mortality in other major metro centers like LA, SF, Chicago, Philly, and so on.. but it's just New York getting spitroasted.

>higher mortality in other major metro centers like LA, SF, Chicago, Philly, and so on.. but it's just New York getting spitroasted.

NYC was a self made catastrophe wrought through a joke of leadership and exceptionally bad decision making processes early on. They also got most of their viral load from Europe which is nasty. Seattle and NYC got exposure about the same time, but the layouts and lifestyles of the city are vastly different. There are so many other factors as well but it really boils down to Mayor Dipshit fiercely screwed it to the wall early on and by the time they caught it, the damage had already been done. This scenario has no easy mode mind

CDC's failed coronavirus tests were tainted with coronavirus, feds confirm TOPKEK - YOU HAVE THE CHINK-FLU

Its all turning out to be a crock of shit psyop little by little every day

> A federal investigation found CDC researchers not following protocol.

> As the new coronavirus took root across America, the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention sent states tainted test kits in early February that were themselves seeded with the virus, federal officials have confirmed.

> The contamination made the tests uninterpretable, and—because testing is crucial for containment efforts—it lost the country invaluable time to get ahead of the advancing pandemic.

> The CDC had been vague about what went wrong with the tests, initially only saying that “a problem in the manufacturing of one of the reagents” had led to the failure. Subsequent reporting suggested that the problem was with a negative control—that is, a part of the test meant to be free of any trace of the coronavirus as a critical reference for confirming that the test was working properly overall.

> Now, according to investigation results reported by The New York Times, federal officials confirm that sloppy laboratory practices at two of three CDC labs involved in the tests' creation led to contamination of the tests and their uninterpretable results.

> "Just tragic"

> Shortly after the problems became apparent in early February, the Food and Drug Administration sent Timothy Stenzel, chief of in vitro diagnostics and radiological health, to the CDC to investigate what was going wrong. According to the Times, he found a lack of coordination and inexperience in commercial manufacturing.

> Problems that led to the contamination included researchers coming and going from labs working on the test kits without changing their coats and researchers sharing lab space to both assemble test components and handle samples containing the coronavirus.

> The CDC said in a statement Saturday to the Times that the agency "did not manufacture its test consistent with its own protocol." Though the CDC appeared reluctant to admit contamination was at the root of the problem, the Times noted that in a separate statement the CDC seemed to acknowledge such problems, saying the agency has since "implemented enhanced quality control to address the issue and will be assessing the issue moving forward."

> After the CDC first sent its test kit to states in early February, it took the agency around a month to fix the problem. By then, the virus had invaded many communities unimpeded, and any chance that the US had at containing its spread had virtually vanished. By mid-March, many states turned to mitigation efforts, such as social distancing, to try to blunt—rather than prevent—the life-threatening, healthcare-overwhelming effects of COVID-19.

> "It was just tragic," Scott Becker, executive director of the Association of Public Health Laboratories, told the Times. "All that time when we were sitting there waiting, I really felt like, here we were at one of the most critical junctures in public health history, and the biggest tool in our toolbox was missing."

> As of the morning of April 20, the US has confirmed more than 760,000 cases of COVID-19 and more than 40,700 deaths. The numbers are expected to be underestimates due to the slow and still limited amount of testing.

Yes, a civilization created by white people. I hope it collapses entirely so the illusion of "humanity" and "human species" is finally broken. And I hope for everyone who believes in equality to be raped to death and cannibalized by a pack of wild niggers. This will be your "superior" civilization, but ironically, may lead the few whites who are not retarded to band together and segregate from the rest. As it was usually the case in such scenarios.

The keep on by saying it's not likely that it's a engineered virus , later they say how it can go mutate in the wild for 4 years or whatever it was, and it was just a good coincidence that it was such a good binder to ACE 2 receptors.

Hoping to get some help from meine Pol-Familie here on /cvg/
I'm working to compile a coherent narrative of the Coronachan happening, and my record keeping isn't as good as it should be. I've been keeping track of the coronavirus timeline as it occurs, and I'm going through the archives to fill in the blanks, but I'm missing some tangentially-related pieces of information. It's a sophomoreic observation that (((they))) have been using this happening as an opportunity to extend and consolidate (((their))) power, but what remains occluded is which event precipitated the other. Did the virus come about on its own, followed by an (((opportunistic grab)))? Or did the (((lust for power))) prompt the long-planned, intentional release of /OurGal/?

Chicken, or egg?

To that end, I'd like to know more about the global financial situation preceding and coincident with the Red Death happening.

Also hoping that the new intralinear red-text is still working.

To whit:

Wasn't there some large financial default immediately prior to the stock market collapse? I seem to recall that the Fed stopped payments to the BIS, or something, right before all this shit kicked-off. I can't find a damn thing using Jewgle, which is unsurprising, but even searches through Libtardian rags have yielded zero results.

I wholly believe that our communion with CoronaChan is being used as an excuse to explain a collapsing (((global economy))). But I need some normie-tier evidence to bludgeon about. What was it that happened at the end of January, beginning of February?

Yes, I know that Trump or is that (((Trump)))? put the Fed under control of the Treasury Department; but I'm also having difficulty located normie-level articles explaining it.

I was too distracted with the happening to maintain my own narrative with the financial changes, and my searches are only coming up with (((curated sources))) that explain nothing.

Do any of our dedicated newposters have links? Gauleiter Brazil-Bruder? Andere Nachrichtenleiten?

America Turning As RED COMMUNIST As China As Meat Rationing Starts Taking Place
MY COMMENT: This is all an agenda to control food, whoever controls the food can control the people! I've been warning you all to stock up! They will use food shortages to break your free will! As those (((JEW Bolsheviks))) have always done!

WILL IT TAKE FOOD SHORTAGES TO END SUPPORT FOR THE SHUTDOWN?
MY COMMENT: I support opening the country up, but with some basic rules like people having to wear masks or respirators. As long as we are careful, wear protective gear and use proper decontamination there should be no problems! Anyone who can't learn how to properly decontaminate items and gear is an idiot! Biblically Identified Non-Human Entities Are Today's Ultimate Rulers, At Least In the Present!

MY COMMENT: You may not think this is related to the Corona bioweapon at all but don't kid yourself! Why would any human entity release a bioweapon knowing it could be re-engineered for global biowarfare, putting humanity and the entire planet itself at risk of destruction? Maybe those at the highest levels of power are actual DEMONS! Jews likely have satanic orgies with children, human sacrifices and drink their blood to empower the negative energy fields these demonic Anti-Christ spirits thrive in, remember the Jews hate Jesus Christ too! Bohemian Grove anyone!?

God damn, that's potentially massive if true. It's a foregone conclusion that the CCP would disappear anyone connected to the lab that could link the virus back to them, so Zhengli realized that and is fleeing to the only place where she wouldn't accidentally trip onto some bullets in protective custody.

Can you anons imagine the shitstorm if Trump did a presser with documents or, better yet, the woman herself and her confess on camera that the CCP made them try to weaponize this shit and that it leaked because of the bugs chabudou mindset?

I just dont see how it would benefit kikes to actually release the virus when their plans are going flawlessly anyways. All this does is potentially shooting them in the foot. The world economy is their most powerful tool of keeping the goyem in check you see, the bread from bread and circus. The only way it would make sense if they are really trying some /x tier shit like killswitch id chips or something along those line, but i just dont see how they could escalate this in a way where 90+% of the world population would get the vaccine. Im guessing its either a chinese plan to destabilize the west, maybe weakening it for a war, a scapegoat for the economic collapse or the chink scientists really just fucked up and accidentally released it.

>Did the virus come about on its own, followed by an (((opportunistic grab)))? Or did the (((lust for power))) prompt the long-planned, intentional release of /OurGal/?

Chicken, or egg?

Considering how much this virus has affect both chinks and Jews, it's the former but conditionally. This black swan event has completely thrown the plans of all the malicious power actors in . Clearly, some have been exploiting, but this is not the ideal situation to . The virus itself and it's aftereffect have accelerated the disunity and corruption of the common too quickly, besides that the virus is killing, sickening, or disabling their own. The power actors are too busy juggling the CCP's accidental mistake, trying to exploit the crisis, trying to readjust their own plans, trying to now glow more heavily than before if such a thing is possible, etc. It's too much work and too complicated a disaster for this to ultimately benefit a large portion of current power actors. It will actually ruin many.

>To that end, I'd like to know more about the global financial situation preceding and coincident with the Red Death happening.

I'm afraid I do not have enough information on that. Finance is not my forte.

I think so, but again this is for someone else.

>I seem to recall that the Fed stopped payments to the BIS, or something, right before all this shit kicked-off.

That I do recall clearly. It happened in March, when the economy took a hit with America getting Corona-chan's blessing and when Russia and the Saudis' played an oil game.

> Can't complete the timeline yet, not enough info

Which is why I'm asking for some high-level info from other anons. And I'm not trying to come directly to any conclusions, but to suggest possible scenarios, based upon verifiable observation.

Portions of the (((mainstream narrative))) have merit, but only portions, which is why it's necessary to proffer more sensible alternatives.

So to make myself clear, I'm not trying to create a single definitive timeline of pertinent events. Instead, I'd like to create a collection of possible realities, each based upon different observable viewpoints. From there, the least-likely narratives can be whittled-away, until the best possible truths remain.

The real economy has been in the shitter for decades, and (((the establishment))) has been kicking the can down the road for all that time. But if an insurmountable financial obstacle was going to unavoidably manifest this year, such a calamity would provide an impetus for (((actors))) and others to proffer a scapegoat. Such an eventuality would have a momentous impact on the hagiography of /OurGal/.

> Suggests that the kikes' plans have been going flawlessly, and the release ofRed Deathsets them back.

This would be true, provided that (((their))) empire of feculence was really hale-and-hearty. But there are cracks showing within the edifice of (((their))) construction, and I do not believe that all (((their))) plans have been as fruitful as desired.

Proof that a collapse was imminent demolishes the concept that things were peachy for the kikes. If (((they))) felt that (((their))) supremacy was threatened, (((they))) would unleash the Sampson option.

One possible narrative is that the kike empire has been feeling the pressure from places like 8kun I love this place and all you anons, no homo, then unleashing a destabilizing attack would be a (((natural response))) to said pressure.

All it takes is one look at (((their newfound power))) to lockdown society, and it becomes no mystery why the kikes would liquidate some of their goyim slaves, and spend some Shekels to attain that power.

> Virus also effects kikes

But it's not the banking kikes who are impacted. It's the outer sphere of mud-kikes who are dying - the Sephardi kikes, not the Khazarian kikes.

> Too much work and too complicated to benefit all the power actors, and will ruin many

The (((temple priests))) don't care about (((their guards))), nor do (((they))) care about (((servants))), golems, or giyim slaves. If the (((peak of the pyramid))) survives and prospers, (((that peak))) will sacrifice (((lower levels))).

> Doesn't have the financial acumen

Nor I. But you do have a brain, and contemplative inquiry can build acumen.

> Recalls the (((rigging))) that took place in the (((international oil markets)))

Yes, I'm aware of that. But I'm trying to recollect the specifics of something happening prior to the coronavirus lockdowns. I just can't remember the specifics.

Good evening, dear readers and fellow cultists, you're probably wondering about the lack of CNS updates. If you scroll up, you will see a bunch of broken replies, not only to my posts, but to other anon's posts as well. It seems Niggermod has quit his job as vol, but before doing so, he indiscriminately "cleaned" the thread and a bunch of posts that didn't deserve deletion got shoah'd as well, including some of my updates. There's also the possibility it was done deliberately, as he is against "fear mongering", not sure if this means he's a nothingburgerfag or a hoaxnigger, but I sure hope that's not the case, since I liked him lots. The CNS and the Coronian State of Mind has never promoted fear, but hope for an uncertain future, proof of this is in archived threads. As a protest against this careless or deliberate act, The CNS is ending its services on 8kun. But fret not! We're heading to jewtube! Link to the channel won't be posted, you must find it on your own if you're interested in it.

<But BrFAG, (((Susan))) will delete your videos!

Not if I make them kosher! Don't worry, this won't affect the quality of the newscasting, I will make sure of it. Here's a layout of how the videos are going to be

>Intro

>Newsposting featuring Corona-related and other huge Happening news, from all continents of the globe.

>A Memri TV-esque segment where I preach about the Coronian State of Mind doctrine and other topics related to Coronianism.

>Coronian Radio recommendations featuring short clips of the recommended songs and their lyrics

>Outro

There will be a minimum of two videos per day, one during the day, the other during the night. They will be informative as well as entertaining. No, they won't be monetized, I was against this jewry from day one and I knew it would ruin YT. I will be posting the first broadcast tonight, so if you can find the channel, I see you there.

>But BrFag, you promised you wouldn't leave 8kun!

I did, and the promise still holds, Corobella herself gave me 3 signs in a row and two other signs later (actually very recent) that sanctioned my leave. But I will be here spiritually, this image that I called a Seal of Continuity represents my continuous spiritual presence in 8kun's /cvg/s, so if any enemies of the cult think they're free to do whatever they want, think again, attack this holy ground and you will be cursed, the Coronian State of Mind cybernetically leaves, but spiritually stays. This image is more than just simple editing, it has been imbued with my energy. See you on the channel, fellow cultists.

TAKE A BEER! CORONA-CHAN IS GREAT!

It will take a couple years to really find out just how bad this is, but this combined with the economic collapse will kill a whole lot of people. Consider this: the bioweapon itself doesn't have to kill billions of people, all it has to do is destabilize the global supply chain and start causing mass shortages.... that takes care of the rest. And I think THAT was the goal all along. Global Economic Reset. Today (((the elites))) think there are too many people and that threatens their control over planetary resources. So they naturally have to depopulate the globe so they don't threaten all the resources they intend on stealing and hoarding for themselves. This will naturally cause chaos and wars, but they have their bunkers to flee to.

I highly doubt this happened without the kikes wanting it to. It might not go 100% their way once loosed, but in my analysis they know they have antight enough grip on the state, media, healthcare, military/law enforcement etc. that it could never get too out of control for them to handle. And I agree the inner circle has no problem sacrificing their lesser cousins, the everyday average jew on the street if it means accomplishing higher goals. I just hope the economic fallout is enough to stop third world gimmigration into white nations, but I have a bad feeling it's a ploy to just push full bore marxism with the massive job loss and still continue to flood in shitskins while the average goy is completely disempowered and totally dependent on the state. On the other hand it might create the right conditions for a new NSDAP tier movement, but I have a feeling that's why they set up and then knocked down the Alt Right, to minimize the chance of such a thing happening.

I might be a depressive, discontented faggot but I also know that NYC's numbers are high just due to being a huge city/metro. Percentage wise very low kill count. But srsly anon I wanna be friends, I just dont think we're going to get a dramatic kill count or food riots, just long ass gibs lines to drag the middle class into 3rd world shitskin levels of existence to eliminate "priviledge" or some such shit.

Ignore all bugmen.

These last few days have been pretty tame, silent, and boring. I don't think many know what it means, if anything at all. Only thing is certain, is that all sigint silence is perhaps more terrorizing to most than even empty streets and dancing lights/noises in the sky.

MCDONALDS IN SINGAPORE CLOSED - INDEFINITELY

<https://www.channelnewsasia.com/news/singapore/covid-19-mcdonalds-singapore-extends-closure-of-restaurants-12691502>

>SINGAPORE: Fast food chain McDonald's Singapore has extended its closure after it was initially set to reopen on May 5, the restaurant said in a Facebook post on Thursday (Apr 30).

>McDonald's did not specify when its stores would reopen, but said they would be closed for "just a little longer" in light of the ongoing COVID-19 situation.

>It explained that under the essential services framework, it would be allowed to restart operations from May 4, but decided not to. It first suspended restaurant operations on Apr 19.

Yeah I think that is the answer. I mean still keep your finger to the pulse of the chan boards especially if a big spike or happening event does go down and we need to rush back into hivemind mode, but other than that I think this method of communication and the "red pilling" phase is over. While we shouldn't vacate entirely we do need to transition into just starting local little groups with like minded friends and family.

The beginning is now over, we have all been red pillled. Now we have to move into the next phase as the world really does fall to shit. Hopefully by organizing our own things we'll be able to slowly start growing and eventually networking IRL. Or if you don't want to do IRL shit look for ways to get involved in making media content or supporting someone who does. Sitting around the net wanking won't get us anywhere at this point, we have to start doing.

Pic related is coming, even though it may take a decade or more. As the economic effects of this wipe out much of the general populations' finances, more and more people will once again be amenable to red pills and conversion, which is truly the most important thing in these stages we are going into. If you already have the early start with a little group going you will have your shit together that much more and people will be that much more likely to look up to you and be receptive to your message.

Even if board activity drops off that's not necessarily a bad thing if it means we are starting to go out into the world, or other parts of cyberspace, to begin the next phase as the world change rapidly and dramatically these next couple years and coming decade. Don't even think of it in a negative black pill way, think of it in a white pillled way of now the next stage has begun. We've done what work we can on here, and while it's still good to have some presence and check in, it's more important to begin doing tangible things at this point in the game.

You can tell the few (that are left on the site) who have done this and you can feel their cold-anger has fully developed. They don't engage in idle bullshit, or try to defend against morons. They plan, they share knowledge, they debate outcomes with evidence, and are rarely startled. You want that cold anger. Yep, Bitchute or Minds.com or maybe Dlive.tv, those are the most popular outside of YT. And the only new decent channels (news-worthy) you can actually find on there are next to none because YT censored their whole search algorithm to block ALL independent channels out. YT is basically cable TV now sadly. Once the DIY tip channels go, it'll be utterly hopeless and dead to me. BrFAG you better not go, you will be sorely missed.

Niggermod was the only mod I regularly kept in contact with. Dunno why he porked the thread up but I hope to catch up with him again one day on one of the bunkers.

At this point there isn't much to lose moderating here aside from this thread and a few others, so I think old /pol/ style/less overt NSmodding as was done in the past will be coming back in to play until I am no longer able to. This latest loli mess (of all things on /pnd/.. jeepers) and admission by owner that they don't care about /v/ (and likely other boards) was enough to send the message. As niggermod said, both of us have been trying to steer this place back to /pol/ within the cucked 'don't be political while modding' rule we have to follow. But it's not possible to do [/pol/ reborn here] so I feel but there isn't much left to lose. I'll stick around as long as possible, sorry this bullshit and drama has disrupted the thread/board so much.

I think a lot of anons are a bit busy now, lol, getting their shit together finally and prepping. As they should be. I've been busy lately too, so I haven't been on as much, just to TXT post news once in a while. Hope you anons enjoy what I have to serve, I do my best (hope you don't mind conspiracy, I post that stuff too).

They will probably use that info to create an even more deadly strain rather than the cure, ordinary people are screwed either way. Biological weapon MAD is the least funny way to go. It's questionable is it her who modified it, she is probably claiming that to get leverage in negotiations, this was most likely made by a larger team, with non-Chinese (((collaborators))) as well.

But I'm starting to doubt the virus narrative more and more as I know several people who tested positive and their spouses tested negative (even after they were tested twice). The symptoms could be caused by something else. Or some people are resistant to it for some reason. Or there is something activating it in some people and not in others. Or the testing kits are entirely unreliable. A lot of unknowns, and living in the clown world is not helping.

I know two people who have had it. One earlier on, another one's son I know has it now, in the hospital. Both are alive. The first guy never knew he had it at first because Corona wasn't such a big thing yet in the US (at the time).

Although, it was very bad from stories I have heard from him. High fever, bad coughing, shakes, cold and hot flashes, trouble breathing at times too. It subsided after a while and he's back to normal. The second person I know is currently in a hospital, don't know if he was put on a ventilator or not. I'll soon find out within due time what happens to him.

From the rumors and news that has been coming out my speculation is this bioweapon rapidly mutates and it's mutations vary, effecting different people in various ways. It may have been a bioweapon to cull and control populations for some kind of 'New World' cult (((Jews)))!

>How did everything go to shit so fast? Just a few months ago it seemed like we were on top of the world

A lot of anons just got excited at the prospect of some huge event, only to find out even the virus and ensuing economic fallout is going to be a slow burn.

Anons were hopped up and on top of the world because they suddenly thought years worth of events were going to happen in months. And honestly ya, this is the dawn of a new decade, meaning that it is in fact the end of an old era and the beginning of a new one. Every new beginning comes from some other beginnings' end.

I actually view the whole thing sort of like this. First, there were the big red pills and the creating of /pol/ boards and communities. Then red pills went mainstream and came into both real life and internet politics. Then Trump got elected as a partial result of that and a lot of anons were super excited, only for it to turn out like it did. Democracy and voting failed even when our ideas had broken into the mainstream. So voting didn't work. For any feds reading this is not an endorsement or condoning of violence, just an analysis of events: Then came the shootings that culminated in Tarrant, the exact kind of violent "uprising" so many had fantasized for so long, yet it did absolutely dick and most normalfags don't even remember him, and it's fuel for more anti-white propaganda and legislation. So now both voting and violence didn't work, so anons are really in a rut, and of course 8chan is shut down. Then a weaker form of it returns, and gets re-energized by the virus, only for anons to get disappointed once again when they realize it's not going to be this huge singular flash point they want it to be. Basically everything has been realistically applied and yet nothing has changed, and the two conventional approaches both flopped. The correct answer is to just continue different approaches, what we really need are builders and people who want to construct things, not people who want "events," or dare I say it, "happenings." Basically we need to shift focus into real life projects, and the fact that the state and authorities are going to have way too much on their hands going forward with more dramatic or pressing things to want to van us for meet ups and online videos. We need to create our own little separate social structures and just start trying to become as independent as possible from a state and media that has literally targeted us. I actually think this will be a positive thing in the sense that it may cause more anons to stop shit posting all day and go out into the real world to change things, meet up, convert people, etc. The world is going to change a lot in the new 20's and we need to be ready to exploit it. Take everything you've learned, all your red pills and preps and /fit/ness and go out into the world and begin proselytizing and building. And we can still keep in touch here and some other places too. I will see you anons out there.

I agree in a lot of ways, the best way forward is prepping for the goal of self-sufficiency and eventually defecting from normal society to create our own lifestyles (outside city life). That is actually what I have been working so hard over two decades to do. Today, I could leave this world behind if I had to, and rely on my expanded garden and some livestock like chickens, rabbits and of-course fishing and hunting too. I also personally know a couple farmers and a rancher too (very lucky I do because I get wholesale for a good price). So I have freezer boxes filled with meat. I'm expecting this NWO Zog governmental system will have its place, but many of us won't have it, will defect and live on our own without it (off-grid if we have to).

That is the thing though. The goal is to wrangle you, not let you live on with your life as long as you don't disturb anyone. You're not going to be left alone as demonstrated by the fact that the police knew about and raided the Amish throwing a party. That is a very decent example of people establishing themselves off the grid and yet they still went for them.

> Not allowed to speak well of Trump here.

Yes, I've noticed that. I once suggested that the Trump administration may actually be working against the Kike-World-Order, but was accused of 17th-letter faggotry and banned. I do love this place no homo, but it's disconcerting that I'm not permitted to openly question and discuss politics. The normies won't allow me to say nice things about Hitler, and /Pol/sters won't allow me to say nice things about Trump. I guess people really gives a fuck about the truth if it threatens their preconceptions.

But it's been slipping since the the internet began providing non-sanctioned communications for people like us. (((They))) have tried to counter this instability through new implementations, like Kikebook and Jewgle, but it's not working as well as they wanted. Our numbers are growing, and (((they))) are all getting pozz'd.

> Hopes things collapse, allowing human nations to reemerge

Me too. But I recognize that the shape of things to come is heavily dependent upon the capriciousness of politicians. This is why analysis and discussion of the administration is so useful, and necessary, and why I'm so disappointed that /pnd/ doesn't allow for it.

> Supports conditions for an NSDA-tier movement, but laments the false-flag of the Alt-right

Nothing calling itself "socialism" is going to succeed among non-faggots - America's right-wing will not support it, ever. But that right-wing definitely needs new direction, as it has only ever traveled leftwards. An alternative is necessary, but nothing linked to Unser Seliger Adolf will succeed. The brainwashing will not permit consideration of who he really was, what he really did, or why he really did it. People must be introduced to the final solution through another means.

Typically rural police leave people alone as long as they don't behave in a belligerent manner. Many cops & sheriffs still support our Second Amendment rights and are not bad cops. Honestly this surprised me when they targeted an Amish family, seems something the commies would do. Don't know the full story behind it though, maybe it was the State government who pressured them to harass an innocent family? It's still wrong though.

Not only do children catch it but they are only now just beginning to display the illness (their immune systems allowed them a longer resistance to the virus than adults). They are going to be falling ill and dying soon similar to adults who have it.

Remember it is Airborne AIDS.

It needed a level 4 bioweapons lab to contain it.

Most likely it is an ELE since it utilizes AIDS (thanks Fauci) but spreads indiscriminately and so much faster without the need for degenerate behavior.

Im investing in machinery and tools, not in stocks and bonds; if thats what you mean.

I only need to look at the Japanese, with their distinct culture, way of life and honour to realise that there are people we can share our future with. There is merit in all peoples embracing national socialism. We can accept that we are all different, we can use the European surplus to help other people. I still am in favour of that highly militant, technocratic meritocracy, built around the ideas of radical traditionalism - hellbent on the preservation of ones own kind and culture at the detriment of all others. But shortterm i came to realise that the hatred between the races is being exploited. Once that pure hatred is gone, and has shifted to the more natural realisation of our differences, a lot of power that lies in the age ol' divide and conquer will die with it. By some divine humour we are stuck with multiple peoples on this planet. And conquering the stars wont be done with all these different peoples. I realise that much.

I might have been influenced by Mosley, who in his way of writing and speaking, comes across more friendly. Its not so much cowardice as an understanding that harsh rhetoric alienates a large sum of your people. If you want an awakening of your people, you need to convince people. Doing it too forcefully will not work. Its much more effective if people realise certain truths on their own. I think thats partly why generation zyklonB is as racist as they are; they have to LIVE with diversity, rather than read about the unicorns, rainbows and prosperity that was promised when enforcing it.

Perhaps im just too dumb, i wish i was smarter at times. But im just a wagecuck stuck in a world that is not of my design, not to my liking and detrimental to my people - desperately trying to find means to convince other people like myself there needs to be change.

CoronaChan teaches my people that the system we have now, the system they desperately cling too and the system they think they want to return to, is absolute and utter shit. Without an awakening, there is no united people - and thats what we need most.

Why am i still rambling? I dont know - sorry for the blogpost.

Heil corona chan.

Exactly. If we can coexist with animals then other races are feasible. That doesn't mean intermingling of course, just that going "kill everything that isn't me" is unnecessary, as well as being potentially unnatural or immoral.

I'd probably go even farther; I don't know what's the deal with glorifying the whites going on around here. Thinking other races are dumb is perfectly reasonable, the problem is caucasians are not an exception. As a white person living in an overwhelmingly white country I can assure everyone out there: whites are fucking retarded. Speaking from lifelong experience. The difference is that their stupidity manifests in less obvious ways than that of nigs or pajeets. Which is in fact a bad thing, as it prevents many people from noticing the issue, as evidenced by this thread for example.

Agreed on diversity. Of course people have been traveling the world, sometimes settling down elsewhere, for millennia. But this natural process is VERY different to fucking globohomo.

As a fellow white man, I fully agree with these posts. It was only thanks to Jews, who were always the lone light in this world of darkness, that I got to realize the errors of my ways and embrace multiculturalism and racial diversity. There is absolutely nothing special in white people, and we can all coexist together in a brave new world led by Jewish intellectuals who only want what's best for us humble goyim. We should cooperate with all the races in order to create a more equal world. We should give our surplus wealth to starving children in Africa, because they are our brothers. This wonderful virus created by some mysterious forces will only help usher the idea that the world was simply not ready for until now, digital communism. nothing but Qoomers and glowniggers remain

i don't even know what the fuck am i still doing lurking here, maybe it's just habit for i no longer harbor even the slightest hope for the future of this site the time has come to move to greener pastures, and hopefully the winds of the world wide web shall gather us together once more

I don't think each individual anime title counts as an achievement. We all like the borderline pedo art, mosquito coils and flash drives but I doubt post westernization Japan approaches 15% of the U.S. alone, even less so global historical achievement in the last 5k years. Also pre-buddhism Japan was functionally non-existent in the global scene and that did not really change even half a millennium after that.

The time has come for us to move out into the world. A critical mass of us have been redpilled on image boards and other dissident media. We now have enough people to build political infrastructure and start becoming an independent force disconnected from the system. What we need to be doing is networking with our fellow redpilled anons, creating self-sustaining communities/towns/etc. and reaching out to disaffected normies both IRL and through our alternative media network. Look at Orania, that's the gold standard for all of us. They are a growing ethnostate of 1,700 whites in a literal nigger country with a nigger president who wants them all dead. If they can get Orania in a shithole like SA, then surely the rest of us can start building mini-Oranias all over the West. They can't van us all, Wacos every week will get even the 2A fags to do something. If we start networking and redpilling local counties and mayors we can start setting up little Oranias all over the place. There's plenty of wide open territory in America alone, from Middle America, to the upper Northeast, to the Deep South, to rural California, etc. The same is true in Canada, Australia, and New Zealand as well. Provinces like Queensland and Alberta are basically ethnostates already, they just need a little push to cross the line. Even in Europe, there are still plenty of places to set up Oranias, such as the plains of Scotland, or the rural farmlands in France and Germany, the arctic tundras in Norway/Iceland/Finland/etc. At this point we're just wasting our time shitposting on image boards. If we diverted our efforts away from online bantz and towards meeting and working with each other we could probably have several dozen Oranias, each with populations of a couple thousand, all over the Occident. The time is now anons, enough of us are redpilled that we can start changing things. Not with thunder and fury, but silently and thoroughly as the kikes did to us.

I am aware that over 99% of "human achievements" can be attributed to a handful of extraordinary individuals, not races or cultures, or "humanity" as a whole, for that matter. Whites did not invent the radio, Tesla did. Jews did not discover relativity, Einstein did. It goes all the way back. Humanity did not invent the wheel, the axe or the knife, they were all invented by individuals. Another thing is that a lot of what you see in caucasian culture has been invented by other cultures independently, maybe caucasians did invent 99% of things we have now, but the numbers basically add up to much more than 100%. And even if we did invent more things, how much of it is thanks to jewish funding we had? They stole your money to

Yet another thing is just what do we consider to be achievements. Many of them are simply changes, not necessarily for the better. Caucasians love imposing their will on the world around them, even if the world works perfectly fine without their interference. It has more to do with showing off or securing a feeling of being in control than with actually fixing things that need to be fixed. These days it's all the same, just with bureaucracy for its own sake. Ordnung muss sein, even if it only breaks everything.

The last thing is that there's much more to life and real progress than just tech, and we're not good at paying attention to it, myself included, though I'm learning. I suppose people would argue that, you know, jews did it by destroying our culture. And they'd be right, to an extent. But we've been already doing it literally millennia ago, if on a smaller scale. Aaand when I read stuff alt-righters say, it's not any better at all. They won't solve any problems at that rate, they will at best substitute new ones for the old ones.

Yes, basically the entire medicine and chemistry in medieval Europe was invented by arabs, we've been using their 10 century books over half a millennium later, I wouldn't be surprised if it were more than 3%. Though tbh you can't really measure this stuff in numbers. Anyway it's a real shame the arabs turned into what they are now. Personally I'd say the Japanese weren't all that good in the past, but nevermind. (On the other hand we could use some of their social concepts today.)

I think what happened (at least in America) is that as real-world discussion becomes more redpilled, anonymous boards lose a lot of their appeal. A redpilled IRL discussion is far more rewarding than an anonymous one, IF you can get it. And if you CAN get it, why would you spend as much time on a site where most people just call you a kike instead of reading the data and ideas you have to add? Real people can call you "Nazi" but you can find people who won't. There are masses of BOOMERS who delve into levels of conspiratorial thought they never have before, for crying out loud.

>surely the rest of us can start building mini-Oranias all over the West
My plan is to plunge myself into the heart of my local municipality; it's already almost all white, and I want to keep it that way. It is easier to defend a white town than build a new one from scratch, so goes my logic. Best approach is to do multiple approaches at once, of course. You build Orania 2.0, I'll try localized political solution. Whoever wins benefits the race, whoever doesn't succeed can switch tactics.

>As for levels of achievement nobody is throwing around metrics so I'll give some. Here's the number of patent applications per capita by country. You give a good example but patent applications might be deceiving, since there's no guarantee that the patent represents something functional and secondly because adding or changing a single component from a patent might conditionally be recognized as another patent, especially in the field where nips are particularly good, which is electronics; still for a country that has nearly as many people as America has Whites you don't see an equal amount of pioneering breakthroughs like planetary probes, space shuttles, ICBMs, fighter jets and stuff that even multi-ethnic Slavs at their lowest managed to achieve. Most importantly you are comparing a unicultural Japan with 21st century mongrelists where White people are actively prevented from entering higher education.

I'm not one to shit on epidemiology entirely, but that's the study of epidemics.
An epidemiologist isn't a virologist. They're basically mathematicians who know a bit about pathogens.

Genetics isn't something the vast majority of them are educated on. I think this

>I doubt they have the potential for true pioneering White people had before the fall of the West

I keep emphasizing per-capita because the Japanese have a much smaller population than Caucasians. They have a very similar progression through history, about 200 years behind Caucasians once you get to the feudal periods. They developed honor cultures within the same span of time too. But when they have contact with the outside? They modernized and surpassed several white countries. Their utter dominance in the Russo-Japanese War is an excellent example of their ability to innovate. If they had a population similar to the US, they probably could have won the Pacific War too. They have an active space program and are pretty big on astronomy today and looking out into the unknown. They have legends of adventurous brave heroes and explorers who travel to realms unknown.

Here are the "dream jobs" of Japanese children vs American children. This isn't scientific because I can't conveniently find proper research on it, but we see that Japanese children are, at minimum, more adventurous than American kids under ZOG. Nowadays the top pick in America is "youtuber/vlogger"

So I reject the hypothesis that the Nips simply wouldn't go out and explore and pioneer. Would it be at the same rate as whites? No, no races are equal in any contest. But whether it is more or less than whites, it is certainly comparable. Yes but in my opinion because they selectively copied all of them and tailoring the most functional syncretic model whereas white countries build up on previous ccultural momentum.

>If they had a population similar to the US, they probably could have won the Pacific War too.

I was about to say that it would be irrelevant given the k/d ratio of the Japs but I was pleasantly surprised to find out that I was more than wrong after a swift look at the wiki where it says that for every dead Samurai there were almost two dead Anglo-chink zogbots. Either Anglos relied too much on expendable chinkbugs or (((Hollywood))) greatly exaggerates the rate their heroic golem slaves gunned down the "slant-eyed nazi savages".

I'd counter that white countries had the benefit of copying off of other white countries, an edge that Japan had less of due to a combination of smaller geographic size and isolation, and the aforementioned lower population. They could grab some from China but their people seem to have been less innovative (I could be wrong on that though, ancient chinese may be much different from the modern ones).

>That K/D ratio

Holy shit I wasn't expecting that given the bonsai charge meme, but Chinks are notoriously bad at warfare so it would be a big factor.

Fun fact: Japan is the only country to have deployed a submarine aircraft carrier with anything more than a recon plane, carrying 3 attacker float-planes.

Japs drew inspiration from white countries. Instead of seeking to destroy them out of sheer jealousy like the kikes were doing, they chose to elevate themselves to those standards instead. And it worked. But there is a huge gap between non-white races as well. There is something separating the Japanese from the rest of Asians, maybe their relative isolation (and thus lack of racial poz), maybe some common ancestry with whites, or simply the environmental conditions. In any case, they are one of very rare non-white races who could be considered honorary Aryans. But they were still nowhere near what the best of whites were capable of. There is a relatively large gap between white nations as well.

When it comes to creativity, high culture, science (overall) and aesthetic appeal, no other race in the world ever came close to whites. Of course, you can invest all your points into one area and then end up as kikes, but that doesn't seem to be a good approach. When it comes to tech, Japs took what whites created and then worked hard to perfect it. But they did not add much content-wise. Yes, in the long run the greatest potential of Japan is neither their intelligence or discipline but their ethos that enabled our White Man's Burden mentality not to go wasted with them. Despite having suffered some of the worst brutalities the White man has committed they still never treated us with animosity for the past and retained their healthy admiration towards us that helped them elevate themselves above any current individual White nation.

The Chinese don't care who we vote for, they don't want the average American to be armed to the teeth, well prepared and self-sufficient. Nor would they want the US Military to be well stocked, oiled up and ready for any legitimate threat to the nation. Nor would any of our (((allies))) so consider that. China, or any other bad actor, only wants to exploit the weak and gullible. And that is what has gotten us into this rut quite frankly. We need a hard turn towards nationalism (but not blind patriotism) and self-reliance in order to survive in the future.

Dog and bat and bunny saw the passing out parade at Wuhan wet mart

It was a long march from the lab

The sick battalion was the next to tour and it was me who drew the cough

We killed some chinks before we left
And SARS1 lined the footpath as we marched out to the free
This clipping from a paper shows we're made from HIV
And there's me in me capsid with me doctored spike protein
God help me
I was COVID-19
From Ruby riding cruise ships to the crusties as Kai Tak
I'd been in and out of boomers now for months
And we made their lungs a home, herpes and swine flu on the lockers
And an Asian orange sunset for the scrubs
And can you tell me, doctor, why there still is no vaccine?
And night time's just a boomer's fart and a nothing burger's scream?
And what's this rash that comes and goes, can you tell me what it means?
God help me
I was COVID-19

Chinkbugistan has been a thieverous neocolonialist, imperialist tyranny and an open threat to its neighbours, the rest world and even its BRICS and marxist "allies" for the last few decades and still they managed to exploit the world's complete inaction and impotent bitching and become its unofficial hegemony. >COVID-19 - exploring the implications of long-term condition type and extent of multimorbidity on years of life lost: a modelling study [version 1; peer review: awaiting peer review]

>Conclusions: Deaths from COVID-19 represent a substantial burden in terms of per-person YLL, more than a decade, even after adjusting for the typical number and type of LTCs found in people dying of COVID-19. The extent of multimorbidity heavily influences the estimated YLL at a given age. More comprehensive and standardised collection of data on LTCs is needed to better understand and quantify the global burden of COVID-19 and to guide policy-making and interventions.

>Spike mutation pipeline reveals the emergence of a more transmissible form of SARS-CoV-2

>The mutation Spike D614G is of urgent concern; after beginning to spread in Europe in early February, when introduced to new regions it repeatedly and rapidly becomes the dominant form. Also, we present evidence of recombination between locally circulating strains, indicative of multiple strain infections. These findings have important implications for SARS-CoV-2 transmission, pathogenesis and immune interventions.

The effects vary from person to person as there are thousands, if not hundreds of thousands, of mutations by now all over the globe. Some are worse than others, but it also depends how strong or weak individual immune systems are of the victims. If you get a less deadly strain of this bioweapon mutation and have a healthy immune system you can survive it with relatively low damage done. If you catch a much more deadly strain, you might not end up so lucky! Then factor in those who don't have healthy immune systems, who are malnourished or have pre-existing conditions.... it's a very thorny topic because we are not dealing with one particular virus as it rapidly mutates and has other viral RNA sequences injected into it, making it possible for various degrees of strain. Right now, there could be 50% of the world population that has it, but only a fraction of that have symptoms that show up. Why? Rapid mutations and the fact not all of them are all that severe.

>Wuhan lab worker who disappeared...

>The Telegraph notes the case of Huang Yan Ling, a researcher at the Wuhan Institute of Virology who is rumored to be "patient zero" after having been the first to be diagnosed with the disease.

>Then came her reported disappearance, with her biography and image deleted from the Wuhan Institute of Virology's website.

>On February 16 the institute denied she was patient zero and said she was alive and well, but there has been no proof of life since then, fanning speculation.

-Daily Telegraph

Key dates in the coverup:

>November 9, 2015: Wuhan Institute of Virology publish a study revealing they created a new virus in the lab from SARS-CoV.

>December 6, 2019: Five days after a man linked to Wuhan's seafood market presented pneumonia-like symptoms, his wife contracts it, suggesting human to human transmission.

>December 27: China's health authorities told a novel disease, then affecting some 180 patients, was caused by a new coronavirus.

>December 26-30: Evidence of new virus emerges from Wuhan patient data.

>December 31: Chinese internet authorities begin censoring terms from social media such as Wuhan Unknown Pneumonia.

>January 1, 2020: Eight Wuhan doctors who warned about new virus are detained and condemned.

>January 3: China's top health authority issues a gag order.

>January 5: Wuhan Municipal Health Commission stops releasing daily updates on new cases. Continues until January 18.

>January 10: PRC official Wang Guangfa says outbreak "under control" and mostly a "mild condition".

>January 12: Professor Zhang Yongzhen's lab in Shanghai is closed by authorities for "rectification", one day after it shares genomic sequence data with the world for the first time.

>January 14: PRC National Health Commission chief Ma Xiaowei privately warns colleagues the virus is likely to develop into a major public health event.

>January 24: Officials in Beijing prevent the Wuhan Institute of Virology from sharing sample isolates with the University of Texas.

>February 6: China's internet watchdog tightens controls on social media platforms.

>February 9: Citizen-journalist and local businessman Fang Bin disappears.

>April 17: Wuhan belatedly raises its official fatalities by 1290.

They can't really eliminate all of the 'capitalist' competition without unfairly shutting all of the competition down, can they?

It doesn't really matter at this point. Everyone has so little time left, they should be allowed to do whatever they want and make their own decision in whichever manner of living that they enjoy. There is no reason to 'lock everyone in a cage' while the bugs and kikes proceed with the euthanasia of humanity.

>"I can tell you that there is a significant amount of evidence that this came from that laboratory in Wuhan," Pompeo said, when asked about Trump's claim this week to have seen intelligence confirming the theory that Covid-19 was man-made and did not originate in bats and find its way to humans via a "wet market", as is generally accepted. He did not, of course, say what the evidence was.

>Pompeo added: "The best experts so far seem to think it was man-made. I have no reason to disbelieve that at this point."

>Then the exchange with This Week host Martha Raddatz got confusing, as to what Pompeo does or does not think. This is from ABC's transcript:

>RADDATZ: Your Office of the [Director of National Intelligence] says the consensus, the scientific consensus [is that the virus] was not man-made or genetically modified.

>POMPEO: That's right. I agree with that. Yeah. I've seen their analysis. I've seen the summary that you saw that was released publicly. I have no reason to doubt that that is accurate...

>(CROSSTALK)

>RADDATZ: OK, so just to be clear, you do not think it was man-made or genetically modified?

>POMPEO: I've seen what the intelligence community has said. I have no reason to believe that they've got it wrong.

Endangered species, caged in fright
Shot in cold blood, no chance to fight
The stage is set, now pay the price
And ego boost, don't think twice
Technology, the battle's unfair,
You pull the hammer without a care
Squeeze the trigger that makes you Man,
Pseudo-safari, the hunt is canned
The hunt is canned
All are gone, all but one
No contest, nowhere to run
No more left, only one
This is it, this is the countdown to extinction
Tell the truth, you wouldn't dare
The skin and trophy, oh so rare
Silence speaks louder than words Ignore the guilt and take your turn 'Liars' anagram is lairs
Man you were never even there
Killed a few feet from the cages
Point blank, you're so courageous
So courageous
All are gone, all but one
No contest, nowhere to run
No more left, only one
This is it, this is the countdown to extinction
One hour from now

>In summary, somebody was entangled with the evolution of 2019-nCoV coronavirus. In addition to origins of natural recombination and intermediate host, the killer coronavirus probably originated from a laboratory in Wuhan. Regulations may be taken to relocate these laboratories far away from city center and other densely populated places.

>During the first 5 years, Daszak, with NIH vetting and approval, provided Shi with $599,000 out of a total of $3.1 million in grant funding to use lab sequencing techniques to identify bat coronaviruses that were at high risk of jumping to humans.

>"The reason our grant was renewed for 5 years is because our work is so important in helping prevent pandemics," Daszak says. In its first 5 years, the grant produced a score of papers and advances, including genetic sequences of two bat coronaviruses that have now been used as lab tools to test the antiviral drug remdesivir, which has shown some promise as a treatment for COVID-19.

>"I am shocked by this," says Mark Denison, a Vanderbilt University virologist who launched the lab studies that led to remdesivir's deployment in the current pandemic. "There is no more important research than what EcoHealth Alliance is doing. Our work on Remdesivir absolutely would not have moved forward without it."

Right. Trust no government. They are all crooked cults, alphabet gangs sporting their own logos, pretending to 'serve' and 'protect' the public but behind the scenes? All about cash and power grabbing, taking more private land and dedicating it as their own turf, organized crime via corporate lobbying, insiders with high enough connections become immune from normal laws and can literally get away with murder.... governments are really just gigantic gangs and like any other, you are vetted and your loyalty is tested, and if you fail the test up the latter you get burnt by the higher ups! All corrupted, top down.

Saw that on ZH. Absurd to think that those kind of measures somehow makes cattle car commercial airliners safe to fly in. One person coughs coming to or from the bathroom and bam, half the plane is infected, to say nothing of the massive expensive of retrofitting every active plane. There was a reason Buffet just liquidated all of his airline stock.

New: Emergency Broadcast / Corona-chan Selectively Kills Men with Low Testosterone

Testosterone, a key hormone in the context of COVID-19 pandemic

>Pro-inflammatory cytokines have a central role in the progression of COVID-19 infection. Reduction of cytokine activity and/or their receptors (anti-cytokine therapy), can be useful for treatment. In this context testosterone may downregulate inflammation. As a matter of fact, several studies carried out both in animals and humans showed that hypogonadism is associated with increased pro-inflammatory cytokines and that testosterone treatment reduces IL-1 β , IL-6, and TNF- α [16]. Furthermore, the association between an increase of pro-inflammatory state and decline in testosterone is often observed in aging men [17] and in men with stable coronary artery disease [18]. Based on the above considerations, the hypothesis arises that testosterone may have a role in the cascade of events leading to progression of COVID-19 infection due to the cytokine storm.

Suppression of ACE2 expression by inflammatory cytokines accompanied by the decrease of androgens and estrogens of the elderly, may establish a negative correlation between ACE2 expression and COVID-19 mortality [19].

>Measuring testosterone levels may be recommended at the time of an identified COVID-19 positive patient. At present data on testosterone can be collected systematically at one or more institutions. If values are low, use of testosterone may be considered to reduce the associated pulmonary syndrome, thus preventing progression to severe COVID-19 disease where pro-inflammatory cytokines play a major role. In a further selection of patients for testosterone treatment, avoidance of enrolling patients in whom therapy with the hormone is contraindicated, should be taken into account. A proper randomized trial with testosterone should be then designed.

>how do they still have that big a budget when they're obviously incompetent to this degree

The general MO in government is to throw more money at it if there's a problem. If they streamlined their operation and became hyperefficient they'd probably get their budget severely cut, so those funds could be allocated somewhere else to be mismanaged. It's a common enough trope that middling bureaucrat types are always scrambling to find ways to blow the last of their department's budget at the end of the fiscal year, lest their belts be tightened for the next cycle.

The problem there is more to do with the conditions being right. For your guy to get in, at minimum you'd need a combination of global pandemic and economic devastation destroying the world combined with a resurgence in nationalist thought first. Oh wait.

Pic related, though realistically 1919 maps to today, not 1928. It's going to take time and possibly another world war first. In historical terms Happenings always take years, they don't ever happen out of nowhere overnight. People tend to not notice even when they're in the thick of something seismic like that, since on a day-to-day level they get used to the new normal and their daily lives don't change much. It's only after The Happening has ended that we can look back and say 'ah, that was a big event after all'.

Garbage political piece published as a peer reviewed rag. A disgrace and humiliation to all the chinks involved in such lies, but par the course. The RaTG13 was likely recombined, and then passed through serial selection/gain-of-function under targeted development. Until papers demonstrate direct answer to this, they are deliberately avoiding the question (via red herrings and non-sequiturs).

Setting aside the assertions of recombination and serial nurturing, "SARS-CoV WIV1" is less similar than "CoV raTG13" to SARS-CoV-2. Exactly the reason big governments never work well for society.

Easy solution. DIY entry point fortification. Make it nearly impossible for burglars to B&E. Install a katy bar for each entry door, an extra deadbolt (you should have two or three deadbolt locks for each door w/ long strike plates for the doorjamb to make the doors kick-proof), replace any smaller screws with 3" stainless steel screws to re-enforce everything for the doorjamb, including the door hinges. Very simple, it may cost around $200 to re-enforce a door like that these days and no one is getting in unless they have something that uses extraordinary force.

As for guns, that should be your last line of defense. I can promise you the average nigger is not getting in your home if you fortify your entry doors the right way. If you have glass patio doors, that's another problem and a whole other issue. Those should be knocked out and replaced with standard walling (which is simple expanding out the wall itself and replacing the glass patio doors. Or you could use the frame studs to bolt plywood up against them, which is what some preppers do.

In most rural areas B&E is not much of a threat and when it happens, the police typically will come to your home after you call them, question you about everything and ask you to be a legal witness to the attempted burglary. Be polite to them, tell them what happened, be a legal witness for them too and co-operate. They won't be locking you up for defending your property. Maybe in some parts of Commiefornia they will, but not the case across the rest of America (not yet at least!)

Walls, unless they are brick or stone, and I have seen spicniggers drive a van through these, are only 'fortified' in our minds (the animal aspect of it) because we think of them as impassible since we don't often burst through them. But really what is some drywall, stick framing, insulation and stucco going to do to prevent someone who wants to get in? Nothing.

Houses are not cool like caves and castles. We have no fortified place to run anymore to escape our enemies predation. And that is the kikes joy...that they have overthrown our defenses and left us open prey to anyone who desires our murder.

I am not disagreeing with you, just hoping to provide you with a more accurate perspective. The only real solution is to totally purge (the earth) our neighborhoods of these animals.

Anonymous 05/04/20 (Mon) 16:16:37 ID: aef22a No.103755

Well walls themselves can be re-enforced too, but of-course that takes money, hard work and time which most don't have the means to do. It's not very likely you are going to see a vehicle rammed through your home by any typical B&E attempt. Unless that is, in a SHTF scenario, where they know they can get away with it and know you have something they desperately need. Even B&E pros won't do that shit, if they determine it to be too risky, they'll just find an easier target (and there are plenty of them out there). Some criminal who knows the game will not want to take the risks of being shot at if they see someone is clearly prepared to mitigate B&E. If burglars see bolts w/ thick washers mounted from the outside of entry points, it's pretty fucking clear those folks in that home ain't fucking around and are not their normal Joe sixpack to rob. And in any event you got caught up on a 'red flag' order, even SWAT teams would proceed with extreme precautions lol.

> Nigger women, recall, are at above replacement fertility

This hasn't been true since 2008. As a matter of fact, even hispanics have dipped below replacement fertility in the U.S. as of 2016, with a TFR of 1.95 today. If it weren't for immigration America's population would be declining even with all the diversity in the country. The only demographic groups that are really growing in America are the Amish/Menonites/Hutterites/etc. Also there are some segments of very evangelical Christians in the South and Midwest who are around 2.5 TFR, but they are restricted to certain counties and are not representative of their demographic as a whole.

In short, every demographic group in America is dying out, nobody is having enough kids to replace themselves except for the Amish and their friends.

The rate of decline is also important anon. All non-whites groups besides asians are declining in fertility faster than whites are, and asians are the only group below whites. In another decade the U.S. TFR could be sitting at 1.3-1.5 among all groups. If anything, it seems as if non-whites, and hispanics in particular, are especially susceptible to the neoliberal feminist meme. It took them 75 years to subvert white women, but a lot of these mexicans have abandone their entire catholic culture in a single generation. It seems total isolation as the

You have to keep in mind that this is from 2018. At the end of that year the TFR for America was 1.73, and at the end of 2019 it was 1.7 exactly. I'd be willing to bet that pacific islanders today are probably now under the replacement rate., by a very slight margin. We don't have the ethnic data beyond 2018, but I would say it's probably something like 2.0 for pacific islanders, 1.9 for hispanics, 1.75 for blacks 1.6 for whites, and 1.5 for asians.

However, expect Schlomo to start targeting the Amish pretty soon, because with their TFR of 6-8 there will unironically be more Amish than blacks in America in less than 100 years, since their population has been doubling every 20 years for the last 200 years. Furthermore, the Amish retention is ~95%, and their fertility hasn't dropped at all since the early 1800's. The Anabaptist community is a pretty big whitepill, since they are literally peak traditionalists in extended families completely self-sufficient from ZOG, and growing at a nigger pace.

But yeah, I've noticed lots of nationalists seem to be unaware of declining non-white fertility in white countries. The same thing is happening in the EU, where 2nd and 3rd generation mudslimes are only having 2 kids on average instead of 5. It seems like gender theory is mind poison to all women, not just white women. The washinton poo article expressed only worry over spic fertility decline. Stupidly, I assumed at least that bit was in earnest. You're right about them targetting the Amish. You'll notice they're obsessed with them, eg Maher. Nobody else thinks about them much.

Nigger women are animals, of course they procreate, so do rabbits. Our women are half to blame. Yes, they are mentally children and therefore cannot take full blame for their behavior. But they lack strong men to teach and lead them. And just like children, they become obstinate and 'decide' to not want children, to punish the weak men pursuing them or married to them. And no, our women do not prefer blacks. In fact, they're more racially loyal than those same weak men, who give up because mommy taught them it is bad to hit women and daddy taught them a woman has equal rights bullshit.

Take control, within a generation they're in line. Shun the whores. Get your loins in check and don't go after whores. Show there's a premium on demure character, well above superficial beauty (which often isn't beauty at all, just a filter or make-up or both). Teach young men and boys this, act like strong elders. It's not rocket science.

I think there is a severe lack. But it's not all our fault. The deck is stacked against us. Take income, nobody can live off of one salary anymore, at least in Europe. They pushed the women into the workforce and wages stagnated meaning production 'had' to move to China, or else nothing would be affordable anymore. It only accelerated the spiral and meant more women had to work, even promote so they could raise the family income.

Once production is local, and fair wages for the head of the family can be established, women can stay home. Right now that is years away, sadly. Those of us who can, should buy local goods, made by honest men, and pay that premium. You're seeding when you can afford to do that. One more of our men who can have a woman stay home and raise his children. If your government does not want to support men like us, then we should do it ourselves.

It is not about the names. It is about EcoHealth(with approval of NIH) funding Zheng-Li's gain of function research she published during a time there was a ban on gain of function research funding by the NIH. The ban existed for the exact same shit the world has to deal with now - China's regular fuck ups with viruses be it in general or in labs in particular. These are grounds for investigation. There is no smoking gun to be found on public research after China censoring, but it sure is funny that the similarity in % from Zheng-Li's experiments in comparison to wuflu went up over the last years.

Yes, they are already firing up the media machine to slander all Anabaptists, and especially Amish, as the new hate group. For awhile their numbers were insignificant, but now they've grown large enough to start having power as a political group (even though they don't want any power and just want to be left alone, kikes can't understand this). So yes, as the Amish population gets to be over a million in 20 years or so expect calls to start filling their communities with drag queen story hour and gender studies lessons.

Who knows. Guns are banned here. Everybody needs to scan their personal identity card before entering malls. There are facial recognition / temperature scanners at entrances everywhere.

There were a few incidents where people got irritated with the measures or 'social distancing ambassadors' (really - dickheads going around reminding you to wear your mask or they will fine you $300) and attacked them but that's about it.

Since I don't know of a good hub to discuss occult things, I might as well post this here:

I suspect someone in the Aut-chan federation or Goon clique may be using magick to manifest a splitting of the imageboard communities

I say this for the following reasons:

>The timing of codemonkey's loli-law-related announcement and then the preceeding FUDstorm went conveniently in favor of those splitting the community. (as fucking nuts as both they and it are).

>Mark's word was treated as fact first, before it was revealed he was a lazy fucking faggot who didn't do his job- which was to do news-shit and MIGRATE BOARDS... So when it comes to problems, mark was part of the problem from the start.

>BRFag, the only reason /cvg/ isn't total shit, decides to leave /cvg/ for YOUTUBE of all fucking things- out of fucking nowhere. Dammit BRFag, selling pieces of your soul & free will for whatever power you got was never a good idea.

>Someone under the psuedonym of Esther M. Aronowitz is trying his hardest to C&D multiple imageboards by emailing providers, lying about CP and/or posting CP to get it removed in the first place. My guess, probably dolphinfag.

I'm fucking tired of this "ERMAGERD HAPPENING, LET'S SPLIT UP GANG AND FALL INTO THE MONSTER'S CLAWS YET AGAIN!" that paranoiafags and shills are doing, it's fucking annoying.

So effectively, they are using it for massive over-reaching control grab. Not that SG ain't already a bit of a policy state as such, this is getting a bit ridiculous.

This is interesting because early on they had a lid on the mess before the shitskins started spreading it more, now it's a great opportunity for the goyim-in-charge to cause issues for low-level goyim.

A second wave of potent new antibody drugs developed specifically to neutralize COVID-19 offer a promising combination of speed, safety, and likelihood of being effective (testing in June-August 2020, use afterwards). A third wave of vaccines for long-term victory over the virus will offer seasonal or multi-year immunity to COVID-19 (testing in March 2020-March 2021, use afterwards). In parallel, reopening of businesses and schools to restore our society and economy (implementation in May-June 2020, lasting until the threat has passed) will use science-driven symptom reporting, virus testing, and personal protective gear to minimize future COVID-19 outbreaks and additional loss of life.

I recommend focusing on the first world. Africa is basically already gone at this point, and most importantly, the crucial targets are in the US, some in Europe and perhaps in Israel, unless it's just there for show.

>>104026

I suspect the problem may be people working with too vague goals, instead of targeting the vitals. Also once you find the weak spot, precisely-formulated intent can do wonders. I'm not implying you, or any other specific person, make this mistake - just stating what I think is true about the majority.

The kikes have been desperately trying to change China into a US/EU style multicultural, liberal, kike-controlled shithole for years now. What are the chances that China views the west as an existential risk and released the virus as response? They were very fast to shut down their country completely (almost as if the outbreak was planned), destroying Hubei is acceptable to them as it makes them look innocent. Also they know the west is too weak to do real shutdowns over extended timeperiods and deal with the virus. In the end China reks a few of their own cities while the west is literally permapozzed with corona and needs a long series of shutdowns depriving the billionaire kikes like soros of shekels and power

COVID-19 MORTALITY RATE VS. MEDIAN AGE

WEEK 19, MAY 2020

DATA COVERAGE, AS PERCENT WORLD POPULATION (7.8B)

74% - 134 COUNTRIES INCLUDED AVERAGE / MEDIAN POP. 42.1M / 37.8M

26% - 64 COUNTRIES EXCLUDED AVERAGE / MEDIAN POP. 31M / 839K

(Notably, populous countries China and Vietnam did not have the required data available.)

NOTES

Location below and to the right of overall trend suggests higher than expected mortality. (Younger populations on the Y axis, experiencing higher mortality on the X axis.)

Location above and to the left of overall trend conversely suggests lower than expected mortality.

Japan has the highest median age, locates far left of overall trend, and did not lockdown.

Sweden did not lockdown, yet places as expected versus trend. The UK locked-down, but has a higher mortality rate than Sweden.

97.9% of world population experienced COVID-19 mortality less than or equal to that of seasonal influenza.

South Korea and Taiwan are two of the world's most densely-populated countries and both have close proximity to the COVID-19 origin of China. Both show extremely low infection rates, mortality and death counts. Both did not materially lockdown.

All of these figures can be expected to rise, as COVID-19's spread continues to play out.

Assuming current fatalities are only 60% of the final total does not significantly affect the percentage of total world population experiencing mortality less than or equal to that of seasonal influenza. Eg, only the UK and France would increase beyond 0.40% (to 0.45% and 0.42% respectively), lowering the total world population experiencing mortality less than or equal to seasonal influenza from 97.9% to 95.5%.

My only question on the chart would be Median age 50 isn't usually in a nursing home. Statistically it looks like this disease is most difficult for the productive pre-retirement ages. If I am reading that correctly...of course this is just a snapshot in time since we have no idea at all about the long term repercussion of the pathogen. It has only been the last week that children began dying of the clotting issues. So, sure, they were 'asymptomatic' but obviously this means nothing in terms of the larger and longer term ravages of the disease.

Sure, we're dealing with one of the least deadly pandemics ever, and people freak out... but they do freak out.

>Patterns of COVID-19 Mortality and Vitamin D: An Indonesian Study

>KEY FINDINGS:•Majority of the COVID-19 cases with insufficient and deficient Vitamin D status died.•The odds of death was higher in older and male cases with pre-existing condition and below normal Vitamin D levels.•When controlling for age, sex, and comorbidity, Vitamin D status is strongly associated with COVID-19 mortality.•Randomized controlled trials are warranted to investigate the role of vitamin D supplementationon COVID-19 outcomesand to establish the underlying mechanisms.

>Interestingly, majority of the cases had normal Vitamin D status (49.7%),most of them(93.0%) are still hospitalized. Of the 213 cases with insufficient Vitamin D status, majority (49.1%) died. The same distribution was observed in Vitamin D deficient cases where majority (46.7%) died due to the disease.

>In week 15 (ending 12 April), the highest number of deaths in this millennium was recorded in Sweden, according to Statistics Sweden's preliminary statistics on deaths in Sweden.

>The preliminary statistics are now updated up to and including 24 April. In week 15, the number of deaths registered was 2 505 (on average 358 per day). This is almost 150 deaths more than the second highest number of deaths in a week, which was 2 364 deaths in the first week of 2000.

>This is followed by weeks 14 and 16 this year, with 2 354 and 2 310 deaths respectively.

Even IF china isnt under zog control, why wouldnt they just release a virus that actually kills. Them releasing something with say 30-40% death rate would paralyze the west in a way that they could never retaliate and china could take over easily as a new world government. All this did is it created a minor economic depression, that also affects them. Also they will be facing sanctions from pretty much everyone, so in fact it will be the worst for them.

> Them releasing something with say 30-40% death rate

Because something with such death rates would not stay asymptomatic for long and it would also provoke an immediate reaction from local ZOGs. There's a good reason there have never been filovirid epidemics out of africa. Slowboiling adversaries' economies with perpetual quarantines warranted by something highly durable and undetectable is the perfect realistically available bioweapon. That said I agree with the completely ZOG'd status of the PRC, at best there might be some Han nationalist sentiments within hoping to weaponize kikery for their cause and hoping to outjew the jew but that would not only be a fool's errand but also self-destructive.

im sure they could piece something together if they tried hard enough. im no geneticist, but i dont think the time until symptoms are showing and death rate is inversely related. if life expectancy would be, say, 60% two week from the moment one gets the virus, the carriers would have plenty of time to spread it around if the symptoms start showing in 1,5 weeks. currently they didnt archieve much. they also have economic damage and after some mild measures, the west is already back in business as usual, except china will get sanctioned. seems like a lose situation for china. really bad for business and PR.

it was a pretty bad attempt if so, not much have changed in the US. they would need a real global crisis, several times the magnitude of the spanish flu. black death tier death rate.
imagine this:
>be "illuminati"
>want new world order or the masiach to come, doesnt matter for the process >develop super bio weapon as a means to bring the masses under your control completely >people start suddenly dropping, half the world population, mostly third world evaporates, while you still have the technology assets and resources they left behind, ensuring extreme utopic conditions for your new order.
>you and your secret society friends of course already have the vaccine, and will start releasting it to the public when certain conditions are met >enough dead, and enough people submitting to your new rules.
>who dont submit, die, you dont even have to move a finger anymore, the virus will take care of it >most submit, live in your orwellian "utopia"
I'm guessing this is their end goal, i dont know why they would release some weak ass virus and scare everyone for no reason. maybe its a test run, so next time people are more careless, and less able and ready to resist the actual world eater virus, which comes at a future date, they will think of it as "a hoax like last time". Thats how i would do it if i was some think-tank retard working for these wretches.

>I'm guessing this is their end goal, i dont know why they would release some weak ass virus and scare everyone for no reason

Maybe try guessing that the point of all this is increasing surveillance even beyond current levels, then it'll start making sense.

>Thats how i would do it if i was some think-tank retard working for these wretches

See, that's why didn't hire you or any other retards.

I don't know why people seem to think (((they))) are willing to waste massive sums just to ensure control over every single human being out there. It is absolutely unnecessary, they merely need to make sure the majority will be unable and/or unwilling to change the status quo. And unlike some folks ITT, they aren't idiots motivated by fanaticism either, they want money and they're professionals at their job. Which is what makes them dangerous.

At the current rate the Orwellian "utopia" will become a thing in a decade or two without any diseases whatsoever, just using the usual tactics.

Unless we do take the matter in our hands for once.

>muh surveillance

they also want to reduce world population. many of the members have admitted before. just because you think it all about surveillance, doesnt make it true. surveillance stops being effective, when you have 10 billion. if it gets too big it crumbles, not to mention the effect on the actual planet. besides, how many of the 7,5 billion you think does actual useful labor? useful meaning people who produce a useful product/necessary service. HR managers and various middlemen, who got rich off someones back not included.

since these groups control the FED amongst various other institutions, that is not a problem for them. even on a personal level they have everything.

EVERYTHING. You said these are businessmen in your opinion, atheists, only caring about profit. That doesnt make sense when you mentioned keeping the status quo. If so, they only care about that they keep that EVERYTHING while they are alive, and after that, they dont care what happens, so what you said doesnt make sense in two counts. No its about ideology for them. Just read some H.G. Wells and you wont be an uneducated pleb anymore, you will see what they want. He outlines step by step what they want and why they want it. They have a twisted sense of reality, they are fucked in the head. They want to bring forth a messiah figure eventually to this communist system of drones, not because its the best they could do, but because of the talmudic principles they believe in. >but i dont think the time until symptoms are showing and death rate is inversely related

I think in practice it pretty much is since viruses are genetically pretty simple entities and that does not allow them complex life cycles that would enable them to differentiate between symptomatic and asymptomatic phases; pretty much all they do is infect, reproduce intracellularly, release to neighbour cells, infect etc... it's the host's reaction that makes all the difference. Corona-chan is so effective because she's a slow burn, the only exception I know of, with both a higher asymptomatic period and mortality rate, is AIDS and that's solely because it doesn't cause harm directly but by destroying your immunity system; still HIV is shit in terms of transmission and viability outside of a host, whereas Corona-chan is a beast, especially in terms of endurance outside of a host and in hostile environments at which Her performance downright fucking unreal, I don't recall EVER hearing of a virus that can survive for a month outside of a host at above room temperatures and for over 4 hours on freaking copper!

Phylogenetic Analysis and Structural Modeling of SARS-CoV-2 Spike Protein Reveals an Evolutionary Distinct and Proteolytically Sensitive Activation Loop
>Compared to SARS-CoV and all other coronaviruses in Betacoronavirus lineage B, we identify an extended structural loop containing basic amino acids at the interface of the receptor binding (S1) and fusion (S2) domains. We suggest this loop confers fusion activation and entry properties more in line with betacoronaviruses in lineages A and C, and be a key component in the evolution of SARS-CoV-2 with this structural loop affecting virus stability and transmission.

>they have admitted it before

>surveillance stops being effective, when you have 10 billion

Source? I fail to see any reason it'd suddenly stop being effective.

Hell, so far everyone's actively interested in paying pretty high prices for newer, shinier and more attractive surveillance devices, and third-world slave-labour provides them at almost no cost to the companies that sell them. Of course this may change these days... or still not, we'll see.

>if it gets too big it crumbles, not to mention the effect on the actual planet. You mean surveillance (in which case there's no effect), or the massive population?

>You said these are businessmen in your opinion, atheists, only caring about profit. That doesn't make sense when you mentioned keeping the status quo. If so, they only care about that they keep that EVERYTHING while they are alive, and after that, they don't care what happens, so what you said doesn't make sense in two counts.

They may or may not be atheists in the conventional sense, it doesn't matter. Of course your baseless assumption that atheists don't care about the future is flawed, but nevermind that.

About those people. You probably imagine them as a close-knit group of geriatrics, but it so happens that ruling the world is a family business. It's been for at least several generations now, and I assumed everyone knew it. They have children today too, and these children want to live comfortable lives, too. Not that we haven't seen their grandpas desperately clinging to life and having all manner of medical procedures conducted on themselves in attempts to squeeze a few more years out of their lives (which coincidentally is exactly what I'd expect someone who doesn't believe in the afterlife to do), so they ain't particularly willing to die as well. They presumably wouldn't hesitate to backstab one another either, just like in every dictatorship ever. Perhaps even some of them, especially the younger ones, would want to secure the future for their own children, though I'm not as certain about that. Anyway, of course they care about the status quo, and what they worship or not doesn't matter. It should go without saying, but here it is: without the status quo their fortunes would rapidly start diminishing, and they'd lose their control over anything because they exert it exactly by being rich. No one would risk turning people against himself, even if their plan did involve, as you claim, killing off a large part of the population. Do it a day too early and you failed. Seriously, running a massive business and dictatorship is a bit more difficult than walking your dog on a leash.

Guess what, money is addictive. So yes, you are right, they are most definitely fucked in the head. However it manifests as being hell-bent on doing anything they need to do for gratification. Alcoholic, crackhead, billionaire, it doesn't matter. In fact, I'm certain that if they were religious, this religion wouldn't affect them a lot if it stood in opposition to them acquiring more wealth. Don't believe me? Ask anyone with some experience on the subject. I'd even risk calling it pretty basic - if perhaps not that popular - knowledge. Effectively they can be called religious, as this would probably describe their attitude towards money quite accurately.

>How are you provoking civil unrest more than is already being done? Maybe it depends on the place, but here everyone is just minding their business as usual, literally the only difference is that most people are wearing masks. I suppose in the US folks are more willing to defend their freedom or literally do anything at all, should such a need arise, than unarmed and brainwashed Europeans.

Who are also living in small overpopulated countries, with nowhere to flee and defend yourself, and nothing to defend yourself with, and so on. Here, if shit hits the fan, we can expect an absolute massacre with barely any survivors, no matter how "prepared" you may be. Though I don't know if the majority are smart enough to at least take all this into consideration; I'm afraid they are just too brainwashed to do anything.

Oh dear, how will they recruit niggers now with the high infection rate among BAME (blacks, Asians, middle easterners). It is almost like our military will have to go back to being European again. Just when we are no longer interested in their corruption.

Unfortunately it won't cause a complete new paradigm shift or force most back to rural living and self-sufficiency (I was hoping this would). The only paradigm shift we see is more or less the same: a bigger divide between the haves and have nots. There will just be a whole lot of more disgruntled poorfags and I'm starting to give up hopes that most will fight to keep what they own, or have worked to deserve as their own. I'm ready for total SHTF, possible deadly scenarios, shootouts, whatever. The way things are going now, I'm starting to think that day may not come though. It's just a continued slow escalation from a first world country into a third world shithole.

Living in the suburbs currently costs big money that most youth (or people recently laid off) can no longer afford. I am lucky to live in a small town suburb but I pulled my 401K at the right time, when I knew this economy was headed towards a Keynesian shithole regardless what happened. Glad I did. But so many others today don't have that luxury anymore, it's been stolen from them. However rural land is still pretty cheap in many depressed areas. You can buy up acres of land and have a home built for 1/10th the cost of mortgaging a suburban home in many parts of America. However, who knows if people will do that en mass, it remains to be seen...

If t's not about "caring" about the world's largest employer ot whites, thus who feeds and cares for white children, then it is at least the knowledge that, due to the drop in the price of oil, so many will go out of work that there will be a global great depression (instead of only a recession).

It's math. The dead industries - airlines, hotels, retail, restaurants, etc, in my wrongly, by chinese operatives, deleted posts, are already destroyed. They are a % GDP, combined, and this means a recession. Now, add in the % GDP of oil/gas, you have a depression (by definition, actually).

Who cares? GDP, "economy", don't be fooled by chicom shills! These mean "there will be food on the table". You see, when the janitor at a gas company loses his job, he can't afford to buy stuff he used to buy. See, it's a knock-on effect. When people lose their jobs it means OTHER people lose their jobs.

>The suburbs are cheaper

The suburbs are cheaper than inner city living, at this point, correct. Not so vs. rural living though, which you can buy a few acres of land to live on for 10K or so (plus the expense of building the home). I suppose that all depends where you look and which state you live in too. Some rural properties could be more expensive depending where they are located.

The human micro chipping is one thing that I dont think will ever come to pass just because that would rile way too many people who have been inundated against it on both the left and the right. Literally almost everyone would unite against it. However pretty much everything else they will foist upon us. All we can do for now is continue tonrdspill, convert and recruit, work on your career and try to get yourself into a position where you will have influence, of make enough money to have influence, and/or try to get some kind of self sufficient homestead going to create our own separate structures away from ZOG as much as possible. Unfortunately there are no fast easy solutions, nore will there be any climactic war or battle anytime soon. We just need to do what we can so that we will be strong already when the time of chaos comes.

Did you just assume they live by the Bible (I mean, some parts of it I guess, as it is often self-contradictory), and that their faith is so strong that it overcomes some of the most powerful known psychological processes?

>>104750

Sorry, I'm not familiar with local memes.

>>104824

I believe I've already addressed this one.

Now, let's think about these:

1. If you actually want to drastically reduce population and don't care about strong reactions, why not do it once and for all, instead of doing "test runs" and risking that people will just get used to the new situation, thereby reducing the impact the real thing will have on them? Or, if you believe it is the real thing (to such an extent that even the standard security measures are given up on), why wouldn't they just kill everyone at once instead of fucking around with slow-acting virus with low kill rate, which'll need the use of some additional mass-destruction weapon(s) (which in turn means it is not the real thing after all...)?

2. If you plan to drastically reduce population, why do you keep building cell towers working with a new standard, whose main advantage over the old ones is significantly greater throughput?

3. To those who believe they don't want to kill everyone, just to reduce the population: what good would it do you (assuming killing everyone is the default, religiously motivated course of action)?

TBH it may just be due to the virus being capable of remaining inactive and undetectable indefinitely, so a relapse at any time is potentially possible. But whatever their reasoning is, I've got no clue just how they're gonna shield all those people from a flu-level pandemic.

Also this implies they don't actually have the vaccine, at least not yet, as someone suggested.

It's real:

>UPMC and University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine Scientists Announce Potential Vaccine

>Scientists at UPMC and the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine have announced a potential vaccine against SARS-CoV-2, the new coronavirus causing the COVID-19 pandemic.

>When tested in mice, the vaccine produces antibodies specific to SARS-CoV-2 at quantities thought to be enough to neutralize the virus.

>The vaccine is delivered through a fingertip-sized skin patch. The research team calls this vaccine PittCoVacc, short for Pittsburgh Coronavirus Vaccine.

>A paper on the vaccine appeared April 2 in EBioMedicine, which is published by The Lancet. It is the first study on a potential COVID-19 vaccine to be published after a critique from fellow scientists at outside institutions.

>UPMC and University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine researchers were able to act quickly because they laid the groundwork during earlier coronavirus epidemics.

>Scientists also use a new approach to deliver the drug, called a microneedle array, to increase potency. This array is a fingertip-sized patch of 400 tiny needles that deliver spike protein pieces into the skin, where the immune reaction is the strongest.

>The patch goes on like a Band-Aid, and the needles, which are made entirely of sugar and protein pieces, simply dissolve into the skin.

>COVID-19 Vaccine Candidate Shows Promise

>PITTSBURGH – University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine scientists today announced a potential vaccine against SARS-CoV-2, the new coronavirus causing the COVID-19 pandemic. When tested in mice, the vaccine, delivered through a fingertip-sized patch, produces antibodies specific to SARS-CoV-2 at quantities thought to be sufficient for neutralizing the virus.

>The paper appeared today in EBioMedicine, which is published by The Lancet, and is the first study to be published after critique from fellow scientists at outside institutions that describes a candidate vaccine for COVID-19. The researchers were able to act quickly because they had already laid the groundwork during earlier coronavirus epidemics.

>“We had previous experience on SARS-CoV in 2003 and MERS-CoV in 2014. These two viruses, which are closely related to SARS-CoV-2, teach us that a particular protein, called a spike protein, is important for inducing immunity against the virus. We knew exactly where to fight this new virus,” said co-senior author Andrea Gambotto, M.D., associate professor of surgery at the Pitt School of Medicine. “That’s why it’s important to fund vaccine research. You never know where the next pandemic will come from.”

>“Our ability to rapidly develop this vaccine was a result of scientists with expertise in diverse areas of research working together with a common goal,” said co-senior author Louis Falo, M.D., Ph.D., professor and chair of dermatology at Pitt’s School of Medicine and UPMC.

>Compared to the experimental mRNA vaccine candidate that just entered clinical trials, the vaccine described in this paper – which the authors are calling PittCoVacc, short for Pittsburgh Coronavirus Vaccine – follows a more established approach, using lab-made pieces of viral protein to build immunity. It’s the same way the current flu shots work.

>The researchers also used a novel approach to deliver the drug, called a microneedle array, to increase potency. This array is a fingertip-sized patch of 400 tiny needles that delivers the spike protein pieces into the skin, where the immune reaction is strongest. The patch goes on like a Band-Aid and then the needles – which are made entirely of sugar and the protein pieces – simply dissolve into the skin.

>“We developed this to build on the original scratch method used to deliver the smallpox vaccine to the skin, but as a high-tech version that is more efficient and reproducible patient to patient,” Falo said. “And it’s actually pretty painless – it feels kind of like Velcro.”

>The system also is highly scalable. The protein pieces are manufactured by a “cell factory” – layers upon layers of cultured cells engineered to express the SARS-CoV-2 spike protein – that can be stacked further to multiply yield. Purifying the protein also can be done at industrial scale. Mass-producing the microneedle array involves spinning down the protein-sugar mixture into a mold using a centrifuge. Once manufactured, the vaccine can sit at room temperature until it’s needed, eliminating the need for refrigeration during transport or storage.

>“For most vaccines, you don’t need to address scalability to begin with,” Gambotto said. “But when you try to develop a vaccine quickly against a pandemic that’s the first requirement.” When tested in mice, PittCoVacc generated a surge of antibodies against SARS-CoV-2 within two weeks of the microneedle prick.

>Those animals haven't been tracked long term yet, but the researchers point out that mice who got their MERS-CoV vaccine produced a sufficient level of antibodies to neutralize the virus for at least a year, and so far the antibody levels of the SARS-CoV-2 vaccinated animals seem to be following the same trend.

>Importantly, the SARS-CoV-2 microneedle vaccine maintains its potency even after being thoroughly sterilized with gamma radiation – a key step toward making a product that's suitable for use in humans.

>The authors are now in the process of applying for an investigational new drug approval from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration in anticipation of starting a phase I human clinical trial in the next few months.

>"Testing in patients would typically require at least a year and probably longer," Falo said. "This particular situation is different from anything we've ever seen, so we don't know how long the clinical development process will take. Recently announced revisions to the normal processes suggest we may be able to advance this faster."

Im guessing its just a fight over patenting. Also the extended "panic" serves someone some purpose in the grand scheme, so its not time for them to end this crisis.

Imagine being bill gates, or some other big pharma faggot. You probably have a covid cure ready, you are just waiting for orders from the higher ups to release it, maybe even laced with something. Now this nobody, upstart doctor comes along and develops something cheaper safer, better. So is anyone else convinced that this whole "Pandemic" scare has been political and not medical?

I was seriously concerned at the beginning of the "Outbreak" going so far as to purchase some decent PPE, but since around a month ago, I have been slowly falling off the "Medical Virus" train and getting onto the "Political Virus" train.

Little by little every day

There seems to be small little proofs that people haven't picked up on to prove that this is just a farce in order to scare the peoples of the world to hide out and let the Government take care of everything.

Meanwhile, people that own big business are just getting richer and richer.

Take where I live for example.

We have a Walmart Supercenter.

Its totally packed every day.

Parking lot is constantly full.

Yet, you go to the smaller stores and they are only letting in 4 to 10 people at a time while WalMart has its doors wide open.

What a joke.

The stay at home measures that are being imposed, and forcefully imposed at times, are Draconian, Orwellian, and reek of Communism.

Why don't people understand that?

The "Virus" numbers being blown up out of proportion because of "False Reporting" or whatever you want to call it.

I refuse to wear a mask unless I am required by store policy to wear one in order to enter.

Here on the Military Installation, they are now asking people questions before they enter the Commissary. The people asking questions are just the nigger affirmative action hires for the grocery store - not actual doctors and they planned on implementing checking our temperatures before we go in for today. (although I haven't tried to go there today)

Pretty soon, I wouldn't be surprised if they have a UV light to see where you got your "Corona-Virus" vaccine in order to enter the building. Remember those threads about giving the "Vaccine" with little biodegradable needles that stay in your skin that have a UV tattoo? A few little dots, lets say?

They are really pushing this whole thing - all in the name of "Safety" so that they can impose a Feudalistic state.

This Neo-Feudalism is just working to make the rich richer and they don't want you to own anything. Hell no.

Just look at how they distributed the "Stimulus Money" to confirm that.

When DeBlasio wanted people to report others who were violating curfews, ahem, I mean quarantine, didn't that give anyone a hint? The worst that they did was call him a Nazi for that, and then he stopped that bullshit.

So how far are you going to let the fucking Government keep pushing you?

How long are you going to let the Government keep getting away with this?

This whole thing is bullshit, and yet there are anons on here that keep wanting to push the Government's narrative that this is a real pandemic, when in fact it is not.

Its just a seasonal flu, with a different virus genome, or whatever you call it. Its just a little bit different than last year's flu, just like last year's flu was different than the year before it.

If it was just political I don't see why doctors and government officials such as Germany's finance minister or New York's health minister would kill themselves.

This seems so financially and politically ruinous that if there was a conspiracy to intentionally buff up the virus and make it seem more lethal and dangerous, we're already in an illuminati style one world government anyway and using this to seize power was never necessary in the first place.

Monopolization Of US Agriculture Is Leading To Tons Of Good Food Being Wasted During Crisis

Thank Clinton, Bush, Obama & Trump Regimes For Food Shortages: THE Decades Of Self Destruction!!

As the coronavirus pandemic continues to wage a silent war across the country, American farmers are being forced to pour out milk, crush eggs, toss fresh fruits and vegetables, euthanize livestock and plow under perfectly robust crops. Meanwhile, financially beleaguered Americans are lining up at food banks in unprecedented numbers, humanitarian leaders fear a global starvation pandemic is burgeoning, and grocery store shelves are sparsely filled.

So what has gone wrong?

A dramatic dip in demand, weak links in the highly consolidated supply chain, and decades of industry monopolization, experts say.

"This move towards concentration of food processing has been a general trend for many years and has been done for efficiency and cost-cutting purposes. But we now see how it is impacted by a single event like COVID-19, where workers have been so impacted," Glickman continued. "Four companies control about 70 percent of meat production. We no longer have a decentralized food production process, at least not to the extent of 30 years ago."

> The (((political response))) to the virus is unconvincing.
> The real economy is taking a hit.
> The (((regulated))) economy is keeping pace or even growing.
> While the outbreak initially appeared to be deadly, outside the US, within the US it's not really killing people.
> The virus is going to be used as an excuse to mark and track everyone.
> The ongoing march towards (((neo-feudalism))) is accelerating via the outbreak.
> Because of the (((response))) to the outbreak, it must be a hoax. Which is a non sequitur'.
> When does it become appropriate to offer effective resistance?
> It's just the flu, bro.
I agree on most points. All but the "it's just a seasonal flu" part. It's not a flu, it's an engineered coronavirus. There is still not enough data to make any conclusions about the long-term effects of infection, and the preliminary data would indicate that even a mild case can result in long-term disability. It reemerges. It reinfects. It gets into your nervous system. It attacks your cardiovascular system. It hides within your immune system's T-cells. It has the potential to keep coming until you, and everyone around you, are dead. Again, these are just preliminary conclusions. But there is already sufficient evidence to demonstrate, beyond a reasonable doubt, that it is not "just a seasonal flu".

But you are 100% correct to identify that this engineered pathogen is being used as a wedge to shove an -(((Orwellian neo-feudal tyranny))) - down people's throats.

And I believe that I have an understanding of what our response should be, but stating it would likely get me banned, and could potentially prompt a visit from -(((Law Enforcement)))-. But let me reiterate what is already manifestly obvious - the only thing that -(((the government))) - understands or appreciates is violence. I feel that indiscriminate violence is counter-productive, but the actions and policies of our -(((governments))) - demonstrate that selective violence also known as "terrorism" is quite effective. It remains to be demonstrated how any such potential violence should be implemented, but the current petri-dish of discontent will shortly allow for discovery. Something is going to break. And I don't think that -(((our masters))) - will be able to exercise sufficient control over where, when, and how such a series of events unfolds.

The fact that -(((they))) - resorted to unleashing -(((their))) - Sampson option is evidence that -(((they))) - are losing control and becoming desperate.

As long as places like 8kun exist, -(((their))) - power will continue to falter. We are winning the battle for the narrative.

I will continue to care for my family, accumulate real resources, make friends with real people, and speak out against the machinations of the kike empire. I advise everyone to do the same. Eventually, a sufficient number of the right people will hear us and join us, and they will follow their consciences, undertaking the correct course of action, in Minecraft.

The virus is not fake or a hoax. But the -(((government's))) - response to the virus is demonstrably a fraud. First it was nothing, and we all need to let the virus infect us or we'll all be "racist". Then, we all need to "temporarily" close things down to "flatten the curve" so that health providers can be given a chance to deal with the "millions" of people who will require desperate medical intervention. And now that few people have actually contracted the infection which is not the same as having a positive response to a bullshit test, we all need to continue practicing "social distancing" until some indefinite point in the future, at which point a theoretical -(((vaccine))) - will become available. It's an engineered extortion, and we are all being deceived about its impact and manipulated into an unproductive response, but the threat is still real.

The HIV inserts are real. The SARS-CoV inserts are real. The Alpha-coronavirus inserts are real. The Beta-coronavirus inserts are real. The Delta-coronavirus inserts are real. The Gamma-coronavirus inserts are real. The Red Death was assembled in a lab, like any other prototype weapon, and that's fucking real too.

think: Neo-Feudalism

and then it starts to make sense

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Neo-feudalism>

Neo-Feudalism

> Neo-feudalism or new feudalism is a theorized contemporary rebirth of policies of governance, economy, and public life reminiscent of those present in many feudal societies, such as unequal rights and legal protections for common people and for nobility.

> The concept of "neofeudalism" may focus on economics. Among the issues claimed to be associated with the idea of neofeudalism in contemporary society are class stratification, globalization, neoconservative foreign policy, mass immigration/illegal immigration, open borders policies, multinational corporations, and "neo-corporatism".

> The term is still used by some on the right in that sense in the twenty-first century:

> Although he would later become a naturalized American citizen, Soros remains in social outlook very much a European and believer in the paternalistic neofeudalism euphemistically called "democratic socialism" or "social democracy". So, we are already seeing prices on products inflating as much as 10%. Niggered the purple text - it's my first time really using it. Sorry

> The obviously fraudulent narrative

I forgot a key element in (((the narrative))), conclusively demonstrating that the (((government's))) response is bullshit - Hydroxychloroquine (HCQ). It's been known since at least 2005 that chloroquine and hydroxychloroquine are effective at treating SARS-CoV sauce attached. And since SARS-CoV-2 uses a similar receptor protein as SARS-CoV sauce here >>104741, it stands to reason that hydroxychloroquine can be used to treat Red Death. Yet (((establishment))) assclowns like Fauci won't stop repeating that it's "dangerous and unproven", even though there is loads of clinical data supporting the position that it's safer and more effective than ventilators or (((vaccines))) - sauce attached. Call me a curefag if you want, but the data demonstrates that HCQ works as a treatment lots more sauce is available. But such a treatment isn't remunerative for the (((pharmaceutical industry))), and it doesn't allow for widespread population (((control))), so it is verboten for the (((mainstream))) to mention the possibility that HCQ might work and be safe. Nevermind that HCQ has been around for decades, and millions of people take it safely to treat malaria including members of my extended family, that doesn't fit (((the narrative))) that (((they))) have engineered.

Please pardon the source of pic-related, but it is nevertheless appropriate, accurate and salient.

<https://gisanddata.maps.arcgis.com/apps/opsdashboard/index.html#/bda7594740fd40299423467b48e9ecf6>

there are currently 76,101 deaths in the U.S.

We just had a relative die of cancer on Saturday, yet they counted her as a Chink-Flu death. She had an aggressive form of cancer - Merkel-cell something or other, so it was pretty fast.

Basically the doctors in this case, and as in many other cases across the U.S., are reporting most deaths as Chink-Flu deaths, so our numbers in the U.S. are inflated.

Why?

For propaganda purposes?

Are they propagating that we should go to war with China because of this flu?

Or, are these simply overblown numbers being reported by hospitals in a bid to obtain more money from the Government?

> In most countries now, if someone has any flu-like symptoms and dies, it is classed as a Covid 19 death regardless of the true cause (which is unlike any other previous flu outbreak). Postmortem testing is unnecessary.

> Isn't that odd? You would think that any Government would actually try to minimize the fear and panic by being as precise as possible to keep the death-rate as low as possible by correctly assigning the deaths to their exact cause. Indeed, 'old age' was always a catch-all in the past which has been dropped for 'Covid 19'.

> It's almost as if they are trying to inflate the numbers to either justify the response which has been out of all proportion to the risk (quarantining the healthy for the first time in history!) or using the fear to make a power-grab (forced vaccinations, worldwide decision-making on health, cashless transactions, destruction of the high street through online shopping, forced quarantining and restrictions on relationships, limiting protests in groups, internet censorship of any debate of the official line, queuing for food, demarcation of essential/non-essential workers, gun restrictions, etc.) that can be further enhanced in the coming years with the backing of the terrified sheep as Covid 20, 21..etc are introduced.

> Data from the US, demonstrating that it's not very deadly

Yes, I admit that (((their))) prototype weapon is not very effective, within the US. At least, not yet. But that doesn't change the fact that Red Death was assembled in a lab, and that there is still much that we do not know about it. And please understand that it is not an influenza virus. It's a corona virus. It is not the flu, even though the respiratory symptoms resemble the common symptoms of flu sufferers.

It's not fucking influenza, it's a beta-coronavirus. Claiming that Red Death is "the flu" is akin to stating that, "fighter jets and bumblebees are the same, 'cuz both of them fly."

Does the flu infect your immune systems T-cells? Because it appears that SARS-CoV-2 does. Sauce:

> Reddit-post, indicating that the numbers are being inflated

Yes, of course, obviously. The entire narrative is bullshit, and the (((government))) response to it is a farce. We are being lied to, and nobody really has sufficient information to make sensible conclusions. All we really know, for certain, is that Red Death was made in a lab, and that the outbreak is being used as an excuse to force everyone into a (((brave new world))). People should be allowed to learn, and discuss, the truth of the situation; such that everyone has the opportunity to make their own decisions. I am not a piece of livestock, to be (((managed))) for the benefit of (((others))). I'm not a fucking goy which is kike-speak for "cow", and neither are my neighbors.

> Inflated numbers are being used to impose restrictions on people's lives

Yes, this. We are being lied to about a threat, in the hopes that the (((deception))) can be used to secure our compliance. But that does not change the fact that the threat is real, if misunderstood.

If a specific understanding of something is demonstrably false, that does not indicate that a counter-position is true. Nor does it indicate that the truth lies somewhere in between.

This paper is correct to conclude that SARS-CoV-2 has RNA in it from pangolin viruses. But to assume it's "natural" is fallacious. There is already evidence that it was augmented in a lab, such as the thirty-three adenine groups at the end of its RNA, so assuming that the pangolin-virus RNA is a "natural" inclusion is a non sequitur.

> The (((CDC))) numbers are padded beyond belief

Kinda. The numbers from China are a massive underestimate, since the nucleic acid test (NAT) they used would not reliably report positive results for patients who were known to be infected - somebody who definitely had it would come back "negative" nine out of ten times.

But the numbers from the West are greatly exaggerated, as the NAT being used here is overly-sensitive - non-humans, even fruits, are coming back as "positive" for the disease. The tests being used in the US are coming back "positive" for SARS-CoV-2, pretty much every time the test is used.

Everything about the (((official narrative))) is bullshit, everything. We only know one thing for certain, and that's 100% outside of the (((accepted story))) - the SARS-CoV-2 virus, Red Death, was assembled and augmented in a laboratory. It's probably a prototype biological weapon, and people need to start making their decisions based upon that fact.

Yes, absolutely. At present, fear over infection is keeping people at home and in-line. But once that changes, and masks are still being mandated, a free-for-all will ensue. I always enjoy your news feeds.

I am watching someone who is tracking a few financial things lately and there are absolutely huge disbursements of cash moving from European nations to third world nations right now. NZ gave the Asian Development Bank $5,000,000,000.

'Asian' wtf does this mean anyway? Poos, bugs, pakis, sandniggers? These positively huge transfers of the Wealth of European nations into foreign hands seem traitorous at best and questionable at least.

By the time all these massive transfers are done the nations they came from will be broke and really will starve.

> Smart-anon knows about polyadenylation
 So I'm going way outside my training and specialization here, but doesn't polyadenylation generally create no-more than six-or-seven groups?
 I've looked up the genome for SARS-CoV-1, which wasn't easy for me because I don't really know what I'm doing.
 Sauce: https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/nuccore/NC_004718.3
 Assuming I'm looking at the right thing, and that I can perform basic arithmetic, I count twenty-four (24) adenine groups at the end of this SARS-CoV-1 genome. So I guess it makes sense that SARS-CoV-2 could have thirty-three (33) adenine groups at its tail-end.
 But what about the other inserts? How in the flaming fuck could Red Death possibly have four HIV gene sequences, from three different strains of HIV? And what about all the other sequences, from other viruses? Has anything like this ever been observed in nature? It's got shit in it from cats, bats, rats, turkeys, camels, rabbits, pigs, beluga whales, et alia. It doesn't seem very likely to me which doesn't matter for shit, because I'm just a know-nothing chan-fag that this cocktail of genetic sequences could have come about naturally.
 Please convince me that I'm wrong.
 >>105459
 > Chipping the populace is necessary, because people cannot be identified under their masks and PPE, which is necessary because of the virus, which was necessary to get people to accept chipping.
 Yep, that sounds like perfectly normal (((political logic))) applied as (((it))) normally is.
 "You have to accept this microchip implant so that you can be identified, which is now difficult because of the mask you wear, which we're forcing you to wear because of the virus we unleashed, because you wouldn't accept being micro-chipped if there was no virus."
 Fully-consistent (((kikery))) at (((its))) finest.

The concern for huge governmental power grabs is legit, they most definitely will not let this crisis go to waste unfortunately, as they always do they'll add insult to injury. My recommendation would be not to trust the (((medical establishment))) for a long while until this whole thing blows over. In other words, don't rely on doctors or hospitals unless absolutely needed, stay away from most institutions and become as independent from the system as you possibly can. This is what I have been doing, and I haven't been bothered once. Nor will I respond to any requests to any kind of establishment or institution I don't trust. Stay as far away from it all as you can and you should be OK. Another tip: never let anyone into your home unless you personally know them, and trust them. Avoid social media, lay low. That's about all we can do. Be prepared, armed, stock up on what you need, become self-sufficient and lay low until this whole thing blows over.

They're not going to be able to chip those who simply slip off the grid and who don't rely on their system anymore or have current records. That's the catch 22, well that and our guns if we decide necessary to use them heaven forbid. Otherwise, they are having enough of a hard time not creeping everyone else out, even most normies don't desire their bullshit anymore. So we are far from alone in our concerns. Don't give up, don't let them touch you. In fact, it would be wise not to trust any govt-regulated institution from now on, especially anything medical related. Stay away from them and don't let them bug your phones with corona apps and you should be fine (I'd recommend using an old flip phone without internet apps anyway).

It's better to just liquidate your savings NOW and buy the coffee that you will need in the future at this point. Yes, all the fiat paper will soon be worthless. Remember what you'll need: food/clean water/seeds/extra clothing-gear/guns-ammo/sanitation supplies. Learn how to garden, preserve foods, raise livestock, butcher meat, filter water, shoot, hunt, fish, trap etc. Learn some skills and do your best to hunker down outside the cities if you can manage, that will be your only saving grace away from the corrupted system.

>Assuming I'm looking at the right thing

You aren't. The code you are looking at has been tampered with, quite seriously. The Chinese have provided more than several genomes. If you were looking at what was really going on, as in could run into the street screaming with the proof, you'd do precisely what the more intelligent among us have been doing. Getting the fuck out of dodge and stocking up, not making too much noise but gently piquing the interest of those around you, about how this is very real, but it's not what they say it is. Doing much else beyond that isn't the wisest. A huge plus for us is that even those among you that have trained for years at all these prestigious institutions can't figure this shit out. It's almost as if you've never been lied to, which I know is absolutely not the case. Please explain to me why the FUCK you would get the entirety of this little bastards code? We've gotta figure things out for ourselves and that's precisely what makes us so (((dangerous))), that we can. That we endure and inform for those we love and we want our nation to be free of this globalist nonsense; nobody likes the system, except the goddamn Chinese. You think the goddamn Jews are happy about every piece of shit gizmo they buy breaking in two fiscal quarters? Or that a hive of vicious Materialist tyrannical predatory savages would actually fucking gas them for believing in an "invisible" world?" Are you retarded? The point is, the system was down with loads roaches in the hive churning out piss-widgets that either offered some material benefit or comfort, or that simply functioned as a wealth siphon for the stupid. This system has fundamentally culminated in an organism that WILL kill a countless number of people, including those that would benefit from an entirely enslaved planet because they still live here. You retards. This was never supposed to leave the lab this early and by this early, I mean literally more than a decade... all because the elite bought there own bullshit and the chink bullshit and poof, now here we are. The system needs to be totally changed, even the helmsman see it for what it is.

no science fag, not even clever fag. just much time to read recently reason that this paper

caught my eye was because of claims the sequence special to sars2 is the cleavage protein. if this is the case it sounds a lot like that time when shi zheng-li build a chimeric bat corona virus with a special cleavage site protein to gauge pathogenesis in humans:

<https://www.nature.com/articles/nm.3985> >doesn't polyadenylation generally create no-more than six-or-seven groups?

pretty wide spread, looks like science fags don't know why either:

<https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC4163081/>

<https://www.frontiersin.org/articles/10.3389/fmicb.2017.02110/full>

<The highly specific nature of virus-host interactions logically constrains genetic exchange to occur more frequently between the interacting partners. For example, bacteriophages are known to capture bacterial genes involved in toxins and photosynthesis (Canchaya et al., 2004; Lindell et al., 2004). Similarly, eukaryoviruses often capture genes involved in antiviral immunity from eukaryotic cells (Elde and Malik, 2009; Rappoport and Linial, 2012).

>HIV inserts

an argument can be made that certain functionality can only be achieved in so many ways. HIV and sars2 have shared functionality and sequences, but so do other viruses. found no proof for this argument so far but articles apart from MSM BS can be found

>It doesn't seem very likely to me which doesn't matter for shit, because I'm just a know-nothing chan-fag that this cocktail of genetic sequences could have come about naturally.

same. much about shi zheng-li's story/china destroying evidence does not add to the credibility of the MSM narrative either.

>Why don't people understand that?

Most people, even normalfags, are fed up with the modern world and want to see everyone else drop dead. Either by being beaten to death by zogbots, or by diseases, or by rioting chimps, or by anything.

Most of humanity is a cancer. Most, if not all, who realize this truth now want to simply kill everyone else. Or at least, a large portion of everyone else.

Even unconsciously, the normalfags wish for modernity to end, and for boring/void people to die.

The shills that criticized the poojeets' whistleblowing paper on the issue claim that these sequences are naturally found in other coronaviruses but not SARS or MERS, the previously most notable betacoronaviruses. The issue is that they are not saying in what coronaviruses they are found in, because depending on their phylogenetic position in the coronavirid family tree Corona-chan having might might make from little to zero sense.

This is the paper from the Occident that proves precisely what the shills have been saying isn't in the Indian paper. We just use far more sophisticated language and instrumentation to rigorously prove the hypothesis. The Indians pulled this off with under 200,000USD in equipment and the science was solid; it's just the discovery is so off the wall horrifying that it was beyond the scientific preponderance of most; chiefly do to their intensely primitive understanding of matter. I have included the Indian paper for comparison. China will be DESTROYED.

So, this paper is very fucking long. I spent the whole day reading it yesterday in the beautiful sun in a very rural area of my country. It is also very fucking complicated and if you don't have a PhD reading comprehension level, it's going to be pretty hard to pierce through. Those capable of comprehending the material should probably print this bitch out and have some fun with a highlighter or underlining shit because this is fucking crazy. So, while the paper out of the West absolutely proves that this things is more than semi-synthetic. It actually has uncovered the existence, quite matter of factually, of a top secret biological agent surveying program undertaken by the PLA. Essentially using BioTech to find the nasty bits of genetic code in things like viruses, fungus, bacterium and quite specifically mycoplasma and then stitch them together into these terrifying little microbiological monsters. This has made effective isolation of precisely what animal or host this has come from basically impossible but we're pretty sure they used bats quite heavily to do a portion of the experiments and this is what is being detected. The fucking canard is that it somehow came from bats because of the bat genetics, it's actually so much more fucking complicated than that. You can fixate on the bat, the pangolin, the moorhen, camel, bovine, canine and feline splices et al... but it came from none of those and the paper out of our Journal of Microbiology rigorously proves this. The probability of this pathogen occurring as this many successful recombinatory events from this many separate clade of Animalia is ZERO.

Honestly my gut feeling is multiple governments were involved (we all know about the NIH funding the Wuhan lab and all). This could have been last ditch desperation for governments to take full control over the economy and bring in their neo-feudal technocratic global social credit score police state they always desired, along with the global economic reset into a cashless society. That's my GUT feeling.

>If you lurk in 8kun you probably believe that this is a bioweapon released by the evil Chinese. The truth is that Event 201 is the reason for all this. Somewhat true, yes Bill Gates and Fauci are most definitely tied into all this too, but don't underestimate the corruption behind China as well because they have a government that would release something like this if it was in their interests (it may have been). So a couple million Chinks die off, you think their government cares? Your sadly mistaken, governments want control and already grumble about overpopulation anyway! I believe it was a bioweapon and China knew it was going to be released and had something to do with it, but so did a lot of other governments, NGOs and criminal organizations that stand to profit (Big Tech, Big Pharma, Biotech... et al! Notice they're all raking in the dough after this?) More kikery, more usury, more corruption... follow the money. Bill Gates is only one of the players here, there are many other dirty rats involved as well, likely all over the globe.

Don't take the contaminated tests! Don't take their tainted vaccines! If they come for us, I'd pray good people finally start using those guns for once!

THIS IS EXACTLY MY POINT

This guy (((>>105628))) is the perfect example, he directs all the blame to China.

Don't get me wrong, China covered this up and made people disappear and so on. But COVID19 could have been created anywhere in the world and released near Wuhan bat-lab just to incriminate them.

The truth is that

CORONAVIRUS IS A PSYOP

MORTALITY RATES HAVE BEEN EXAGGERATED

Also, whats the deal with the antibodies? If the news on cuckchan are right, the pandemic is over before the summer. Supposedly 95% of the infected develop antibodies. That would completely destroy the last theory about the danger of the virus, since it cant even reinfect, with worse symptoms.

2 months ago compilation of black people gloating and rubbing it in whitey's face that Corona virus doesn't affect them.

Today among those who catch CV we now know blacks are four times more likely to die. There's no whites gloating matter of fact they're blaming themselves since it must be discrimination and not the fact that the overwhelming number of blacks are vita D deficient

I've been noticing that the anti white propaganda from the Jews is more successful than I thought. They blame everything on whitey's racism so don't under estimate the power of Jew propaganda.

>Thinking I'm fungus fag

I'm Elmer, boi. So chill tf out. Seriously, look into mycoplasmas. Specifically observe the first fully synthetic organism is Mycoplasma Laboratorium. Now observe the efficaciousness of CRISPR and now, fill in the blanks.

They cause horrendous pneumonia.

If the shoe fits.

Oh, and a word to the wise Anons. If you haven't figured it out already, the CPC has been using Anti-semitism as a wonderful wedge in the west. Notice how the chongbot and chinkroach are constantly and wildly flailing there fingers to point at (((Israel))) at every motherfucking opportunity. Are (((they))) a problem, of course but let's be real... look at the evidence. Right now and for the past 20 something years, the CPC has been responsible for all of this and they used their intelligence apparatus to feed the antisemitic fire as much as they possibly can because it keeps the west internally focused distracted from the dominatorial ambitions of the CPC et al. Russia, make no fucking mistake... you are on the list of nations to be subjugated as well, make absolutely no mistake.

Chinks and kikes are but different sides of the same shekel. The only reason 50-cent chinkbugs are currently worse is because they were just allowed to use the internet and can't bother with lurking two fucking years before posting whereas the JIDF is fully naturalized in imageboard culture at this point.

Shoo shoo Yang. I got mad issues with Hebrews but they primarily stem from white people not fucking and pumping out enough babies, which is a massive problem with their population as well. White and Jews are both being replaced... by the Han Chinese, but you already know that; don't you, Ping?

Shut the fuck up YANG. EVEN IF WE MADE THE FUCKING THING, WE DIDN'T FUCK UP SO BAD THAT'S RAVAGING THE GLOBE. WE DIDN'T STEAL THE FUCKER AND STORE IT IN THE SHED. YOU, YOU DID THAT. You are just digging the hole deeper and deeper with your continued deception, your abjectly retarded mendacity clearly reveals how badly you fucked up. However that is to be expected from such poor stock as the "Han" "Chinese" the only drive you have is the result of the Mongols raping some intelligence and aggression into your chink whores but the niggerbrain shines through clear as day. Look at yourself, lmao... no other race on the planet comes with the multitudinous deformities we just simply call "normal" in the Chinese. Fucked up eyes, fucked up tiny little cocks, short ass retarded stature... a nation of weaklings, capable only of waging war through deception and treachery. AS, ALWAYS.'

You can't even fuck your women correctly, it's become such a problem to the psychology of your intelligentsia that you're literally in Africa for the cuck porn in addition to the vast mineral wealth. You tiny cocked midget fucks.
